

M'AMANIGAL MAN OF MANY ALIASES

SEVERAL HOTEL CLERKS AT INDIANAPOLIS TRIAL IDENTIFY HIM

CONFESSION IS CORROBORATED

Activities of James B. McManigal After Blowing up Times Building Traced on Hotel Registers

INDIANAPOLIS, Oct. 10.—For the first time since he confessed to dynamiting, Orville E. McManigal before a jury in the "dynamiting conspiracy" trial today was identified by hotel clerks as having visited various cities at times when explosions had occurred.

H. L. Pierce, Kansas City, Mo., in the pages of a hotel register traced "J. W. McGraw" as having been registered at a Kansas City hotel August 20, 1910, three days before McManigal blew up a portion of a $1,500,000 bridge across the Missouri river, which, he says, was arranged for by W. Bert Brown, of Kansas City, and James B. McManigal.

"Do you see McGraw in the courtroom?" asked James W. Noel, special assistant District Attorney. "That's the man," said Pierce, pointing at McManigal. The line of testimony was followed by the Government as tending to carry out McManigal's confession that he actually caused the explosions detailed in his confession and for which the Government charged members of the executive board of the International Association of Bridge and Structural Iron Workers paid him at the rate of $200 a job.

R. G. Quigley, of Duluth, identified McManigal as a visitor at a Duluth hotel in July 1910, shortly before an explosion at Superior, Wis. "J. W. Gates said McManigal was the 'J. W. Erice' who frequently registered at a hotel in Rochester, Pa., where later was discovered nitro-glycerine in quantities hidden under a shed.

The activities of James B. McManigal on his return to Indianapolis after blowing up the Los Angeles Times building were also traced in hotel registers. At the suggestion of his brother, James B. took the name of "Frank Sullivan," dropping all the aliases he had used on the Pacific Coast. H. M. Spinning, a deputy sheriff of Los Angeles county, identified photographs of both the McNamaras. This was done, it was announced to the jury, because the McNamaras were "detained" in San Quentin prison in California and could not be present.

In presenting great bundles of telegrams which were identified by managers of Telegraph offices from many parts of the country, but the contents of which were withheld, announced the Government attorneys that it would be shown that arrangements for the Pacific coast explosions were carried on by telegraph, that of Olaf A. Tveitmore and Eugene A. Clancey, of San Francisco, and J. E. Munsey, known as "Jack" Bright Salt Lake City, communicated about the explosion in telegrams and Clancey and Munsey "worried over the search instituted for the dynamites," sent back and forth messages concerning the whereabouts of James B. McNamaras.

ARCHBOLD ADMITS HE WROTE LETTERS

WASHINGTON, Oct. 10.—The authenticity of the majority of the letters recently made public by William R. Hearst, purporting to have passed between John D. Archbold, of the Standard Oil Company and members of the House and Senate, was admitted by Mr. Archbold today before the Senate committee investigating campaign expenditures.

Those letters, of which facsimile photographs have been published, were in almost every case identified by Mr. Archbold with the statement, "I undoubtedly wrote that." These included letters to and from Senators Hanna, Foraker, Quay and Fenrose; and ex-Representatives Sibley, of Pennsylvania and Grosvenor, of Ohio. Many letters Mr. Archbold said he did not remember, but he recognized handwriting and signatures and admitted their genuineness.

The president of the Standard Oil Company, recalled by the committee after making his charge in August that he had given $100,000 to the Republican campaign fund of 1904, admitted today that the receipt given by Cornelius N. Bliss, for the sum had been destroyed by himself and the late H. H. Rogers. He said he had not been able to find even an entry of the amount on the books of the Standard Oil Company.

BOSTON, Oct. 10.—New York came back with Rube Marquard today and made it even with the Red Sox, taking the third contest of the world's series by a score of 2 to 1. The Sox, fighting desperately and forced to come from behind, made a sensational ninth inning rally that threatened to pull the game out of the fire when Marquard faltered and the Giant defense threatened to crack. But Cady, who had relieved Carrigan behind the plate, was unequal to the task put up to him in the pinch and when Devore pulled down his long by the agony was ended and the race was evened up.

Marquard, who had been a question mark in the Giant battery cast of characters, came back with a flash of his early-season 19-in-a-row form, and giving a lead of one run in the first inning, held the Sox safe all the way. Buck O'Brien, who opposed the Giant southpaw, pitched a grade of ball that would have won with legs to spare had he been pitted against the Giants' exhibition of yesterday, but the luck was not with him, and the Giants backed Marquard up in a fashion that must have made Mat-thevson envious.

Devore made a ninth inning entry after O'Brien had given way to a pinch hitter, and held the Giants safe in the closing stanza. The attendance today was 24,524; receipts, $63,142. Of this the National Commission's share is $6,314.20; players' share, $34,096.68. Each Club receives $11,355.82.

The total attendance for the first three games was 102,502. That the ninth inning rally did not at last tie up the game was unquestionably due to the fact that the Boston coaches went up in the air at the critical moment. With Speaker out of the way, Lewis singled and combed a stinging double down the right field line. Devore and Merkle handled it poorly, while Lewis scored and Gardner was held at second and a moment later was nabbed at third when Stahl rapped a hot grounder to Marquard, who threw to Herzog. Wagner then tapped to Fletcher who shot one straight and true to Merkle for what should have been the closing out but the first baseman dropped the toss.

Now came the play of the day. Wagner stole second, and a hit meant Red Sox victory. Cady caught one square and true. Like a bullet it whistled far to right center and 99,000 spectators roared over an almost sure victory. Devore started for the ball. By one last desperate dash he came in line, reached up over his left shoulder with his back to the crowd and by one of the greatest catches of the year saved his pals from sure defeat.

First Inning.
New York—Devore singled over O'Brien's head; Doyle flied to Speaker; Devore out stealing, Carrigan to Wagner; Snodgrass flied to Speaker. No runs.
Boston—Hooper popped to Fletcher; Yerkes fanned; Speaker out, Doyle to Merkle. No runs.

Second Inning.
New York—Murray doubled to center; Merkle sacrificed; O'Brien to Stahl; Herzog sacrificed flied to Hooper; Murray scoring; Meyers out, Gardner to Stahl. One run.
Boston—Lewis singled to center; Gardner sacrificed; Herzog to Mer-

ALICE OLIVER AND LEO LARSON WED

The marriage of Miss Alice K. Oliver and Leo Larson of Willamette was solemnized at the Methodist church Wednesday afternoon at 4 o'clock, Rev. T. B. Ford, pastor, officiating. The ceremony was witnessed by the immediate relatives of the contracting parties. The bride was very pretty in her gown of white embroidered messaline, and carried an arm bouquet of white carnations. Mr. and Mrs. Larson left on their honeymoon immediately after the ceremony. Mr. and Mrs. Larson are well known young people of Willamette, where they have a host of friends. The former is a son of Mrs. Sarah Larson, and the latter a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Oliver, prominent residents of Willamette. Upon their return they will make their home in Willamette.

TONGUE AND DIMICK ENTHUSE VOTERS

District Attorney Tongue and State Senator Dimick were the principal speakers at a big Republican rally held at the Sunnyside school house Thursday evening. Addresses were also made by E. C. Hackett, candidate for sheriff; J. F. Nelson, candidate for assessor; E. P. Dedman, candidate for recorder and Chris Schuebel, candidate for representative in the legislature. The speakers called attention to the county being overwhelmingly Republican, and declared that if the Republicans did their duty the entire ticket would win. The meeting was an enthusiastic one, and representative members of the audience announced that the large majority of the voters of the district would support the ticket.

MISS SANDSTROM TO TEACH IN LOS ANGELES

Miss Mary Sandstrom, who is well known in this city, where she has lived most of her life, has accepted a position as teacher of expression at the Westlake School for Girls at Los Angeles. Miss Sandstrom is a graduate of the Cheney Normal School, and taught at Colville, Wash., before going east to take up her studies of expression at Emerson College in Boston. Miss Sandstrom was graduated from the Emerson College recently. She is a bright young woman, and before leaving to resume her duties at college in Boston she gave a recital in this city. There is no doubt that this talented young woman has a bright future before her.

LOVE'S FLAME GONE, FIREMAN'S WIFE SUES

Allie Carlson Thursday sued for a decree of divorce against Chris Carlson, a member of the Portland Fire Department. The plaintiff says that her husband has treated her cruelly and has made frequent accusations against her which were unfounded. They were married in Portland January 24, 1911, and have two children. The plaintiff seeks the custody of the children and $40 a month alimony for their maintenance. She also asks an injunction against the defendant molesting her. Edith M. Augustine seeks a divorce from Frank E. Augustine. They were married February 6, 1908. The plaintiff avers that her husband deserted her in July 1910.

The Star

An exceptionally fine program will be shown at this theater today and tomorrow.

The Whiskey Runners

One of those Northern stories that never fail to please. It gives the adventures of a Mounted Royal policeman in trying to apprehend the smugglers. It is very exciting.

The Gay Deceivers

A comedy drama which will create a smile.

The Muskateres Love

A beautiful hand colored film. The story is of romantic nature.

Two Cinders

This a corking good comedy by the Vitagraph Co., featuring John Bunny & Flormer Turner

John Bunny & Flormer Turner

When these two get started, they certainly can make a riot of mirth.

Bumps

A circus story, showing a big parade, with the entire outfit of camels, elephants, horses and great wagons. It also shows a circus fire and a panic but you don't need to be afraid to bring the children as this theater is absolutely fireproof.

'LITTLE TIN HOUSE' IS UPSET BY COURT

JUDGE CAMPBELL DECIDES PORTLAND OWNS SMALL LOT IN DISPUTE

PROPERTY NOW PART OF STREET

Plaintiff Alleged Ownership of Valuable Portland Strip, as Heir of Benjamin Stark

A unique suit involving the ownership of a strip of land having a frontage of fourteen feet and a depth of forty feet at the corner of Sixth and Ankeny streets, Portland, was decided in favor of the city Thursday afternoon by Circuit Judge Campbell. It is the site of "The little tin house." The court held that the public right of easement had been proved. The lot forms a triangle and is valued at between $3,000 and $4,000.

Probably no piece of property in Portland has a more interesting history than the little strip of land involved in the suit. Norma G. Seaman claimed the property by virtue of an administrator's deed from the estate of Benjamin Stark. Dan J. Malarky and L. E. Latourrette, representing the city, showed that the property had been used for street purposes for many years. It was paved with gravel in 1878, and since then has been hard surfaced several times. It originally was sold to pay for street improvements. In September, 1911, on a Sunday night the plaintiff had a little tin house carted to the property and left there. The next day he obtained an injunction against its removal by the city.

On the ground that Multnomah county judges might be interested in the outcome of the suit, McCoy & Nichols, representing the plaintiff, got a change of venue to Clackamas county. Judge Campbell heard evidence in the case several months ago and Thursday the case was argued. The court held that there was little question that the property belonged to the city. Attorneys for the plaintiff announced that an appeal would be taken, and meanwhile "The Little Tin House" which is regarded as more or less of an eyesore, will be allowed to stand.

MISS FORSBERG HAS BIRTHDAY PARTY

Miss Harriet Forsberg celebrated her sixteenth birthday Tuesday evening at her home, Eighth and Water streets. Games were played and instrumental selections were rendered by Miss Martha Kevitt. The rooms were prettily decorated with autumn leaves and cut flowers. Refreshments were served, the hostess being assisted by her sister, Miss Hilda Forsberg and Miss Freda Rushe, of Portland. Present were Misses Marie Michels, Opal Rains, Grace Silcox, Martha Levitt, Loraine Forsberg, Freda Rushe, Harriet Forsberg, Annie Nornie, Minnie Justin Hilda Forsberg Vera Farr, Messrs. Jean Rich, Clifford Shinn, Frank Rosenthal, of Portland; Frank Bruce, Frank Champion, Nick Michels, Victor Meyer, Albert Moore, Don Silcox, George Roose and Allie Levitt.

WOMAN, HE DIVORCED, SUES WEALTHY MAN

Circuit Judge Campbell Thursday overruled the demurrer of the defendant and gave him ten days in which to file answer in the suit of Mary Norville against Simon Norville. The plaintiff alleges that the defendant left her several years ago when they were living in Wyoming and went to Seattle, promising to send for her later. She avers that he obtained a divorce here, and afterwards married in Seattle. She asks, through her lawyer, J. E. Hedges, that the decree be set aside. The defendant since moving to Seattle has made a large fortune.

ED. FORTUNE HAS NARROW ESCAPE

While Mr. Fortune, Democratic candidate for constable, was busily engaged in getting recruits to carry him to the front in the next election, he was suddenly struck for $10.00. Someone evidently had mistaken him for "Raffles" of the Grand Theater. If you happen to be near the Grand today, between one and two o'clock, and someone says "YOU ARE RAFFLES OF THE GRAND THEATER" and shows you his pass, take it good naturedly—He is out after that easy money ($10.00) to be given to the person spotting the mysterious "Raffles." "Raffles," if he is not caught today, will be in Adams Department Store between one and two o'clock Saturday afternoon and that evening he will be seated in one of the seats at the Grand.

If it happened it is in the Enterprise.

CAMPAIGN PLANNED BY SUFFRAGISTS

ADVOCATES OF GIVING WOMEN RIGHT TO VOTE ORGANIZE

MRS. DYE PRESIDES OVER MEETING

Large Crowd Expected to See Free Play "How the Vote Was Won" at Shively Theater Tonight

Equal Suffrage sympathizers of Oregon City, at a meeting Thursday evening in the Methodist church, effected an organization to work in the interest of amendment No. 1, which provides for equal suffrage and will be voted upon at the coming election. Miss Ethel E. Griffith, of the College Equal Suffrage League, of Portland, delivered an interesting and convincing address. Miss Griffith has been in the city several days in the interest of women's suffrage and arranging for the play to be given this evening at the Shively Theater by the Portland Equal Suffrage Dramatic Club. The play is entitled "How the Vote Was Won."

Mrs. Eva Emery Dye was temporary chairman of the meeting Thursday evening. After Miss Griffith spoke it was decided unanimously to effect an organization and the following officers were elected: Honorary president—Mrs. Eva Emery Dye; president, Grant B. Dimick; first vice-president, Mrs. Griffin; second vice-president, Miss Laura Beatrice; third vice-president, Mrs. Thayer; fourth vice-president, Miss Myrtle Buchanan; secretary, Mrs. Frank Schoenborn; treasurer, George C. Brownell.

It was decided that the boy scouts be invited to act as ushers at the play this evening. The play will be followed by an address by Colonel Robert Miller, of Portland, an enthusiastic advocate of equal suffrage. All residents of the city are invited to see the play. No charge will be made. The cast of characters will be as follows:

FREYTAG ARRANGES BIG PORTLAND EXHIBIT

O. E. Freytag, who will have charge of sending the Clackamas county exhibit to the Pacific Northwest Land Products Show to be held in Portland November 18, says it will be one of the best. The farmers are contributing liberally. Among the districts that will be represented are Sandpoint, Idaho; Chahalis, Wash.; Goldendale, Wash.; Olympia, Wash.; Skamania, Wash.; Tully, Wash.; Woodland, Montana; Youngs, Or.; Grants Pass, Or.; Laidlaw, Or.; Roseburg, Or.; Madras, Or.; Albany, Or.; Dallas, Or.; Culver, Or.; Eugene, Or.; Clackamas County, White Salmon, Wash.; Baker, Burns Corvallis Grant county Central Oregon Development League Hood River, The Dallas, Ashland, Salem and Clatsop county. Many exhibits that were at the state fair and Clackamas county fair will be sent to Portland and with other displays that will be brought in Clackamas county will make a good showing. Bannock, Warner, Grange and Harding Granges will have exhibits in the Clackamas county space. Clackamas county has been given a space of 15 x 60 feet and there is no doubt but that every inch of this will be filled with vegetables and fruits that will attract the attention of the patrons of the show.

MAN HELD FOR CARRYING DEADLY WEAPON CONCEALED

Anton Bauer, arrested by Policeman Green, on a charge of carrying a deadly weapon concealed, was held in bonds of $150 by Justice of the Peace Samson Thursday to appear for hearing next Tuesday. The complaint was sworn to by Policeman Frost. It is alleged that Bauer threatened to shoot a man.
