TWO DROWN WHEN SUBMARINE WRECKS

CHAMPION DIVING CRAFT OF WORLD TORN FROM MOORING BY WAVE

VESSEL POSSIBLY CAN BE SAVED

Crew abandons F-1 When it is evident That She Will Be Driven Ashore—Men Fight for Lives

WATSONVILLE, Cal., Oct. 11.—The submarine F-1, champion diver of all the undersea fighting craft, is ashore near here today, with her nose rammed in the sand and two of her seamen dead. T. J. Turbett, of Newarw, N. J., and G. A. Schroeder, of Minneapolis, were swept from the deck of the little vessel and drowned when it was torn from its moorings at daybreak.

The extent of the damage to the submarine, which was grounded after a six hour's fight by the remaining thirteen members of her crew, has not been determined.

Schroeder and Turbett were on the watch with another seaman nicknamed "Blinky" when the chain, which held the craft to the buoy near the end of the pier parted. Before the men could gain control of the steering gear the vessel was wallowing in a heavy sea. A giant wave swept over the deck, leaving only "Blinky" clinging to the rail and fighting for his life. He was bruised and almost drowned when found by other members of the crew, who came on deck immediately afterward.

CHARGE AGAINST SMITH DISMISSED

The Grand Jury which adjourned sine die Friday, dismissed the charge against Oscar Lee (Auk) Smith, accused of taking Dora Bernholtzer to a hotel for the purpose of buying her beer. The evidence was insufficient. Assistant District Attorney Stipp said to find a true bill, Ira Dennis Cornwall was indicted on a charge in which Mollie Clark, a squaw, is said to be equally guilty. A true bill was found against John Howell accused of intimacy with Minnie Clark, a daughter of Mollie Clark. Carl Johnson, accused of taking a cow from the pasture of Mrs. Christina Fisher, of Gladstone, was indicted. The new Grand Jury will be impaneled November 4.

WOOD PITCHES SOX TO SECOND VICTORY

TESREAU IS UNSTEADY AND MEN FROM BEANTOWN WIN 3 TO 1

WAGNER IS HERO OF BOSTON NINE

Ames Relieves Ozark Giant in Box After Visitors Have Game Sewed Up—Both Teams Field Well

NEW YORK, Oct. 11.—Joe Wood repeated on Tesreau and the New York Giants today, and as a result the Boston Red Sox returned to Beantown Friday night with the "jump game" once more in their possession and the Giants again one down.

"Smoky Joe" Wood, with a gray day to help him out, was all there with a margin to spare. Tesreau was good but not good enough to cope with the glit edged product of the Boston marl.

Wood's effort was unquestionably a big factor, but no small share of the credit for the win must go to a ball-playing centipede by the name of Heinie Wagner. The count was 3 to 1 and but for Wagner's brilliant, almost superhuman work the Giant attack would have left a different story to be written of Wood's day's efforts. For four rounds Wood worked at top speed, driving the Giants to the soup trough almost in order. He had them curbed every turn.

In the fifth the Red Sox premier pitcher, worked to a raw frazzle, began to break and threatened to crumple up. Merkle slashed one over second and by a great stop Wagner cut down the hit. Herzog singled and Fletcher cracked another over second when the flashing Wagner again cut over and by hair raising stop and throw the rally was killed.

All through the closing stages of the game Wagner and Yerkes stood back of Wood, who, pitching gamely, had lost some of the smoke to his stuff, out was carried along by a defense which was absolutely a stone wall before the Giant attack. Tesreau started again for the Giants, but rocked too badly before hitting his stride. After a bad start he settled in brilliant fashion but the stand came too late.

Both teams played great ball and Boston won a deserved victory, although the Giants once more outthit the American Leaguers.

The Boston team appeared on the field at 12:15 o'clock, Speaker Impinger and apparently suffering from a badly sprained ankle. Marquard and Devore, the heroes of yesterday's game in Boston, were given an ovation.

Play Portrays Struggle of Women for Right to Vote and How It is Won By Clever Strategy

Equal Suffrage had a big inning Friday night at Shively's Theater with Colonel Robert Miller, George C. Brownell and W. A. Shewman as speakers. In addition to the speaking, the play "How the Vote Was Won" delighted the crowd. The members of the cast are pupils of Mrs. Gillespie's school. The theater was crowded and the players were liberally applauded.

The theme of the play was as follows: Horace Cole, an English clerk, opposed to votes for women as is Ethel, his wife. To impress men with the injustice of working women being denied suffrage, a strike is called and all the women stop their self supporting industries and demand that their nearest male relative support them. The result is that the men come to the conclusion that it is better to give the women the vote than to support them, and they rush out to demand Parliament to grant women equal suffrage.

Excellent music was rendered by two of Oregon City's younger musicians. More than fifty members were enrolled with the Oregon City Equal Suffrage League.

The speakers and players were delighted with the sympathy and enthusiasm of their audience.

Miss Isoton of Milwaukie spent Friday evening Miss E. E. Griffith in the preparation for the evenings' entertainment.

Young Miscreants Get Candy and Fruit and Scatter Pencils on Street—Police Search For Lads

The police are searching for two boys, the oldest not more than twelve years of age, who entered the warehouse of Larsen & Company at Eleventh and Main streets, and McGloughlin Institute Thursday evening. The boys were as daring as veteran housebreakers, and while their loot was not valuable, they took everything they could carry away.

Mrs. Charles Schram, who lives next door to the warehouse, was aroused early in the evening by the crashing of glass. She thought, however, that a window had been accidentally broken in the house of a neighbor. Early Friday morning however, it was found that a window in the warehouse had been broken. An investigation showed that the thieves had entered the building through the window and stolen fruit and candy. It is believed they turned on the electric light and made a complete search of the building.

The boys gained entrance into the McGloughlin Institute by breaking a window. The only articles they found of value were pencils, several of which they threw away and which were found on the sidewalk Friday morning.

The boys were seen leaving the building but it was not known at the time that they had broken into it. The police are searching for the lads who are thought to have escaped from a Portland school of reform.

PRISONER'S BAGGAGE BECOMES SPUD CROP

The remarkable fertility of Clackamas county soil was proved Friday, when Charles Peterson was released from the county jail where he had been a prisoner since May 24. He was arrested on a charge of housebreaking, but the grand jury reported that there was not sufficient evidence to indict him. The man was accused of entering the room of an employee of St. Agnes Baby Home, Parkplace. When arrested Peterson had a bag of spuds, which was placed in the vault adjoining the sheriff's office. When released Peterson asked for his property, and when the bag was opened a crop of potatoes was found. The sack was wet when placed in the vault and there was almost as much earth in it as spuds, which accounts for the potatoes sprouting. Deputy District Attorney Stipp announced that the prosecuting witness had left the county.
