

Harmonious.
"But why did you buy a blue dress? You know it doesn't match your complexion."
"I know it."
"I thought you were a great believer in the laws of harmony."
"I am; and you should see how beautifully it matches my husband's features when he gets the bill."

GRAPE PRICE SO LOW GROWERS WON'T SELL

Grapes are selling at such a low price that many of the growers refuse to sell at the figure and have decided it is more profitable to make wine and grape juice. Some places grapes are selling for one cent a pound, and many of the growers are giving their remaining grapes to their neighbors. They were never more plentiful or delicious than this year. Apples of good quality are being brought to the local markets, and there is a good demand for them, the retail prices ranging from 65 cents to $1.25 a box.
The hop market for the past few days has been quiet, with no large sales. Choice hops are now hard to find.

Prevailing Oregon City prices are as follows:
DRIED FRUITS—(Buying), Prunes on basis 6 to 8 cents.
HIDES—(Buying), Green hides 6c to 7c; salted 7c; dry hides 12c to 14c; sheep pelts 30c to 85c each.

TIME NOT THE "ESSENCE" OF AN OSTEOPATHIC TREATMENT

Of some arguments it is said, in legal practice, "Time is the essence of this contract." Such is not the case with osteopathic treatment. A treatment may require ten minutes or thirty, according to the case. People who are accustomed to taking osteopathic treatment understand this and do not ask for long treatments in order to get "the worth of their money."
An amusing instance recently came to our attention which illustrates the fact that the time required to perform an act is not always a true measure of its value.
A man in the country had the toothache and desiring to have the offending member removed visited the family doctor. Now the doctor was not an expert on teeth and was not well provided with the necessary equipment for their removal. He did have a pair of forceps, however, and after a prolonged effort and considerable damage to the furniture, and the patient's jaw, succeeded in getting the tooth out, collected his fee, and sent the patient away rejoicing—as much as could be expected under the circumstances.
Some years later another tooth began to give trouble and while he was visiting in the city he mentioned it to his host, who immediately offered to take him to his dentist. The dentist put a little cocaine into the gum, selected the proper pair of forceps and had the tooth out in a jiffy, much to the astonishment of the countryman who marveled at the ease with which it was done and the absence of pain. However, when told that the charge for the service was one dollar he at once became indignant and asserted that he would pay no such price as a doctor had once worked two hours to get a tooth out for him and only charged him fifty cents for the job, and he did not propose to be buncoed in any such style.—Herald of Osteopathy.

RAILWAY MUST PAY FOR COW KILLED BY TRAIN

Justice of the Peace Samson Wednesday rendered a decision in the case of Leuenburger versus Southern Pacific Railroad Company. Leuenburger's cow was killed on the crossing at Clackamas Station and the company refused to pay for it, alleging that the owner was negligent in allowing his stock to run at large in that neighborhood. Mr. Leuenburger, who was represented by Slevers, Fisher & Slevers, alleged negligence on the part of the trainmen and judgment was rendered in his favor for the value of the cow and all costs and disbursements.
