SCHNOERR REPLIES TO U'REN LETTER

REPUBLICAN NOMINEE PROVES THAT HE WANTED TO ANSWER ATTACK

SINGLE TAX MAN IS EXCORIATED

Fels' Agent Condemned for Ordering Noyer Letter Published Without Permission of Candidate

OREGON CITY, Nov. 2.—To W. S. U'ren, Sir:—In the current edition of the Courier you ask me a number of questions, which I am to answer before election day to your satisfaction and to the satisfaction of every voter. As far as this concerns Mr. Noyer's questions, I would have answered long ago, only the fact that I have more common sense than certain men who advised me from replying. If you insist I will answer both you and Mr. Noyer's questions, but after election let us consider the matter closed.

You wish to know first why I did not make a public answer to those questions which Mr. Noyer asked me through the Courier. Because, as I said, I had too much common sense for such a course. One of your nearest friends and some of his friends, who are also my friends, implored me not to publish an answer. I greatly desired to reply and also wrote an answer but desisted, for what will a man not do to harm others?

Secondly, you wish to know why I withdrew from the active campaign shortly after the publication of Noyer's questions, and why I have not gone to the political meetings with the other candidates since that time. I withdrew from the active campaign because I was too busy with my private affairs. I frequently told my companions in the race that I could not possibly spend so much of my time campaigning as I had too much other work to attend to, and secondly I had grave suspicions that Mr. Noyer was not the real author of those questions but only a tool in the hands of some man or men, and thus my

MASS AND LEVINGS SCORED BY TONGUE

DISTRICT ATTORNEY DECLARES TRICKERY WAS ATTEMPTED IN HILL CASE

EVIDENCE QUOTED BY HIM AS PROOF

Prosecutor Asserts that He Was Asked to Have Suspect Indicted Without Any Proof

District Attorney Tongue, who is a candidate for re-election, at a Republican meeting in Woodmen Hall Saturday evening, scored Sheriff Mass, also a candidate for re-election and Private Detective L. L. Levings, who assisted the sheriff in trying to find the Hill murderer. The speaker said that the sheriff had criticized him in public addresses and otherwise in connection with the prosecution of an alleged suspect, and that he felt it his duty to give the facts.

"I never would have uttered a word against Mr. Mass," said the speaker, "if he had not made charges against me. Now that he has I consider it my duty to myself and my constituents to tell the whole story."

Mr. Tongue spoke for about two hours, and defined his attitude in the murder probe by reading from the record. He said that Mass and Levings had not played fair with him; they had tried to fasten the crime upon a man without having the evidence, and that the sheriff had been prompted throughout by a desire to make capital that would aid him in re-election and put the blame for not finding the slayer and having him convicted upon the district attorney.

The speaker intimated that the sheriff and Levings were more interested in obtaining the reward offered for the capture of the murderer than anything else. He recited how he had been asked by Mass to go to Levings' office in Portland, and when he arrived there the detective had told him plainly that the grand jury wanted to indict a certain man. He said Mass even told him unless that man was convicted he (Tongue) would not
