AL PALZER READY FOR THE GONG.

Luther McCarty, lately and made haste to smooth things over with his manager so that he could resume action. Now that Palzer is back in the ring again an opportunity may soon be had to finally classify him. His manager plans to advance his standard with a rush as soon as he has had a chance to get his hand in again with a few easy matches. All restrictions are to be taken off the hitherto proscribed list of opponents, and he will be open to meet even the champion himself.

Bombardier Wells, England's heavyweight champion, has announced that he is to sail in a week or two for this country. He hopes to be able to strengthen the impression followers of boxing on this side of the water have of his prowess and, of course, gather in some money. When he makes his reappearance here he will find plenty of work to do, provided he does not demand more than his services are worth. On the eve of his departure from this country Wells was given a royal send-off, which included a banquet at which he was lauded in glowing terms for his skill and sportsmanship. Quite possibly his opinion of his worth was considerably enhanced by all this praise, and he may be disposed to make capital of it when negotiating for matches over here.

But while England's champion is a fine boxer he is not likely to work much havoc among the men he will be called upon to meet. Unless he has gained in stamina to a surprising degree during his stay in England he will not be a good bet with any one of several of our burly white hopes, who can take a punch as well as give one, even if they can't box much.

It would not be at all surprising to find the recently organized Players' fraternity a thing of the past before the next season rolls around. It is a matter of fact that but a very small percentage of the players who enlisted in the order when it was first proposed have come through with the necessary dues for the very good reason that a majority of them have come to the realization that the organization has no object to accomplish other than to furnish a rather lucrative position for a certain individual. Under present conditions the players' rights are well protected. Protests on salary questions are decidedly rare, for the clubs have long since found that they can afford to pay good salaries. There are few instances where hardships are imposed on players by reason of the rules of organized baseball. In fact, under the agreement which governs all ball clubs the player is as much protected as is the club, and the wise player can see no reason for an organization which will attack the present state of affairs.

It can be authoritatively stated that there is not a chance for the players to have representation on the national commission, and if it comes down to a question of the players fighting for this cause it's dollars to doughnuts that Dave Fritz, who has been chosen as their leader, will be turned down and the organization dissolved.

To Scrape an Acquaintance. "To scrape an acquaintance" was originated by the Emperor Hadrian. Once when visiting the public bath he found an old veteran scraping himself with a piece of broken crockery in lieu of an iron or copper scraper. Hadrian gave him a sum of money to provide the necessary materials for a bath and on his next visit to the institution found it full of veterans scraping themselves with potsherds. "Scrape away, gentlemen, but you shall not scrape an acquaintance with me," Hadrian said as he went out. If it happened it is in the Enterprise.

GOOD APPLES IN DEMAND IN EAST

There is practically no change in the prices of poultry in the local market, but pork has gone from 10c to 10 1/2c.

There is an excellent tone in the Eastern as well as foreign trade for good sized, well colored apples. Extra fancy Spitzenbergs and Yellow Newtowns of similar quality are commanding better than $2 a box at leading growing centers and according to the big shippers there is not enough of this class of stock coming forward to fill the wants of the trade. The best apples that will stand shipping are sought for.

Owing to the advance of $1 a barrel in the price of cranberries in the East, a similar rise in prices is shown in the markets. Many of the farmers of Clackamas County are becoming discouraged over the continual rains, and some who are anxious to prepare the ground for seeding are unable to do so.

Most of the apples in Clackamas County have practically been gathered and the crop is large.

There are still a few grapes left on the vines, but the present rain will no doubt cause many to rot. The markets are pretty well supplied with Concord and California grapes.

Clackamas Exhibit Arranged for Show

E. P. Carter and W. S. Niles, of Gladstone, are busily engaged in preparing an exhibit in the Commercial Club rooms to be taken to the Pacific Northwest Land Products Show which will be held in Portland November 18 to November 23 inclusive. The bungalow, which was used at the Oregon State Fair, has been taken to Portland and placed in position in the big pavilion on East Morrison Street near Water Street. This will be filled with fruits, vegetables, grains, and grasses. Many fine fruits which attracted much attention at the Oregon State Fair, are among the exhibits that will be shown.

The show promises to be one of the biggest and best land exhibits that has been held in the West. There will be exhibits from all over the Pacific Northwest and keen competition for the many prizes which are offered.

The Southern Pacific Company is offering a handsome silver cup for the district making the best display of agricultural products grown along the line of the Southern Pacific and this company is anxious that all districts should take a keen interest in this show.

CONSTANTINOPLE MAY BE CAPTURED SOON

VIENNA, Nov. 8.—Lieutenant Wegener, correspondent at the Bulgarian front for the Vienna Reichpost, telegraphed his paper today that informal negotiations have been begun for the surrender of the Turks holding unoccupied forts before Constantinople. He adds that in the meantime the Bulgarian operations are progressing satisfactorily.

who crossed the plains with William Barlow, after whom the Barlow road was named, in 1848. He entered the retail drug business when a young man and has since followed it. He served three terms in the Legislature, retiring of his own accord, and three terms as city treasurer of this city. His political record has been praised by men of all parties, and his friends assert that no better man could be found for the office to which he aspires. Mr. Jones, when first asked to make the race, declared that he did not wish to, but his friends were insistent and began circulating the petitions.

TAKES SON WHO BROKE PAROLE TO PRISON

SAN QUENTIN, Cal., Nov. 8.—After breaking his parole and gaining freedom for more than five years, Frank Lamb is in prison again today, brought back by his father, D. W. Lamb, of Shasta County.

Longing for news of home the boy wrote to his father from Seattle. The father replied, telling his son to come home. When he arrived the elder Lamb took him back to prison to serve out his seven year sentence for grand larceny.

Frank Lamb was a model prisoner at San Quentin, where he was taken in 1906 to serve a seven year term for grand larceny. The parole machinery was invoked and he was released on probation in 1907, with instructions not to leave the state and to make reports to the authorities at stated intervals.

For a time young Lamb succeeded in obeying the parole regulations. Then the trait which his father characterizes as "a little wild," reasserted itself and he took to the road. A short time ago, tired of a wanderer's life, he drifted back to the home range.

"I don't hold anything against the old man for bringing me back here," said the prisoner in Warden Hoyle's office. "I'm going to try and be more like him. If I'd been like him I'd never got into this scrape at all. He's a good old dad."

Other special dispatches to the Reichspost say that the Bulgarian first army yesterday captured Tehtalja Heights, and the third Bulgarian army broke the Turkish wing at Delyim. This correspondent added: "The last bulwarks of Constantinople are gone."

LONDON, Nov. 8.—Both Sofia and Belgrade telegraphed today that the Bulgarians have captured most of the forts in Constantinople's last line of defense and it is certain that furious fighting is in progress. The Turks making their last stand against the Christian entry into the city.

It is believed here that the fall of Constantinople is certain within a few hours at most, and that a massacre of Christians at the hands of the defeated troops and the infuriated Moslem populace is sure to follow.

Statements that Adrianople has surrendered to the Bulgarians have not been verified, and are not credited here.

Dispatches from Athens insist that the Greeks have captured Salonika, but this is unconfirmed.

It has been learned that the Sofia and Belgrade censors have not only been eliminating portions of the war matter files there by the correspondents, but that unknown to the correspondents, parts of their dispatches have been written in by the censors. That it is apparent that practically all accounts of the fighting from these points are colored by the authorities, and it is barely possible that the allies' reported victories are not in all parts of the fighting zone, so complete as have been believed.

What share Great Britain will take in the reported plans of the powers to limit the territorial acquisitions of the Balkan allies is as yet uncertain. Sir Edward Grey, the foreign minister, so far preserved the traditional secrecy of his office and has given no indication as to whether England will fall in with the reported plan of the triple alliance to make Albania a buffer state with the Italian Duke of Abruzzo as emperor.

Apparently the action of the powers now hinges on the ability of Czar Ferdinand's Bulgars to force an entrance into Constantinople. It is not doubtful that they will soon do this. Then building would be started as soon as possible and he expects to have the addition to the plant in operation by June 1. The building will be located on Third Street, between the present machine room and the river.

Although the addition of this machine will give the company the greatest capacity of any concern manufacturing similar kinds of paper on the coast, it is the intention of Mr. Hawley and the directors to make another and even greater improvement as soon as the machine is in operation. Another machine with a capacity of 60 tons daily will be installed, and another reinforced building erected. With the additions the plant will have on its payroll between 350 and 400 persons.

While in the east several months ago Mr. Hawley ordered several printing presses and a stereotyping outfit. This outfit will be used in printing orange and other fruit wrappers. The presses are the most rapid to be obtained and print two sheets simultaneously.

Probably no manufacturing plant in the west has had as remarkable a success as the Hawley Pulp & Paper Company which was organized by Mr. Hawley about four years ago. Additions to the plant have been made yearly, and the demand for the product has constantly increased.
