ONCE MORE THE ASSASSIN.

The assassination of the Spanish premier brings to the front again the virtual responsibility of protecting public men against attacks by murderous agitators or cranks. Unlike Shrank, however, the man who assaulted Col. Roosevelt, Martin, who assassinated Senor Canalejas, seems to have been an avowed anarchist, who belongs to a recognized band of these enemies of society. These malefactors are found in all countries, and their hands are against all prominent representatives of the social order. While the Milwaukee criminal was apparently an ill-balanced person, the Madrid murderer had all the intelligence and the knowledge of consequences which belong to men of his order.

Anarchism has a long memory. Because Alfonso's government executed Ferrer, a leader of the Red Republicans of Barcelona, for complicity, or alleged complicity, in a Republican demonstration in that Republican center back in 1909, Alfonso and his principal ministers were marked for slaughter. Several attempts have been

What Has Any Man to Fear if Women Vote?

By Professor B. H. MEYER of the Interstate Commerce Commission

EVER since I have been old enough to have an opinion in the matter I have thought that women should have all the rights that men have. I have never heard a single objection which, in my judgment, had SUBSTANTIAL MERIT.

I have long felt and now feel that to deny women anything whatsoever which men enjoy is to IMPROVE THEIR CAPACITY, ABILITY AND CHARACTER. No man can really believe in democracy and deny women a single right granted to men.

I should consider it a GREAT INJUSTICE to my mother, my sister, my wife and my daughter to even question their right to perform any fundamental function in political life.

WHAT CAN I OR ANY OTHER MAN HAVE TO FEAR FROM THEIR PARTICIPATION IN ALL THE RIGHTS OF CITIZENSHIP?

made to kill the king since then, and also to take the lives of some of his cabinet, but all failed until the ablest and most powerful of them was taken off. No public man, under any form of government is immune from assault by these foes of the established order. Spain and Italy seem to have more of them than any other country, in proportion to population, but all have them. They have been less prevalent in England than in other European nations, because England offers them an asylum unless they commit some overt act against the law, but they are in that country too, as some attacks all of them harmless, made upon the late King Edward VII. show.

FORUM OF THE PEOPLE

SOCIALISM DEFENDED.

OREGON CITY, Or., Nov. 18.—(Editor of the Enterprise)—I hold no brief for the Socialists. I am not myself a Socialist. Neither am I writing this merely to uphold the contention of my friend, the Rev. Mr. Robinson, as I believe he is quite capable of taking care of his own cause. But I am sure that the Enterprise has been unconscionably unfair to the Socialists, and I am sure it is desirous of giving all classes in the community fair play. In your editorial reply to Mr. Robinson you quoted quite a list of Socialists as opposed to Christianity. A number of the quotations were given in their true sense, but some were not. For instance, you implied from the words of Rev. Mr. Brown and Prof. Herron that these men were opposed to Christianity. Your quotations merely show the fact that they are opposed to a certain type of Christianity, that which they believe, rightly or wrongly, to be dominated by what they call "The Capitalistic Class-spirit". Yet both of these men profess to be Christians. True I cannot agree with them in their interpretation of Christianity, but that is apart from the matter under discussion. As well quote Luther's strictures upon the Church of Rome as atheistic attacks upon the foundations of the Christian faith, as call these men's attacks upon what they believe to be a money-owned church, renunciation of Jesus Christ.

PROTESTS AGAINST CITY DEBT.

OREGON CITY, Nov. 18.—(Editor of the Enterprise)—In the Morning Enterprise a few days since I noticed, under your account of council meeting that Councilman Meyers and Mayor Dimick are agreed that Oregon City is in a serious condition. Never were words spoken truer! Mr. Taxpayer had better heed this warning. When a little town like Oregon City is carrying a burden of $250,000 and better, isn't it about time we inquire into the merits of the men who placed us in this position and of the new men who seek to do further business for us? A city election is at hand and before you vote for any man offering his services wouldn't it be wise to find out where he stands, as to placing our city further in debt? As a property owner and taxpayer of Oregon City I wish to protest against any further indebtedness being created for any purpose whatever. No man should be elected to the council who is not willing to go on record as against any further indebtedness, and taxpayers will be serving themselves and Oregon City if they heed this warning. It isn't safe to jump into the river with such a millstone tied about our necks. E. C. HACKETT.

Heart to Heart Talks.

By EDWIN A. NYE

TO OBEY!

A New York man on the evening before he was to be married broke his engagement with the bride because she refused to promise to obey him. Fortunate she!

The word "obey" still remains in some of the marriage rituals, although it signifies little, the promise being understood to be given in a Pickwickian sense. Certainly there are not many intelligent women who will give such a promise without mental reservation. It has been suggested that the service be amended to read "love, cherish and help," which would be much better. No bride would object to such a pledge.

And the husband? Should he desire to make a slave of his wife or a nonentity? Is man superior to woman? Fifty or a hundred years ago it might have been so contended. Woman today is considered the equal of man. If so, should the wife be expected to look up to the husband as lord and master and the husband look down upon his wife as his inferior dependent? Woman is not inferior.

As a matter of fact, many a woman is a better manager than her husband. And he should be glad to avail himself of her superior ability in the management of their affairs.

Does he want to be a tyrant? Does the husband want to humiliate his wife by posing as her superior, or what is more to the point, does he wish to make a hypocrite of her? Certain it is that, while she may, under stress, pay outward tribute to his asserted mastery or soothe his vanity by asking his permission to do or not to do, she will do as she pleases.

"When a woman will do as she pleases, you may depend on it. And when she won't do as she pleases, there's an end on't." Really this New York man was born too late in the world's history—Or in the wrong country.

In Abyssinia he might be able to find a woman who would marry him on her promise to obey. Even then he might discover later on that his slave wife had tricked him.

It is high time the marriage service were edited to date. "Obey" should be eliminated.

Marriage is a full partnership.

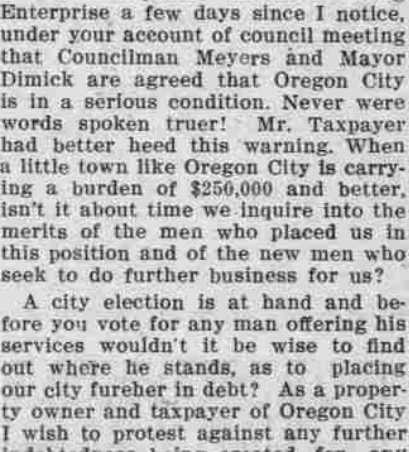

Britain. Yet these men are as truly Socialists as are their unbelieving fellows.

Socialism is purely an economic philosophy. In brief, Socialism means the taking out of the hands of individuals and placing in common public ownership all the means of producing wealth. Wealth may still be private, but the means of its production must be equally accessible to all. This is a question as far outside the realm of religion as the tariff, or single tax, or Canadian reciprocity. To those who understand Socialism, either friend or foe, any attempt to make a religious issue is simply ludicrous.

Socialism is an issue that must be faced, not in the spirit of ridicule, nor in that of unfairness. Mr. Taft says it is the next great issue before the American people. Its arguments must be met fairly and squarely. I am not a Socialist, yet I must confess that I have no more fear of Socialism undermining the Rock of Ages than I have of Republicanism or Democracy. It is an economic theory, revolutionary in its nature, yet purely an economic theory for that. W. S. MILLIKEN.

CRIPPLE WHO SACRIFICED LIFE.

Girl He Saved and His Funeral

Photos by American Press Association.

THOUSANDS of persons all over the country silently expressed sympathy when poor Willie Rugh died. If there was ever a man who laid down his life for another that man was Rugh. Crippled, but with apparently years of life ahead of him, Willie Rugh permitted his lame limb to be amputated to save the life of Miss Ethel Smith at Gary, Ind., by the transplanting of skin. The lame newsboy—he was a man in years—had never seen the young girl, but he was willing to sacrifice his crippled leg so that she might live. When death came to him shortly afterward in the hospital he breathed his last with these simple words, "Well, I guess I haven't lived in vain, after all." All Gary turned out to the hero's funeral. Miss Smith is convalescing. She was not told that the lame newsboy had perished in her behalf until after his funeral.

The "Giant" Bell.

Russia is famed for the manufacture of great bells. The "Giant" cast in Moscow in the sixteenth century, weighed nearly 320,000 pounds and required twenty-four men to ring it. In 1732 it fell, but its fragments were recast along with other metal into a bell which weighed 443,000 pounds, the metal of which alone is valued at $300,000.

"On Satan's Knees."

A little girl of five or so was much puzzled on hearing the lines of the old hymn: "And Satan trembles when he sees The weakest saint upon his knees." "Whatever," she asked, "did they want to sit on Satan's knees for? I'm sure I should not like to sit on Satan's knees at all, and why should he tremble if they were so little?"

Saved the Commission.

"Let well enough alone," remarked the man who leased his house without the help of an agent.—Puck.
