OREGON CITY BOYS TO BE IN GAME

"SAP" LATOURETTE AND WALLACE CAUFIELD WILL PLAY TOMORROW

BOTH ARE HEROES OF MANY BATTLES

Large Crowd From Oregon City Expected to Attend Struggle Between Varsity and Multnomah Men

With two Oregon City boys in the battle, and with two more who formerly lived in this city, it is expected that a large crowd from this city will attend the big football game at Portland tomorrow afternoon at Multnomah field, when the University of Oregon eleven will meet the Multnomah Club for their annual struggle. "Sap" Latourette and Wallace Caufield, sons of Oregon City's pioneer bankers, will participate and Parsons, half back and Grout, tackle on the University eleven, both of whom formerly lived here, will be in the game. "Sap" Latourette, hero of a hundred hard fought gridiron battles, will play with the clubmen, against his former teammates, whose weaknesses, strong points, and characteristics, he knows like a book. Way down in his heart, the famous Oregon spirit has a great big clench on "Sap", and while anxious to get in the game, as he has played but little since graduation, he would naturally prefer—just a wee bit—to display his remarkable football prowess against others than his old friends. He played for four years with the Oregon eleven and won an enviable reputation as the greatest quarterback in the Northwest during his career. He was the directing general in all of Oregon's big successes during the past four seasons.

Young Caufield is playing his first year as a regular "center" for the university eleven, and his accurate passing has been a remarkable feature of the Eugene game this season. He participated in the game at Corvallis Saturday, and his clever work while not of the spectacular order, was noticed by those who realize the responsibilities of the position. Johnny Parsons, who was the hero of the Eugene-O. A. C. duel last Saturday, resided in Oregon City several years ago. His father, Rev. John Parsons, still has interests here, but is now an active minister at Fairfield, Alaska. Grout, Oregon's tackle, was also formerly an Oregon City boy, so all in all, the mill town will probably be well represented at the big game Thursday.

The game promises to be one of the best ever played between the University and the Club men. Oregon's remarkable strength displayed in the Albany game Saturday last, has boosted her chances of defeating Multnomah's all-star eleven. Flushed with three victories in as many years, the older players of the Portland aggregation believe they have the edge on the college lads, by about one or two touchdowns. It is safe to say that if the Eugene team plays with the spirit that characterized their work last Saturday, the clubmen will be given the surprise of the season.

DR. HOMAN IS NEW CHAUTAUQUA HEAD

DYE NAMED VICE-PRESIDENT AND CROSS ELECTED SECRETARY OF ASSOCIATION

COLLEGES TO TAKE AN ACTIVE PART

Representative Citizens From all Parts of Country are Elected Vice-Presidents of Assembly

Dr. Fletcher Homan, of Willamette University will head the Willamette Valley Chautauqua Association for the year 1913. At the annual election of officers held by the directors Tuesday afternoon this choice was made known, and Hon. C. H. Dye, retiring president, was elected first vice-president. Hon. H. E. Cross was unanimously chosen as secretary for the coming year.

Besides the election of officers, the board of directors took the oath which the Association imposes upon them. It was voted to hold a session in 1913 but the exact dates and the selection of talent will be arranged later. H. E. Cross, C. H. Dye, and Sarah A. Evans were chosen as delegates from the assembly to attend the Coast Chautauqua meeting to be held in Portland December 5.

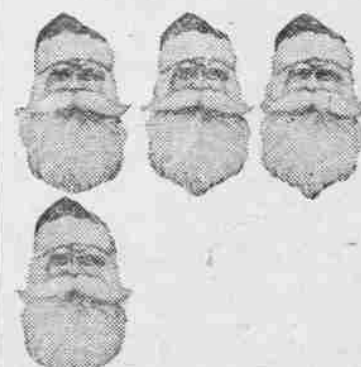

To extend the influence of the pioneer institution, the following vice presidents were selected. All are representative citizens from all sections of the community and have previously taken an active interest in the Chautauqua: W. S. Hurst, Hubbard; A. M. Griley, Portland; A. L. Clark, Rainier; L. E. Carter, Portland; Mrs. Ida B. Barkley, Portland; Henry L. Bents, Aurora; Rev. J. Kratt, Portland; Mrs. S. Hovenden, Portland; Dr. T. B. Ford, Oregon City; Dr. Milliken, Oregon City; Mrs. Robert H. Tate, Portland; L. A. Fanning, Newberg; Rev. Edwards, city; Professor Gary, city; Mrs. Shirley Buek, Milwaukie; Mrs. G. H. Wyse Jones, McMinnville; Mrs. J. M. Poorman, Woodburn; Professor R. R. Steels, Portland; J. F. Wilmarth, Boring; Rev. J. R. Landsborough, city; Mrs. E. S. Hollinger, Portland; Mrs. Emma Galloway, Salem; Rev. Henry Bates, Forest Grove; Mrs. G. G. White, Mount Angel; W. H. Yoder, Hubbard; Percy T. Shelley, Sandy; Mrs. A. B. Manley, Portland; H. L. Husung, Astoria; Dr. J. E. Hall, Wash.; E. S. Collins, Ostrander, Portland; Mrs. A. King Wilson, Oswego; Rev. J. L. Jones, Parkplace; Mrs. Wayne Robbins, Molalla; Professor Edward Simpson, Mrs. M. J. Lee, Canby; Miss James, Sec. Y. W. C. A., Portland; Rev. Wiewistek and Rev. Clack, both of Oregon City.

An effort will be made to interest more of the colleges of the Willamette Valley and the state in the great work of the Chautauqua for the coming year.

The meeting to be held in Portland December 5, is to be one of the greatest of interest. Mr. Cross, who is manager for all the Chautauquas on the coast, including the Idaho assemblies, says that representatives from the leading Lyceum Bureaus of the country will be at the meeting, in addition to the delegates from the fourteen Chautauquas on the coast. At this meeting the talent for the coming year will be selected, dates arranged as far as possible and other matters of importance will be discussed.

A small classified ad will rent that vacant room.

SHIPMENTS OF STEEL ARE MADE IN SEVEN MILE INSTALLMENTS

DIRECTORS PUSHING WORK ON ROAD

Clackamas Southern Will Provide Route for Farmers to Bring Produce to Market—Road Built by Independent Company

The first shipment of steel rails for the Clackamas Southern Railroad arrived in Oregon City Tuesday and the same will be laid down immediately, so as to place the first division of the road in operation between Oregon City and Beaver Creek.

The rails have been provided for so that shipments will be made in seven mile installments, the total distance being thirty-two miles. The crossings for the Southern Pacific and the two tracks of the Portland Railway, Light & Power Company in the north end of the city, were made in Seattle, and will arrive in Oregon City today. The switch connecting the Clackamas Southern with the Portland Railway, Light & Power Company has been put in and is now being extended up through block thirteen (13), so as to allow the Clackamas Southern switch room of its own for the storage of its rails as they arrive in the city.

The company has enough money subscribed at Mt. Angel, Monitor and other points along the line to complete the grade and the bridges from Beaver Creek to Mount Angel, and the only funds which the company is compelled to raise in addition is for the laying of the steel and ballasting the track.

It will require about $10,000 to lay and ballast the track between Oregon City and Beaver Creek and the company is asking the people of Oregon City to assist in that work. The company cannot use the money subscribed for grades and bridges for the laying down and ballasting of that part of the road between Oregon City and Beaver Creek, as their subscription contracts provide that the funds heretofore subscribed shall be used for grades and bridges between Oregon City and Mount Angel.

The directors of the Clackamas Southern have devoted a great deal of time to this work without compensation and they have accomplished a great deal more than the average citizen ever expected.

This is an independent road which is being built and financed by independent capital, and it goes to show what can be accomplished in a community when an enterprise is supported by those who will reap the greatest benefits.

It is true that antagonistic companies have fought this road from inception, and in doing so they have demonstrated that they did not want an independent company to enter any territory claimed by them.

As a matter of fact the enhancement of the value of real property

COMMERCIAL CLUB TO AID ROAD PLANS

With the object of arranging a definite plan for road legislation, the Oregon City Commercial Club, upon the suggestion of B. T. McBain, president, has appointed the following members of the club to confer with W. A. Dimick state senator, and F. M. Gill, Gustav Schnoerr and C. Schuele, representatives-elect in the state legislature: B. T. McBain, M. D. Latourette and E. E. Brodie. A meeting will be held Wednesday evening, December 2, at which all proposed road laws will be considered. Mr. McBain said that various propositions for the improvement of roads were many and differed widely and he thought the Commercial Club should use its best efforts to aid the representatives of the county in the legislature and senate in adopting the best road measures.

TEACHERS GIVEN FINE INSTRUCTION

MRS. HAYES, MISS BRENTON AND MR. CHAMBERLAIN SECOND DAY SPEAKERS

GEOGRAPHY IS INTERESTING THEME

Miss Curran Declares that School Rooms Should Have More Light, Heat and Best Ventilation

The second day's meeting of the Teachers' Institute was even more interesting than the first. Sessions were held morning, afternoon and evening.

The morning session began with music led by Mrs. Anna S. Hayes, who is instructor in singing in several schools in Clackamas County. Alabama Brenton lectured upon "Drawing of Objects", illustrating her address with rapid crayon work at the blackboard. In the afternoon Miss Brenton lectured to the Primary Division of the Institute upon "Nature Study", again using the crayon.

Mamie Fulkerson of Salem and Miss Montgomery of the Eastham school, Oregon City, spoke upon "Writing before the Primary and Intermediate Divisions respectively."

Arthur H. Chamberlain introduced some progressive plans in his address upon "The Teacher of Geography". He pointed out that formerly geography was the study of the earth as the home of man, but that now it is the study of man's environment. Considering it from this viewpoint, useful material can be gathered, not from text books alone, but from magazines, advertisements, railroad booklets, and the illustrated booklets of commercial clubs. Geography is called the "sick subject" of the curriculum, whereas it should be the most fascinating and vital and may be made so when properly presented. Children are likely to get distorted impressions of topography, from the ordinary text books. Excursions form one of the best means of making geography pleasant and luminous. Teachers ought frequently to take the classes out upon these study excursions.

Margaret Craig Curran, Deputy State Superintendent of Washington, spoke upon "Heat, Light and Ventilation in the School Room". A room that is not properly ventilated cannot be properly heated for the reason that if a good circulation is not going on dead air will accumulate in certain parts of the room. Good work cannot be expected if pupils who are too warm, too cold or starved for fresh air. The real value of the school depends largely upon these three items, heat, light and ventilation.

Mamie Fulkerson spoke before the Intermediate Division upon "Language". Her wide and successful experience enable her to present good material.

Miss Lena Ulen of Clairmont school sang a number of solos in a delightful manner and with rare expression.

Mr. Chamberlain closed the day with an address upon "The Meaning

GILL FOR GRANGE HIGHWAY MEASURE

REPRESENTATIVE-ELECT TELLS WIRES HE WANTS PEOPLE TO HELP HIM

ESTACADA MAN SHOWS SINCERITY

O. D. Eby Proves Self Greatest Diplomat in Oregon City's Commercial Organization

F. M. Gill, of Estacada, made an address at the luncheon of the Live Wires Tuesday which had the right Oregon City and Clackamas County ring. Mr. Gill is a schoolteacher first and a statesman next and the Live Wires are of the opinion that he is a competent man no matter which vocation he is following.

"I intend to work for the interests of the cities as well as the country districts", was the first sentence uttered by the speaker, who is a guest of Gustav Schnoerr, also a representative-elect in the Oregon Legislature. "I intend to do my best at Salem for the betterment of all interests. I am especially interested in road legislation and have given it considerable study. I favor the so-called Grange bills which provide for roads leading from the farms to the market places. If these roads are made, the trunk lines will be built as a matter of course. I know the people of the cities are willing to cooperate with the rural districts in providing a reasonable system."

F. M. Gill, Representative-Elect, who will work for interests of Oregon City.

Mr. Gill explained that he was a representative of Hood River and Wasco Counties at the last session of the legislature and that his greatest disadvantage was his constituents would not aid him by telling him the legislation desired.

"This hampered me considerably", continued the speaker, "as you may readily understand. I hope the people of Clackamas County will make all the suggestions they may possibly have, and I assure them that I will give them full consideration and do my best for them. I must know what the people of Clackamas County want before I ask for it. I have a bill in preparation amending the registration law. It provides that a registration in a precinct holds so long as the person registering lives in that precinct. Under the present law a person has to register every two years even though he does not change his residence. I am also opposed to the law providing for the swearing in of voters at the polls."

Mr. Gill said that he would try to have an amendment to the school law passed regarding the qualifications of the state text book commissioners. He declared that under the present system the commissioners have no qualifications and are appointed because they chance to be good friends of the political party in power. He

MRS. NEWTON IS MAYOR CANDIDATE

OREGON CITY WOMAN WILL FILE PETITIONS WITH RECORDER EARLY TODAY

JONES IS ONLY MAN TO ENTER RACE

M. D. Latourette Has Clear Field for City Treasurer—Meyer, Horton and Metzner Council Candidates

Oregon City, historic capital of the greatest state in the northwest, home of the famous "Father of Oregon"—Dr. John McLoughlin—has a new distinction thrust upon it. This beautiful city by the Falls of the Willamette, famed in history and story, and more famed in commercial records, is the first city in Oregon to have a woman candidate for mayor. She is Mrs. Kate L. Newton, lone a resident of Oregon City, and a fighter for the rights of all such as only women can be. Mrs. Newton has had her petitions circulated. They have been signed by numerous citizens. She expects to be elected. And more than that, she says when she finds herself presiding over the council, she will find herself acting in the interest of all the people. Mrs. Newton is perfectly sincere in this political business and she has strong backing.

Opposed to Mrs. Newton is Linn E. Jones, than whom there is no finer or no better male citizen anywhere. He has served the city well in the halls of the state legislature, and, if Mrs. Newton does not defeat him, will serve the city well as mayor. Mr. Jones is capable, affable, accommodating. The mayor of Oregon City is necessarily accommodating for his daily, weekly, monthly, yearly stipend, if placed anywhere on the ledger is placed on the left side. Mr. Jones also expects to be elected, but with all his political experience to say nothing of his political acumen, he realizes he has a race before him. The Oregon City council is not militant, not militant, are mobilizing, contradictory as the term may seem.

The time for filing petitions closes at noon today, and after that no matter what political ambition an Oregon Cityite may have he will have to wait about a year before offering himself as a victim to the electorate. There are other candidates besides Mr. Jones and Mrs. Newton. Mortimer D. Latourette, scion of a historic banking family, of course is the only candidate for city treasurer. Mr. Latourette has served the city so well, and been so inadequately rewarded for his most efficient services, that no other man—or woman—for purely selfish reasons would dare oppose him.

George Randall, who owns a big slice of Oregon City real estate, and two or three ranches in the county near the city, and Fred Metzner, who next to the owners, knows about all that is going on at the Oregon City Manufacturing Company, are candidates for councilmen in the first ward.

W. A. Long, a fire-fighter of renown, and Joseph D. Renner are candidates for councilman in the second ward for the long term, and Del Hart and L. P. Horton, present councilman, are candidates for the unexpired term of F. A. Burk.

F. J. Meyer seeks reelection in Ward 3. Mr. Meyer is president of the present council and is regarded as one of the leaders. He is opposed by W. C. Greaves and Frank Betzold.

MRS. WARNER WINS JELLY PRIZE AT SHOW

Mrs. Robert Warner, of this city, won the first prize for fancy jellies at the Portland Land Show. Mrs. Warner, who lives at 505 Center Street, has made a study of jellies, and has won first prize at the county and state fairs for three years. The booth where Mrs. Warner had her exhibit was one of the most attractive at the Land Show.
