CLEAN MONEY

By installing a system of washing machines in the subtreasuries the United States government designs giving us clean money. A dirty bill is to be washed like a dirty shirt. This will remove germs, but what is to be done for tainted money on which the faith is moral rather than physical? It will require something stronger than soap and water to make this clean.

Man Must Have Originated From an Animal Like Form

Dr. W. T. MULLIKEN, Anthropologist, of the National Museum. MAN CANNOT HAVE ARISEN EXCEPT FROM SOME MORE ANIMAL-LIKE FORM. On the basis of what is positively known today in regard to early man and with the present scientific views regarding man's evolution the anthropologist has a right to expect human bones, particularly crania, exceeding a few thousand years in age and more especially those of geologic antiquity, shall present MARKED STRUCTURAL DIFFERENCES and that these differences shall point in the direction of more primitive forms.

be shorter and narrower. The present measurements are 3.94 by 7.28 inches. The new size is to be 2.5 by 6 inches. The average man will scratch his head a bit dubiously about his change. It will decrease the size of his roll when it is for too small already. The roll big enough to choke a cow has largely become a thing of the imagination any how, and with the amount of the paper in a bill cut down it will become so altogether.

FORUM OF THE PEOPLE

HARVEY REPLIES TO HACKETT

OREGON CITY, Nov. 26.—(Editor of the Enterprise.)—I see from your columns that Mr. E. C. Hackett is very dissatisfied with the way our city has been run and he thinks the elevator should not be built. I wonder if Mr. Hackett knows that Oregon City is as old as the City of Chicago and four years ago we only had one improved street and today the most of the streets are improved. Most of the improvements are bonded on property abutting our improved streets, which the property will pay itself.

MILLIKEN ANSWERS JOHNSTON

OREGON CITY Nov. 26.—(Editor of the Enterprise.)—In his letter published in Sunday Morning's issue of your excellent paper Mr. Johnston advises me to go more deeply into Socialism (and I will change my mind regarding its menace to faith. His letter is a delightful excursion into the pleasant realm of logic. It is a real delight to analyze it. Christ founded the Church upon Peter. Therefore, like the laws of the Medes and Persians, the Roman communion has never changed throughout the centuries. (Dollinger, Schaft, Neander, Catholic Encyclopedia, etc., to the contrary. Both all authorities anyway. Mr. Johnston never uses them.) Therefore Protestantism is a spineless invertebrate. Therefore Socialism is anti-Christian. Therefore let us proceed to slam the Baptists in conclusion, for they are used to it. Moreover it is one of the five points of logic to hit your opponent in the solar plexus of his private record, or of his treatment of his mother-in-law, or of his religious faith—especially if you can present no argument of any account. Maybe you can make him forget the point at issue, and sidetrack him from an unpleasant subject. Thus the logic is as limp as an autumn Oregon mud-hole, and the Socialists are all evil atheists and anarchists—whether they know it or not. Selah!

Dr. Hadley in the 1911 edition of Webster's Unabridged International says: "Socialism is a political and economic theory of social reorganization, the essential feature of which is government control of economic activities to the end that competition shall give way to co-operation, and that the opportunities of life and the rewards of labor shall be equally apportioned."

"Political and economic, mark you, not religious!" I quoted Dr. Cross of Stanford in my last. The great Economists, Ely of Wisconsin and Wicker of Dartmouth in their Economic, say: "There are four characteristic elements in pure Socialism: first, the common ownership of the means of production; second, the common management of the means of production; third, the distribution of the product of industry by common authority; fourth, private property in the greater part of income." All these anti-socialistic economists, together with Gilman, Flint, Gide, Laughlin, etc., whom we have no time to quote, say Socialism is purely economic and political. The ten million Socialists in the world, in every creed, platform, and manifesto they issue, hold the same, either actively or by inference. Rev. Charles Kingsley, F. D. Maurice, Thomas Hughes, Ruskin, and the multitude in every land, even in the Germany of Marx and Engels and Bebel, who claim to be Christians and yet Socialists declare the same. All this testimony Mr. Johnston sets aside. Incidentally, he forgets in his letter to quote any authorities. Possibly he does not need them, yet we would like to remind him that no man's unsupported statement counts for any more in a public discussion than it does in a court of law.

Two men once came to the Man of Galilee, and one said: "See that my brother divides the inheritance with me." The third of his tradition has not yet ceased echoing through the ages. Christianity will do well as an organized force to follow His august example. If it leaves its proper field and steps into someone else's business it need not squeal if it gets its toes trampled upon. It fits a man morally and mentally and spiritually to be a better citizen, but it does not dictate his views upon the tariff, or upon economic reform.

A word more. Greek lexicons (vide Liddell and Scott, Sophocles, Tregelles, etc.) say that Petros (Peter) is a diminutive, "Rocklet," "pebble," Christ said to Peter, "Thou art a pebble, but upon this rock (an entirely different word to Petros) will I build my church." Of himself Christ said, "The stone which the builders rejected, the same has become the head stone of the corner." In I Cor. 3:11 Paul says, "Other foundation can no man lay than that which is laid, which is Jesus Christ." Before the Master and Peter finished their talk that afternoon the Master called him "Satan," and told him to get behind him. There may be room for difference of opinion as to whether the "rocklet," Peter or the "Rock of Ages" himself was to be the church's "One foundation." From Christ's claim in Rev. 1:18 that He Himself holds the "Keys of death and of Hades," and that he has not surrendered them to any other hand, we begin to realize that there is also room for dispute as to the identity of the keys in Peter's possession. Again, the Greek and Roman communions, have not yet settled their age-long controversy as to priority. So until we can be absolutely sure as to the truth we Protestants will manage to wage along somehow in our invertebrate way, and to wonder it—after all—Mr. Johnston really does know any more about Socialism than he seems to know about comparative christianity.

The new warship, which cost over $8,000,000 as she now stands and will cost $1,000,000 more to finish in the next year and a half, is the greatest sea fighter in the universe. She is shown just as she struck the water. President Taft, Secretary of the Navy, Miss Elsie Calder, sponsor for the ship, and her flower girl, little Kathleen Fitzgerald, are also shown, snapped at the launching, which was attended by many notables. It takes five different aged whiskies to make Cyrus Noble—each one good in itself. But it takes blending and re-ageing to bring out the best in each—to "round out" the flavor. Why punish yourself with rough, high-proof, strong whiskey when you can get Cyrus Noble everywhere? W. J. Van Schuyver & Co., General Agents, Portland, Oregon
