BRISTOW PROPOSES JUDICIAL RECALL

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4.—The initiative and recall of judicial decisions, as amendments to the Federal Constitution, were proposed today by Senator Bristow in resolutions laid before the Senate.

Senator Bristow's first resolution would permit the President to submit to popular vote at a Congressional election any measure he has recommended to Congress and upon which no action has been taken for six months.

The second would provide that "if the Supreme Court shall decide a law enacted by Congress is in violation of the provisions of the Constitution of the United States, the Congress at regular session held after such decision, may submit the act to the voters at a regular Congressional election."

Under each amendment it is provided that the questions submitted to the people must have a majority of the popular vote in a majority of the states as well as a majority of the Congressional districts of the nation.

In a brief explanation, Senator Bristow declared the amendment affecting the president, would enable him to appeal from a dilatory or adverse Congress to the people and that the president could not as an excuse for signing an undesirable measure, say that it was the best he could get from an unfriendly Congress.

Senator Bristow, in support of his amendment affecting decisions of the Supreme Court, declared that it would "give to the people an opportunity to state whether or not they desire the law, enacted by Congress and approved by the president, to stand as the last expression of their will and judgment."

The resolutions were referred to the judiciary committee.

VANITY'S VISIONS.

Original and Unusual Gowns and Trimmings For Modish Women. Original and smart is a gown with a little orange scarlet cloth coat, the cloth left with cut edges and the sole being a handsome black and silver embroidery on the up-standing collar, worn with a black satin stock.

SHAPING DISH APRON. The skirt is of cleverly draped supple black silk of the fall order. It is finished with a group, set in a triangle to hold in place one portion of the drapery, of flat black and silver inter-plaited braid buttons.

Yellows and greens take precedence in evening fabrics. Yellow is used with almost any other color desired.

Many of the new suits have yellow satin linings. Vivid blues and greens are also favored.

In some of the newest street costumes the coats are entirely of fur, mostly in mole, Hudson seal, ermine or sable.

A long stole of black fox looks well with an autumn walking suit.

Pretty little aprons such as these find many uses. They are charming for the charming dish-supper and they are pretty and practical to wear when fancy work is in progress.

SHOWER IS GIVEN MISS ZEDA ANDREWS

Mrs. George Ely gave a miscellaneous shower Tuesday evening in honor of Miss Zeda Andrews, whose marriage to A. McLeod will be solemnized soon. The house was decorated with red and green crepe paper, ferns and small hearts. Many useful articles were received by the bride-elect. The evening was spent in playing games. Those present were: Misses Gladys Macoy, Alma and Florence Moore, Mary and Elsie Chandler, Lula McGahey, Bessie and Ruth Piektorne, Helen Carrol, Eloise Ely, Ella Long, Zeda, Lorena, Florence and Frances Andrews, Mrs. E. B. Andrews and Mrs. George Ely.

The Crab as a Fisherman. The crab sometimes catches a fish, and it catches it without hook and line. It lies in wait, perhaps in some creek, with its jaws extended in front and open. Perhaps a school of killies comes along, and it may be that a killie on the outskirts of the school may swim unsuspectingly along through the clear water between the upper and lower parts of one of the motionless open claws of the crab. When it is well within them the claw suddenly snaps together and that particular little killie goes no farther.

HOP TRADE CONFINED TO LOWER GRADES

In the hop market the trade now passing is confined almost wholly to the lower grades, and dealers report a fair volume of business under way. In most of the sales put through thus far this week the prices paid ran from 10 to 14 cents. The scattering lots of best grades that remain in the state as a rule are firmly held for better figures, while the inferior hops are more freely offered. The buyers generally are said to be in the market for stock at going quotations and the indications are that this week's trade will fully equal that of last week.

Points for Mothers

The Rights of Others. How many of you mothers forget that the older children should be considered as much and as carefully guarded as the little ones that are not so very far past babyhood?

Haven't you, times without number, made Tommy or Susie give up to the smaller children just to avoid a cry? Haven't you allowed Master Tom to be interrupted by a small brother or sister when he is trying to get his lessons or busy making something that to him is quite as important as any work that you yourself have planned to do?

Do you think this is fair to the older children? Do you think Master Tom can possibly recite a perfect lesson in history, for instance, when baby brother has been allowed to clamber over his lap demanding to be shown the pictures in the book while he is trying to study?

After awhile Tom's patience gives out and he pushes baby away and tells him to play with something else, but repeated efforts to keep the younger child away proving futile, there is a scene, and the little fellow begins to cry. Nine times out of ten the mother will take baby up in her lap and soothe him while she scolds brother Tom for being a big ruffian and blames him for making baby cry when the poor boy is only trying to do his best school work.

Any little girl of ten or twelve will be perfectly willing to help her mother with the care of the younger children. She will cheerfully lend a hand at dressing, undressing, feeding, bathing and the general care of the smaller children, but mother should not expect her to rush home after school every day and take baby brother for a walk. Neither should she allow the little children to interrupt Susie and her small guests, when they are "visiting" with one another.

Little children do not mean to be tyrannical and would not be if mothers would only teach them from the time they are able to understand anything that they must respect the rights of others. Let them understand beyond a shadow of a doubt that they must not expect the older ones to yield to them the moment they express a wish. After awhile, if other babies appear, they in turn will be a greater help to mother and more kindly disposed toward the newcomer.

It requires a vast amount of tact and forethought to adjust the places of the children as they should be. Often the beginning of tyranny is established when the claims of the wee baby take up all the mother's time and the older children are neglected.

In discussing this very subject an eminent writer on the care of children and herself a mother says: "In the ideal home a system of mutual helpfulness reaching around the circle binds the household together in perfect harmony. The little ones have an undoubted claim on the caresses, the care and loving protection of those who are older. This being admitted, it is for the parents to see that the older ones are also immune from interruptions that hinder them from proceeding with the work they are daily obliged to do."

To Keep Awake in Church. A minister once told a good way to keep awake in church when inclined to be drowsy. The way was this: Lift one foot a little way from the foot and hold it there. It is impossible to go to sleep when your foot is poised in the air. This remedy, though simple, is very effective and never fails to keep a person awake.

Always Room For One More. "That's the tenth car of sailines you have ordered," said the railway man. "Aren't you afraid you will make yourself sick?" "I'm not eating them," replied the employee with inventive genius. "I think I'm on the track of a way to get more people into a street car."—Washington Star.

Advertisement for MILWAUKIE TO LEVY TAX OF SEVEN MILLS. At a special meeting of the tax payers of the Milwaukie school district at the schoolhouse it was voted to levy a 7 mill tax for all purposes. This levy will take care of the current expenses of the school for the present year, pay the interest on the $5000 in warrants and pay $1500 of the principle, money borrowed to pay for the two-acre site of the proposed high school. It was voted to postpone the payment of the balance until the next annual meeting in June. The tax payers were not in favor of issuing bonds for the present. As there had been some criticism of the action of the directors in maintaining a ten-months school the matter was submitted to a vote and the directors were unanimously sustained. According to the report of the clerk the recent census shows 406 children of school age in the district.
