OUR OWN RESOURCES The communication from Mr. Samuel published in The Oregonian of December 3 is founded in good common sense, for if there is any one tenet of trade that goes towards building up a community it is this keep-the-money-at-home spirit.

If any state could be fenced in and still prosper on its own resources, then that state is Oregon. We could get along very well without the assistance of any outside help. We might at first be a little shy on sugar, salt, coffee, and some of the other staples but we could exist and make strides.

But Mr. Samuel does not mean that we should attempt to live entirely within ourselves, neither do the best interests of the people lie in the direction of the nullification of interstate dealings. In such a case we would find ourselves precious long on wheat, fruit, hops, salmon and lumber and short on several staples such as starch, steel products, linens and fine dress goods.

It is pleasant in this connection to note that one of the finest business structures in the city, a building that many people think is the handsomest building on the Coast, is constructed almost entirely of Oregon materials—entirely save the glass, steel and a few incidentals.

And that is the whole contention. Give Oregon-made and Oregon-grown goods the preference. To do more than that is not wisdom, to do less than that is not loyalty to your home town or your home state.

YOUTH ARRESTED ON CHARGE OF TAKING ANOTHER'S CHECK

Floyd Hall, a youth who is employed by the Willamette Pulp & Paper Company, was arrested Monday evening by Policemen Frost and Green. The young man is alleged to have received and cashed a check for $3.50 which belonged to F. A. Hall. Mr. Hall was ill for a short time and the check was written at that time. When Mr. Hall asked for the check, the cashier did not have it, and upon investigation it was found that the check had been cashed at one of the banks.

If it happened it is in the Enterprise.

TASTE, SMELL AND HEARING RESTORED

A SIMPLE, HARMLESS REMEDY QUICKLY RELIEVES CATARRHAL DEAFNESS

The thousands who suffer the miseries of colds and catarrh and claim they have never found a cure can get instant relief by simply anointing the nostrils with Ely's Cream Balm.

Unlike internal medicines which upset the stomach, or strong snuffs which only aggravate the trouble, this cleansing, healing, antiseptic Balm instantly reaches the seat of the trouble.

20,000 BALES OF HOPS ARE NOT SOLD

"I believe it is safe to say that there are all of 20,000 bales of hops still unsold in this state," said one of the best known dealers Tuesday, "and if a close line-up on the situation were possible it would probably be found that the total is a little above the figures given. It is no uncommon thing for the dealers to underestimate holdings of hops, or of other commodities, in first hands, for there are always scattering lots, large and small, that in the aggregate reach a respectable total, that are not accounted for."

Prevailing Oregon City prices are as follows: HIDES—(Buying), Green hides 7c to 8c; salters 9c to 10c; dry hides 15c to 16c; sheep pelts 40c to 50c each. EGGS—Oregon ranch eggs 40c each count.

Livestock, Meats. BEEF—(Live weight) Steers 6 and 6 1/2c; cows 5 and 5 1/2c; bulls 4 1/2c. MUTTON—Sheep 4c to 5c; lambs 5c to 5 1/2c.

VEGETABLES ONIONS—$1.50 sack; tomatoes 50c; corn 8c and 10c a doz.; cracked 40c. POTATOES—New, about 50c to 60c per hundred.

The Sea Horse. This fish is found in the Atlantic ocean around the coast of Spain, the south of France, in the Mediterranean and in the Indian ocean.

GOLDEN SPIKE "DRIVE" NEW ERA FOR COUNTY

are already answering, "It is a matter of diplomacy," others, "It is a custom. It is more than either of these; it is a sign of the times. We have on the one hand throughout the world, a great body of workmen called the Proletariat, struggling for Universal Justice and Brotherhood.

Grant B. Dimick, matstay of the Clackamas Southern Railway. Spike," which will publicly proclaim that the placing of the steel bands of commercial and social intercourse that are to bind our people together in harmony and united effort for the common good has been undertaken and will be, we hope and trust, quickly and successfully finished.

"The Clackamas Southern Railroad is an enterprise that deserves well of all the people of the district through which its line has been laid, extending from Oregon City through Beaver Creek, Mulino, Liberal, Molalla, the Yoder Country, Monitor and on to Mount Angel, supplying the much needed means of direct communication, easy access and cheap transportation between these different places and to and from the outside markets.

"There have in the past been questions raised as to the wisdom of this undertaking and its possible success as a business investment. In my judgment, and I have been through the country to be traversed by the Clackamas Southern, there is a great need for this railroad and it should be put in the productive class without further delay by the united efforts and cooperation of the business and the public reports of the business done and earnings made by the Oregon Electric have been very flattering indeed and such earnings are growing fast with the increasing development and population of its territory, due to the service it insures.

"About twenty years ago, when Mayor of this city, I had the honor of driving the 'Golden Spike' which marked the completion of the East Side Railway, from Portland to Third Street in this city. This is the railway now owned and operated by the Portland Railway, Light & Power Company. That railway has been and now is a very important and beneficial factor in developing and up-building this community and the rural districts between this city and Portland.

"The Clackamas Southern is purely a home enterprise. It is being built by some of our own people. These people are public benefactors in this community. Those who are able should join in the good work and give financial support and all should give it strong moral support to the end that the road may be completed without any more wasteful delay. By doing this we will show that we are energetic and enterprising, and outside people will come to know that this is a good community to live in.

"We will now proceed with the good work of driving the 'Golden amas Southern in that vicinity since the road was suggested, told of its value to not only the farmers along the route, but also to the merchants of Oregon City, and even Portland.

"Hon. H. E. Cross, at a meeting of the Live Wires, suggested the building of this road, which is now so near its completion. The company had nearly all of the right of way. There is no watered stock, and the company has not given away one share of stock, and further not an official of the company has received pay for his labors during the past two years."

"The men who had worked for the road had received little encouragement from some parts of the country, and they met the business men, Judge Dimick said, 'at the other end of the road. These people,' he said, 'knew the real value of such a road, whereby they could get their wool and produce into the markets. Many,' he said, 'wanted the road but they were not willing to assist or help in any way.'

"The Clackamas Southern Railroad has been a friend of the people of Clackamas County. The road has tried to assist, he said in every way, and the stockholders of the Clackamas Southern should take their hats off to the officials of this company."

"W. A. Giles, of Monitor, who has worked for the interest of the Clackamas Southern in that vicinity since the road was suggested, told of its value to not only the farmers along the route, but also to the merchants of Oregon City, and even Portland.

"We are but agents of the people," he said, "and we consider it a duty of ours, to meet your enterprise half way. Whatever efforts you have made in pushing and boosting this project, will repay you, as they surely will assist in the upbuilding of your community."

"John R. Cole, of Molalla, made an excellent speech, and said that there were many gray haired citizens who had waited in years of expectation for a road like this present one, whereby they could send their produce to the markets and on which they could ride into the metropolis of the state. The day was soon at hand, he said, when the hopes of these people in his section of the country would be fulfilled.

ket," he said, "quicker and much cheaper." Gordon E. Hayes delivered an eloquent and forceful address in which he lauded Mr. Swift.

"A few years ago Mr. Swift came to the city, many looking upon him as a mere boy," said Mr. Hayes, "and he began to speak of the road to professional men, farmers, laborers, and every class of citizen. He met with disappointment, but he kept on working until now the work has been virtually accomplished."

Some one in the audience called for Mr. Swift, and upon mention of his name, the audience applauded and cheered. The band played "Everybody's Is Doing It" while O. D. Eby forced Mr. Swift to the front of the hall and onto the platform. Mr. Swift made a short speech.

O. D. Eby was the last speaker and told of the company's finances. The rails and ties had been paid for and the company did not owe anything, but money was necessary, he said, to ballast the road the remainder of the distance. He called for subscriptions and George H. Gregory, of Molalla, and many others subscribed for stock.
