CAPITAL PUNISHMENT

Friday the Thirteenth with its horrible happening at Salem has gone into the limbo of the past, but still the question of the right of society to execute its murderers is hotly debated. Whether one agrees or disagrees with Governor West politically, it is not possible to deny him full sympathy for the predicament he was in. Men of Robert's stamp will never be born, and hanging will be a thing of the past, once we begin to treat our criminals scientifically.

OGLE MOUNTAIN MAKING GOOD

Clackamas County's gold mine is making big strides. There does not seem to be any doubt but that the proposed Cyaniding plant will soon put the mine among the producers. It is doubtful if any other single thing in the county will mean so much to our communities as will the Ogle Mountain property once it is successfully under way. And not only for the county, but for the state at large, for it will call the attention of capital to our unquestioned mineral resources. Goldmining in the Cascades takes gold to get gold. A mine with ample capital back of it, can operate at half the cost of the less fortunate ones, so that the moment Ogle Mountain makes good the entire industry in this part of the Cascades will receive a boom.

PENSIONS TO EX-PRESIDENTS

No one but Andrew Carnegie would have the gall to offer to pension ex-presidents of the United States out of his private pocket. However, he has succeeded in calling the attention of the country to the question of pension, and

NEW WATER SUPPLY SUGGESTED

OREGON CITY, Dec. 14.—(Editor of the Enterprise).—There seems to be a strong and growing sentiment in favor of a change in our source of water supply which I heartily endorse. Near my boyhood home city of Jamestown, N. Y., is the little village of Levant, where there bubbled and gushed a pure cold stream of water that came from a driven well more than 100 feet deep and which was used for a public watering trough and supply for one or two dwellings. The city at that time was struggling with the water supply question, trying to pipe it from a crib in Chautauqua lake about three miles away. It proved to be an expensive and very unsatisfactory undertaking. Someone noticed the little flowing well down at Levant. A twelve inch test well was put down and the water came up, gushing over the edges of the pipe. Others were driven until now there are at least a dozen and that city of Jamestown, N. Y., with a population of about 25,000, has a water supply that is not surpassed by the Bull Run system because the water comes from a bed of gravel 112 feet under the surface, and, unlike the Clackamas or Bull Run supply, is safe from contamination for all time. Does anyone know of a flowing well of good water near Oregon City? If so, I would suggest the driving of a test well as Jamestown did. We could turn our water power into electricity and send it to any place where such a supply could be found and perhaps have some current to sell after using what would be necessary for pumping. C. I. STAFFORD.

BOY SCOUTS MAKE BIG HIT WITH PLAY

Many were the words of commendation for the Boy Scouts who so ably presented the comedy, "Pyramus and Thisbe," from Shakespeare's "Midsummer Night's Dream," at Shively's Opera House Friday evening. Under the skilled coaching of Mrs. Theodore Clark the boys surprised their best friends, especially those who took the ladies' parts. The little boy fairies could not be told from girls and Ted Miller, as Titania, their beautiful queen, would have passed muster as a belle anywhere. Shelby Shaver made a very charming Thisbe, and died quite naturally upon discovering the death of her Pyramus, George Tucker, Everett Dye carried his part handsomely, as also did Will Bagby, as Puck, the Mischief-Maker. In fact everyone deserves praise. The Athenian costumes were made by the Ladies Aid Society of the Congregational Church. Musical numbers by the High School Orchestra, assisted by Verne Roake, and violin solos by Professor Flechtner, accompanied by Miss Louise Huntley, were highly appreciated. Rev. George Nelson Edwards has presented this play several times before. The cast of characters was as follows: "Hard-handed men that work"—Bot tom, the Weaver, George Tucker; Quince, the Carpenter, Everett Dye; Flute, the Bellows Mender, Shelby Shaver; Snout, the Tinker, Wendell Smith; Snug, the Joiner, Wilbur Roberts; Starveling, the Tailor, Burt Lagson; Theseus, the Duke, Albert Roake; Hippolyta, the Duchess, Oliver Effrill. Fairies—Oberon, the King, Graydon Puck; Titania, the Queen, Ted Miller; Puck, the Mischief-maker, Will Bagby; Peaseblossom, Samuel McLarty; Cobweb, Rodrick Porter; Moth, Gracie Strickland; Mustardseed, Teddy Hendry.

ADVERTISING TALKS NO. 6

(By Ralph Kaye.) Every merchant and manufacturer, retailer and jobber desires to increase his volume of profitable trade. He (1st) wishes to increase his number of Profitable Customers and (2) to make Them Profitable. Here is how I would suggest.— (1st) He should advertise in the mediums he knows will reach the class of purchasers who need and can afford his goods. He must talk to them in a way they will quickly understand, then Appreciate and finally Act upon. (2) In order to make his customers Permanent he must live up to his Published Promises—in other words, Make Good. Let us put it this way: He must lay a Rock Foundation of Public Confidence for the Building of Permanent Success, Rather than Speculating in the Shifting Sands of Broken Promises.

Good Policy.

SPECIAL EDITION TO SET NEW RECORD

One of the most gratifying features of the work so far was the action of the Publicity Committee of the Oregon City Commercial Club Wednesday night when, upon their own initiative and without any application for support having been made by the paper, the Committee unanimously passed a resolution authorizing the Secretary to contract for two pages in the magazine and to purchase 1000 copies for their eastern mailing list. Last year the Publicity Committee purchased a large number of copies of the annual and the results were so satisfactory that they are willing to duplicate the order this year of their own volition and an endorsement of this kind coming from the city's live booster organization presages the highest order of success for the issue.

Oldest Candy in World is Licorice. Most of the black licorice comes from Spain, where it is made from the juice of the plant and mixed with starch to prevent it from melting in hot weather. The licorice plant is a shrub about three feet high and grows wild where its roots can reach the water. It grows largely on the banks of the Tigris and Euphrates rivers. As the valley of the Euphrates contained one of the earliest civilizations in the world, it is probable that licorice is about the oldest confection in the world and that the taste which boys and girls like so well today was enjoyed by the boys and girls of Babylon and Nineveh 3,000 years ago.—New York Mail.
