American Public School Is a Success

By Dr. P. P. CLAXTON, Head of United States Bureau of Education-

HE AMERICAN PUBLIC SCHOOL IS A SUCCESS. MORE HAS BEEN ACCOMPLISHED FOR THE GOOD OF HUMANITY BY THE COMMON SCHOOLS OF THE COUNTRY THAN HAS BEEN ACCOMPLISHED BY ANY OTHER AGENCY IN THE SAME TIME AT ANY PERIOD OF MODERN HISTORY.

It is an interesting fact that those who have harsh criticism for the public schools usually make their attacks from one of two angleseither that the common school of today is TRYING TO TEACH TOO MUCH OR THAT IT IS TEACHING TOO LITTLE. That much which is taught today was not considered necessary in the schools of a generation or two ago is true, but we must remember that social and industrial conditions have grown more complex during this period, and there is much useful work outside of the fundamental three R's which a child must be taught in the school if he is to learn the work at all.

Parents are today DEPENDING MORE AND MORE ON THE SCHOOL to give the child much of the training formerly taught in the home, and to my mind the schools do well in trying to meet these new responsibilities.

FORUM OF THE PEOPLE

WHO IS TO PAY.

OREGON CITY, Dec. 13 .- (Editor of the Enterprise.)-The question of who is to pay the doctors, nurses, and undertakers, the heavy expense caused by typhoid, is being widely discussed. It is the opinion of many people that the city ought to pay these heavy expenses, which drain the av-erage family of their last dollar.

This epidemic is an annual occur ance, the heavy fall rains flush the sewers, and wash the landscape of towns above. If we are to continue to drink filtered sewage, by all means let us build a hospital and otherwise

> OREGON CITY, Dec. 16,-(Editor of the Enterprise.) - The editor is mistaken in his statement in this morn Enterprise that the undersigned nad "missed the point of the story." The writer feels profoundly that raising questions about other .public utilities at the present threatening emergency will only cloud the essential point at issue, the contamination of our water supply which is now menacing the lives of so many of our citizens. this question has nothing whatever to do with our own sewage or plumbing, not even as "contributing causes" as the editor seems to think. Typhoid fever is produced by neither a gas, a vapor, nor smell, but solely by the bacillus so frequently mentioned during this discussion, found in water contaminated by sewage from places above the point from which it is pumped. Our own sewage, of course, passes into the river below that In this connection it may be of interest to note that said bacillus is about the twenty-five thousandth part of an inch long, and half that wide, and no filter ever constructed wnich allows the smallest "i-on" of water to pass through can arrest its

DR. SCHULTZE DEFENDS LETTER.

The prophylaxis consists in secur ing a good water supply not contaminated by sewage, and the avoidance of uncooked food that has been exposed to such infection-oysters, raw vegetables, fruit, etc.

The Willamette River is nothing but a huge open sewer, contaminated by the flushing of hundreds of toilet rooms in a dozen towns above. Until Oregon City ceases to draw its water supply from such a source, it will be exposed to such epidemics, of greater virulent mayhap. Let every energy be bent now to obtain such a boon After that there will be abundant opportunity to attend to our plumbing and disposal of sewage. The first desideratum at this juncture is a pure water supply. As the editor remarks "typhoid can break out in a palace as well as in a hovel," in fact it is more apt to do so as the hovel frequently has its own well, while the palace, in spite of its elaborate plumbing, is at the mercy of a seemingly bright to cure catarrh or a cold in the head sparkling supply of water from some is using a remedy that will "touch contaminated source. Back in the the spot" and do its work quickly

Cruiser Tennessee Just Before Start For Constantinople

Photos copyright, 1912, by American Press Association

HESE scenes show the hustle and bustle at the Philadelphia navy yard just before the armored cruiser Tennessee sailed for Constantinople to protect American interests. At the top the sailors are loading the cruiser with extra provisions, 5,000 barrels of flour and 15,000 bushels of potatoes being stowed away for the use of possible refugees. At the bottom the ship is just about to sail, carrying 700 sailors and a company of marines.

King Edward Seventh, nearly lost his life on that account. "The cleanest of housekeepers" whose nose would instantly detect any defect in the sewer pipes, "may easily overlook," and in fact does overlook, the "hidden source of danger" in the clear filtered water supplied by the Oregon City Water Works. Our wonderful filtering plant "does not scare the dread microbe" a little bit. He passes through it merrily and hies his way to "the big house on the hill ' or the little huts in the valley.

"Mill Worker's" question is easily answered. Damags suits are continually brought against municipalities for injuries received from defective sidewalks and many other causes. It does not need a Philadelphia lawyer to decide that in such a case as outlined by "Mill Worker" the municipality distributing contaminated water would undoubtedly be liable for loss of time, wages, doctor's bills, and even death. In 1895 the writer spent several weeks in Duluth, Minnesota, summoned there by the dangerous illness of citizens. Let it be repeated again a son, from typhoid fever. He found and again most emphatically that a virulent type of that disease prevailing, the deaths averaging ten daily in a community numbering at that time about fifty thousand. As usual the infection was traced to the water supply furnished by a private com-pany from a presumably immaculate source, Lake Superior. A committee of the citizens visited the company's premises and demanded a thorough examination of the works which was refused. Taking the law into their own hands, they forced their way in and found the intake pipe in the lake within sixty feet of a sewer outlet. and the well from which the water pumped, full of dead fish and other filth. Such was the indignation aroused that the directors of the company fled the city to escape lynching and the suits for damages that follow ed ruined the company. Of these facts t the municipality of Oregon City "tage due notice and govern itself accordingly. Look to the mountains in
