RESCUED SAILORS SAY 33 PERISHED

MEN ARE TAKEN FROM LIGHTSHIP BY TUG DESPITE HEAVY BREAKERS

SURVIVORS TELL THRILLING STORY

Victims of Great Ocean Disaster Re-late How They Encouraged Each Others While Clinging to Mast

ASTORIA, Or., Jan. 9.—With the arrival on shore today of Eerie Lind mark, carpenter, and Joe Slenning, quartermaster, nearly 60 hours after the Rosecrans struck on Peacock Spit, it was learned that 33 perished in the disaster, now reckoned as one of the worst in local marine history.

There were 36 men on board the ill-fated Rosecrans. Only three remain to tell of the terrible experience. The body of Joe Cagna, who died after being rescued, was lost at sea. Just what big part the strong heart of a seaman plays in disasters of the sea; just how men will battle, not to save themselves, but first to save others, and the bitterness of the struggle that follows when a trusted craft goes to pieces in a furious gale, and aid seems a forlorn hope, were but bits of paths brought out in the stories by the two rescued men who told with trembling voices and shattered nerves of the Rosecrans' fate and the long fight against death that followed.

When the men told how they kept up life by encouraging each other, as they clung to their perilous perch in the fury of the gale and the frenzy of the breakers, they brought tears to the bystanders.

With the jump from the rigging to the water as the last hope of being rescued by the lifeboats, hope which had long been gone returned but only temporarily as in another half hour, the rescued men found themselves fighting the storm anew in the disabled boat of their rescuers. It was only when they were taken aboard the lightsip long after dark on Tuesday night that hope which springs eternal resuscitated the confidence of the men.

To the abiding glory of the life saving crews of Point Adams and Cape Disappointment will be the stories of the rescue as chronicled by the rescued men today.

Although the bar was breaking clear across, the Port of Portland tug Onoeta faced the breakers at an early hour this morning and running alongside the lightsip about 8 o'clock took the Point Adams life saving crew and the two survivors, who had been marooned on the light vessel since 6:45 Tuesday evening, aboard.

BAPTIST ROLL CALL BRINGS GREAT RESPONSE

The annual roll call of the First Baptist Church Thursday night was a great success. Rev. W. T. Milliken presiding. Following the opening with songs and prayer, a delicious basket lunch was served by the women of the church. Mrs. Nash, clerk of the church, called out the 640 names which appear on the book and a great response came from the large audience which filled the assembly room.

Among those who spoke were Rev. S. P. Davis, Rev. Erasmus Smith, Mrs. L. M. Olmstead, Mrs. Parker, Mrs. Oglesby, Mrs. D. C. Latourette, and Messrs. H. E. Cross and D. C. Latourette. One of the most interesting features of the evening was a short talk by Senior Deacon Burgess, who is more than ninetythree years of age and has a christian experience extending over 75 years. Everyone spoke on Advanced Christian Work.

PENSION BILL HIT BY WOMAN'S CLUB

PRINCIPLE IS FAVORED BUT MEASURE IS DECLARED TO BE UNFAIR

TIYPHOID PATIENTS ARE GIVEN AID

Plan Urged to Take University and Other Public Institutions Out of Politics

The Women's Club at a meeting in the Commercial Club parlors Thursday afternoon declined to indorse the Widows' Pension Bill. It was announced that the main object of the measure was approved, but there is too much discrimination in the draft that will be submitted to the Legislature. The bill provides for aiding children whose fathers are dead, but makes no provision for aiding those whose fathers have deserted them. Members of the club declared that this was not right.

Indorsement of a measure placing the state university and other institutions on a basis which would keep them out of politics was given. The meeting was called to order by Mrs. David Caulfield, president. Applications for membership by Mrs. John Bradley, Mrs. H. F. Pfingsten and Mrs. C. A. Nash were referred to a committee to report at next meeting.

At the last meeting in 1912 Mrs. Duncan Shanks suggested that the club make an effort to supply a nurse to aid the poor suffering from typhoid fever. The plan was to have the nurse go from house to house where there were typhoid patients and give suggestions as to how to care for them. The motion was adopted and the Willamette Pulp & Paper Company donated $25 and the Oregon City Lodge of Elks $25 to help pay the nurse. It was found, however, that there was need of the employment of the nurse for only one week and the money not expended was returned to the donors. Several persons also contributed to the fund.

Mrs. J. W. Norris reported that Dr. C. H. Meissner was the physician in attendance upon a girl who was in a serious condition from typhoid fever at the Oregon City Hospital. She announced that the Lodge of Elks was paying her hospital expenses and the Willamette Pulp & Paper Company the salary of a trained nurse.

The club endorsed the plan of the University of Oregon to publish a compendium of the laws of Oregon relating to women and children. Mrs. Caulfield, chairman of the Red Cross Seal Committee, announced that the total receipts this year were $76.55. A vote of thanks was extended to the press, persons who purchased seals, the merchants and young women who assisted in selling seals.

Mrs. Anna Downey, of Willamette, who had charge of the literary program, read an excellent paper on "Women in Politics."

The next meeting of the club will be held January 23, which is known as "Red Letter Day" to the federation of clubs.

SHAW'S SALARY AS CHIEF IS HELD UP

Circuit Judge Eakin Thursday granted a temporary restraining order against M. D. Latourette, city treasurer, cashing the checks of E. L. Shaw, for salary as chief of police during the administration of Mayor Dimick. At a hearing several days ago the court declined to grant the order, but since then B. N. Hicks, representing Mayor Dimick, has included in his complaint as defendant, Oregon City. The case will be heard upon its merits in a few days. Shaw as custodian of the city jail will demand that the warrants be paid. That office was created by the city council and he appointed to it, when it became a question of doubt as to whether he could collect his salary as chief.

Mr. Stokes formerly conducted a store in Canemah, but several months ago sold his interests there and invested in Oak Grove. He is a son of William Stokes. The young couple are spending their honeymoon in Portland. Mr. Stokes is a member of the Commercial Club.

MOLALLA ENJOYS BUILDING BOOM

RESIDENTS OF VALLEY ENTHUSIASTIC OVER PROSPECTS OF HAVING RAILROADS

ANNUAL GIVEN LIBERAL PATRONAGE

Business Men Realize that Special Edition of Enterprise will be Best Advertising Medium

W. H. Dixon, of the Enterprise staff, made a trip to Molalla, Liberal and Molalla Thursday in behalf of the big Progress and Anniversary Edition of this paper which is now in process of publication. He found the business people of these districts very much enthused over the prospects of securing railroad facilities at an early date. After waiting so long for this great boon it seems that the Molalla Valley is going to secure not one but two railroads and the feeling is strong that the country is due for a splendid growth, as well as the towns along the line. Molalla already has quite a building boom, there having been more than fifteen new buildings constructed the past year. Appreciating the fact that along with transportation facilities the towns and country need to attract newcomers to take advantage of the opportunities which changing conditions open up and to assist in the development of the latent resources of the country the public spirited business people and boosters of the Molalla Valley were quick to see the benefits of having their section fittingly represented in the big Enterprise Annual. The prompt and liberal response they made is most gratifying and the country in general as well as the individual firms will secure some very valuable publicity through the Annual. Several life ones were out of town but their names will probably appear on this list soon. The list of participants in the Annual grows apace. Whatever else you may do, WATCH THIS LIST GROW:

ROAD LEGISLATION FAVORED BY ALL

LEGISLATORS DIFFER, BUT THERE ARE EVIDENCES THEY WILL GET TOGETHER

CAUTION IS ADVISED BY DIMICK

Representative Gill Probably will Introduce More Bills at Coming Session than any Other Member

"That" road legislation will be the most important subject to be considered at the coming session of the legislature is assured, and the views of the representatives in that body, from this country are consequently pertinent. W. A. Dimick, State Senator, has expressed himself as follows: "The Legislature must be very careful as to the kind of legislation it passes along this line, especially in the establishment of a board or commission to supervise the construction of roads." "All legislation of this kind should be brought nearer to the people for the Legislature wants the people to cooperate with it. The road machinery and automobile clubs cannot expect to jam through the Legislature a road programme similar to the one put up at the last session, regardless of the interests of the other men back of this legislation must recognize the other factions. The Grange and the farming community must be recognized more than these men have been willing to consider them up to date."

"I believe that by the different interests getting together at each side of the question, the rights of the other little more than has been done in the past, we may get some road legislation. But if either side attempts to ignore the other it will be the same old program that it was at the last session, and also the same outcome that the initiative road bills met."

"So far as the good roads question is concerned," says C. Schuebel, "I supported and favored the Grange bill, but as I understand it, a bill is to be introduced at the coming session providing that each road district shall have charge of its own road funds, to be organized along the same lines as school districts, and be authorized to issue bonds for road improvement. Such a bill would meet with my hearty approval."

Perhaps the most lengthy program of legislation that any member of the coming Legislature proposes to introduce if that of F. M. Gill, of this county. Here are some of the bills that Mr. Gill will launch or assist on their journey toward the statute book.

A bill to provide that registration shall be permanent while a voter remains in the same precinct, which is calculated to do away with much of the swearing-in of voters at the polls; Sinnott's grain sack bill, which Mr. Gill will introduce; a bill to standardize the weight of a sack of potatoes; a bill to prohibit hunting game birds with dogs; a bill to require hunters to have permits from owners of premises on which they hunt; a bill to provide that a person may fish or hunt in the precinct where he resides without a license; a bill to provide for second-choice voting in primary elections; a bill to provide that the common name of initiative and referendum bills be placed on the ballot together with the name of the author of the measure; a bill to provide for proportional representation; a bill to provide that all political parties casting more than 5 per cent of the vote shall participate in the primary; a bill to provide that sample ballots shall be mailed to voters 10 days before election; a bill to provide for the purity of clover seed, and of seed grain; a bill to raise the marriageable age of females with parental consent from 15 to 18 years; a bill providing that road districts shall have a government similar to a school district, with corporate powers, a board of directors, clerk and road foreman, and full charge of all taxes raised in the district by district or county levies for road purposes; be the Grange gross earnings tax bill.

"I may not introduce all these bills" said Representative Gill "but I shall endeavor to secure their enactment. The Clackamas County program road program agreed to at Oregon City by E. E. Brodie, B. T. Mc Bain, Mortimer Latourette, C. E. Spence, W. A. Dimick and himself. According to this program a state tax of one-tenth to one-twentieth of a mill is to be distributed to those road districts that vote special taxes in proportion that vote taxes so voted bene to the whole of the state tax. Thus a district voting $500 of special tax in a year when the total of such taxes is $700,000, would receive one one-hundred and fortieth of the amount raised by the state at one-tenth of a mill, $90,000, or $636.71.

The Clackamas County program also demands a license of 50 cents a horsepower on automobiles to be used on trunk line roads; a bill to make operative the convict labor bills adopted November 5; the road district bill, making road districts municipal corporations, with corporate powers.

Jail is Crowded with Hoboes. The Oregon City police force was kept busy Wednesday evening, when 11 hoboes were placed in the city jail for the night. All were released the next morning and ordered to leave the city. Peter Hansen was arrested and jailed on a charge of being intoxicated.

If you saw it in the Enterprise it's so.

TRUNK ROADS ARE ASKED BY AUTOISTS

CLUB INSISTS THAT LICENSE MONEY BE EXPENDED UPON MAIN LINES

SPENCE AND SCHUEBEL HAVE TILT

Master of State Grange Declares Organization has not been Met Half Way by Autoists

The Clackamas County Automobile Club at a well attended meeting Thursday adopted a resolution introduced by Harvey G. Starkweather, of Oak Grove, urging the Legislature to amend the automobile law to provide that the money raised from the license of motor vehicles, amounting to about $65,000 per annum, be expended upon trunk roads under the direction of the State Engineer, and that the expenses of administration be paid out of the general fund. The president of the club and the board of directors were appointed as a special committee to further the purposes of the resolution.

This action was taken after a session that lasted from noon until nearly dark, and a discussion that was participated in by nearly every member of the organization, as well as C. E. Spence, Master of the State Grange, who engaged in a verbal tiff with Representative C. Schuebel, who declared that the officers of the Grange were partially responsible for the prejudice that exists in grange circles against the improvement of trunk roads. Mr. Spence warmly defended himself and his associates and said they had never been met half way by representatives of automobile and road machine interests in the preparation of legislative measures.

Dr. H. S. Mount, President of the Club, H. G. Starkweather, Charles W. Ritsley, H. E. Cross, Captain J. T. Apperson, E. E. Brodie, W. H. Bair, J. T. Rooks, A. S. Dresser, of Portland, M. D. Latourette and others participated in a general discussion, having for its object the betterment of highway conditions and a programme that would have, as far as possible, the united support of the members of the local automobile club. Early in the session the club adopted a resolution recommending an annual license of 50 cents per horse power and an equal license on all vehicles, other than motor driven, the money to be expended under the direction of the State Engineer. When it was pointed out by Mr. Spence that in Clackamas County the owners of wagons and carriages on the farms would probably pay a greater amount of license fees than automobile owners and that the farmers would object to the limiting of the expenditure of the fund on trunk roads, as provided in the resolution, the vote was reconsidered, and the matter dropped.

H. E. Cross condemned the present system of road construction, declaring it is wasteful. He said since the present cash road system was placed in operation $700,000 have been spent on Clackamas County roads and much of the money wasted.

The automobile club served an appetizing luncheon at noon.

MRS. LYNND PINES TO RETURN TO OREGON DEL ROSA, Cal., Jan. 6.—(Editor of the Enterprise)—Will you allow space in your paper for a few remarks from an Oregon City woman, who came to California "The land of sunshine and flowers" to escape the Oregon winter?

They have the sunshine all right, but most of the time we can not see the sun for the dust and if I want flowers I will have to go back to Oregon. I have not seen as many flowers or as much green grass in the whole of California as I can see in one block in Oregon City.

I have found a section of "windy Kansas" planted here in the San Bernardino Valley sixty miles east of Los Angeles, and it is doing honor to that famous state. The wind is blowing a hurricane and has been for several days. It is now past noon and the water pipes are frozen solid. I am in one of the most comfortable houses in the valley and have my bath robe on over my dress and am sitting by a hot stove, and yet I am not comfortable. Give me Oregon and the "Oregon mist." This is a very healthy country, people never die here. They live to be very old and then they are supposed to die up and blow away. I am in the home of a Methodist minister. He has been in this field three years and four months and says he has never had a funeral and no one else has had one in his territory, (no other denomination.)

There is an immense crop of oranges and the people are asking for seasons of special prayer for the saving of the oranges from frost. I am certainly disappointed in California. It may be warm here in the summer but—well—Take me back to Oregon.

MRS. N. C. LYND.

Runaway Causes Stir on Main Street. Main Street Thursday morning was the scene of what threatened to be a serious runaway, when the team of T. K. Davis of Redlands, became frightened at a street car while standing in front of Seeley's store at Eighth and Main Streets. The team ran north to Busch's store, when several men tried to stop it, but the team became confused and slipped on the newly laid pavement. Quickly regaining their feet the horses started south on Main Street and ran to a place near the court house, where the buggy struck a team and wood wagon belonging to J. Hollensworth. All four horses were knocked down. One of Hollensworth's horses was slightly injured.

PHYSICIANS OF CITY ORGANIZE

H. E. CROSS, MAIN TRUNK OF LIVE WIRES, BRINGS MEDICAL MEN TOGETHER

SCHULTZE IS ELECTED PRESIDENT

Committee Appointed to Meet With Council and Other Organizations to Discuss Pure Water

Through the efforts of H. E. Cross, main trunk of the Live Wires, the physicians of Oregon City Thursday evening at a meeting in Mr. Cross' office organized the Clackamas County Medical Society. Those in attendance were unanimous in their belief that a society should be organized, and there was unanimity of sentiment that the physicians should cooperate in an effort to obtain the best possible health conditions in the city. It was admitted that the typhoid epidemic primarily was the cause of the organization.

Those present were Drs. M. C. Strickland, H. S. Mount, Guy Mount, J. W. Norris, W. E. Hemsted, W. C. Schultze and C. H. Meissner. The only absentee of the city physicians was Dr. C. A. Stuart, who is understood to be in hearty sympathy with the plan of organization.

Dr. Schultze was elected to preside at the meeting and Dr. Meissner was elected secretary. Drs. H. S. Mount, Strickland and Meissner were appointed a committee to cooperate with other committees in obtaining a pure water supply for the city. The president was authorized to call a meeting at any time he thought necessary. Dr. Strickland suggested that a permanent organization be affected at once and that it be called the Clackamas County Medical Society. The chairman was instructed to call a meeting Saturday February 1, which all physicians of the county are invited to attend and become members of the society. The meeting will be held at the Commercial Club rooms.

Secretary Meissner was instructed to inform Mayor Jones of the action taken and of the willingness of the society to cooperate with the various other committees, city council and the city health officer, regarding the water supply.

Drs. Guy Mount and Hemsted were appointed a committee to draft by-laws and a constitution for adoption at the meeting February 1.

Mayor Jones invited the committee, consisting of Drs. H. S. Mount, Strickland and Meissner, to attend the meeting of the city council tonight when the water question will be given consideration. The invitation was accepted.
