PRESIDENTS Better than pension-

and presidents ing ex-presidents at $25,000 a year in order to make them available for further public service, would be to make them, by virtue of having been presidents, life members of the senate but at no greater salary than that of other senators. The annual salary of $7500 and mileage will maintain a decent establishment and it should be borne in mind that a prudent man who has received $300,000 from the government is likely to be in possession of capital he can safely invest as the basis of additional income.

This would obviate a necessity of discontinuing a pension at the death of an ex-president. Such a necessity should be clearly recognized. Pensioning a man almost involves and includes pensioning his widow. A republic can afford to take no step which can be claimed as precedent for pensioning the widows and families of civil officers in annual sums sufficient to maintain opulence or splendor. The maximum pension we allow soldiers for total disability owing to wounds, exposures in the line of duty or any other cause is so insignificant when set beside the figure Mr. Carnegie names as the minimum for an ex-president and for his family after his death that we rather wonder he is not ashamed to draw attention to the glaring contrast.

As ex-officio senators, our ex-presidents could use whatever superior knowledge of public affairs they may have gained in the White House to better purpose than it could be used in any other way. We mention this matter of superior White House equipment only because Mr. Carnegie lays stress on it and not because of any merit it possesses in our own opinion. At any rate, we should sedulously avoid everything bearing even a remote resemblance to the establishing of privileged families or house in this country.

Our Real Race Suicide Problem

By E. E. RITTENHOUSE, Expert on the Conservation of Human Life

WE are not only reducing the fertility of our race and also shortening the span of life, but we are permitting at least 650,000 American lives to be destroyed annually which we could SAVE by the application of simple and well known sanitary and other PRECAUTIONS. This is OUR REAL RACE SUICIDE PROBLEM.

We have made progress in preventing life waste, but it has been confined almost wholly to contagious or infectious diseases. At the same time the death rate from the degenerative diseases of middle life and old age, against which we have waged no war, has steadily increased.

The ECONOMIC LOSS IS STUPENDOUS, but it is INSIGNIFICANT compared to the misery, suffering, poverty, immorality and crime which result from the needless sickness and premature death from which the nation is now suffering.

In the last analysis the war against preventable disease is a STRUGGLE BETWEEN THE DOLLAR AND THE DEATH RATE.

WOMAN'S CLUB. It is doubtful if DOES FINE WORK of this city realize the amount of charitable and philanthropic work that is done by the Woman's Club. This organization of noble women is constantly aiding the poor, helping the deserving girls, and raising funds for other work that better civic conditions. But its many worthy deeds are not advertised and few persons know just what the club is accomplishing in those things that go to make a better community and improve the city. It proceeds to a large extent upon the theory of not letting the right hand know what the left one is doing. And yet the work accomplished is great and we wonder how Oregon City ever got along without this live, intelligent and progressive organization. Perhaps nothing done by the club deserves more commendation than its efforts in assisting the poor of the city, stricken during the present typhoid epidemic. No sooner was it announced that there were a large number of patients that the club raised sufficient money with which to employ a nurse to go from house to house and offer assistance in caring for the invalids. It also was instrumental in having a girl whose parents are poor, sent to a hospital and given the best attention. It is announced that she will soon be able to return home. Work of this kind cannot be too highly commended, and the members of the club may be sure that their efforts are appreciated by the residents of the city.

Good morning! Now just what do you think about the new Easter bonnet the Enterprise is wearing today?

DR. FORD TO PREACH ON IMPORTANT SUBJECTS

Dr. T. B. Ford, pastor of the Methodist Church, will preach this morning on "The Existence of God," and he invites men who have questions concerning the fundamental contention of christian people to be present. "Is matter, or motion, or mind, or life eternal or created? What is the answer of nature, science, philosophy, the Bible?" will be answered. Dr. Ford will speak this evening on a subject of special interest to old soldiers and young men, "What a Boy Saw During the War of the Rebellion." As a boy Dr. Ford had some thrilling experiences on the border between the two great armies, and he will relate some of these this evening. This will be the second in the series on "If I Had My Life to Live Over Again." There will be special music by the choir, the men's chorus and the male quartet under the direction of Mr. Alldredge.

EDITORS FINISH 10-DAY SENTENCE

BOISE, Idaho, Jan. 11.—R. S. Sheridan and C. O. Broxon, publisher and editor of the Capital News, and A. R. Cruzen were given an ovation today when they walked from jail, after having served 10-day sentences for contempt of court. When the two former reached the office of their newspaper in which was published the message from Colonel Roosevelt that was held in contempt by the Idaho supreme court, they found floral offerings sent from prominent persons from all over the country.

STEAMBOAT RUTH HITS BAR; BEACHED

dale, realizing the craft was badly damaged, steared for Gladstone and beached the steamer.

The paper was from the mills of the Willamette Pulp & Paper Company and the Crown-Columbia Paper Company. B. T. McBain, mill manager of the Willamette Pulp & Paper Company, said that the paper which had been damaged could be made over, but the salvage would be small. The boat will be saved although the cost of raising and repairs probably will amount to several thousand dollars. Both steamer and cargo were fully insured.

Upon striking the bar the steamer whistled for aid and the Steamer Annie Cummings, which was coming to this city from Portland, soon stood by. The Steamer N. R. Lang also enroute from Portland answered the call for help in less than half an hour. There was nothing, however, the other boats could do, for the Ruth had been beached upon their arrival and the crew was never in danger.

Announcement was made that the work of unloading the disabled vessel would be begun today and she would be repaired as soon as possible. The Ruth left the locks here at 7 o'clock Saturday morning bound for Portland. She was built in 1895 in Portland.

Aviator Lands on Housetop After Flight Over London

IT is said of J. B. Manio, an Italian aviator, who landed accidentally in the night on top of a handsome residence at Palmer's Green, near London, that rescuers found him nonchalantly smoking a cigarette when they raised ladders to take him from his perilous position. He met with the accident after flying across the English channel from Boulogne. He flew over London safely, but darkness overtook him, and down he came, crashing upon the slate roof of the private house. The occupants thought an earthquake had struck the village. Their fear turned to wonder when they saw their visitor was an air man.

(1) Verses 26-27—What do you understand by the statement that God created man in his own image? (2) What would you say is the proof that man is like God? (3) Chap. II:4-6—How long did it probably take God to make the earth and the heavens? (4) Wherein did God show great wisdom in making vegetation upon the earth before man was created? (5) Verse 7—What is the positive proof that the body of man is made of ground? (6) When the breath of God is the seed or the germ of man's inner life, what would we naturally infer would be the nature of that life? (7) In how many respects does man essentially differ from other animals? (8) What is your conception, from this story interpreted by science, of the method God took to make man? (9) According to the analogy of nature, which way does God make living things—the seed first, or the full life; once does it make to us whether God the egg first, or the chicken? (10) What if any, practical difference made man all at once, as a finished product or whether he took a million years to make him? (11) Verses 8-15—From what original source do we obtain our wealth? (12) What was the first industry of man, and what is the most important industry today, and why is it so? (13) According to verse nine, what two main objects did God have in making trees? (14) In what way have rivers always been a blessing to man? (15) What would have been the inconvenience to man if God had not put mineral in the earth? (16) Verses 16-17—Why was it necessary to put man, in his innocence, under law? (17) What would you say was "The tree of knowledge of good and evil," of which Adam was forbidden to eat? (18) Verses 18-20—Why is it not good for a man to remain unmarried? (19) Why did God consult Adam concerning the names to be given to the living creatures which God had created? (20) Verses 21-25—Why should a man prefer his wife even to his father and mother? (21) In how many respects if any besides sex does a woman differ from a
