RESULTS EXPECTED

Reports from Salem are that the twenty-seventh biennial session of the legislature convened Monday may not be as peaceful as has been predicted. This is unfortunate and the Enterprise hopes it is without foundation. Of course there must necessarily be differences of opinion on important questions, but the people of Oregon are on record on most of them and the legislators understand the temper of the electorate sufficiently, it is believed, to give the people what they want. The Enterprise believes that every member of both houses has the interest of the state at heart, and though there may be differences regarding the various measures there is no reason why the men chosen by the people to enact laws for them should not act with wisdom and celerity, each making concessions, if necessary, which in the long run may be of benefit to the people and state.

It is hardly probable that all bills which will be introduced at this session will be given full consideration in such a short time, and no doubt many of them must be deferred until another time. However, the most important will be given consideration, and there is every reason to believe that measures long needed will be enacted. One encouraging fact is that the members who have measures to introduce have been working on

American Women Consider Children a Great "Responsibility" to Be Shunned

By Dr. LORENTE, Physician to the Royal Family of Spain

RACE suicide in America is largely influenced by an apparent lack of religious feeling. In Spain the average family numbers seven and eight children.

THE WOMEN OF SPAIN REGARD CHILDREN AS A JOY AND MOTHERHOOD AS A HAPPY GOD GIVEN DUTY. THE AMERICAN WOMEN APPEAR TO DISPASSIONATELY REGARD CHILDREN AS GREAT RESPONSIBILITIES TO BE SHUNNED.

The American woman puts off "these responsibilities" until it is too late; then she leads a lonely and MISERABLE OLD AGE. I think this very fact makes for a great deal of social unrest and family misery here.

The same noticeable lack of religious feeling is also noticeable among a large class of women of Paris. They have SCORNED MOTHERHOOD. They are crying for greater social liberty. They want to be free and independent to follow their individual desires, much like the rich and leisure class here. They have numerous ACTIVITIES OUTSIDE THE HOME which engage their time and interest, and they SHUN THE RESPONSIBILITY which they feel that childhood brings.

Photos by American Press Association.

Meredith made world's record in 400 meter event at Olympic games. Horine established new world's mark in running high jump. Brickley of Harvard was the greatest football player developed in 1912. Thorpe proved to be greatest all around athlete that ever lived. Hoppe's billiard playing stood out above all others.

Spectacles.

All European references to the use of spectacles before the year 1270 are dubious. Pliny's description of Nero looking at the gladiatorial combats in an emerald means at best only a lorgnette, or most probably a reflecting mirror. Roger Bacon seems to have known of magnifying lenses (1276), which soon became common enough, but the probable inventor of spectacles as such was a Florentine worthy on whose tombstone in the Church of Santa Croce is the inscription: "Here lies Salvino d'Armatto degli Armati of Florence, the inventor of spectacles. May God forgive his sins. Anno Domini 1317."

A small classified ad will rent that vacant room.

Prince of Wales, Heir to the English Throne, Quite a Golfer

THE Prince of Wales, heir to the throne of England, has gone in for golfing. He has become fairly proficient in it. This picture of him was taken recently as he was making a drive. After he has concluded his studies at Oxford the heir apparent will spend some time in sport of this kind and in travel. It is likely that he will come to America in 1913 for a tour of the country.

MADE HIS OWN SCHOOL.
 Not every boy is like this one. Frank Andrea of Springfield, N. J., aged fifteen, made a school for himself.

Many boys of fifteen regard school as a sort of necessary evil to be borne because they cannot dispense with it. Not so young Andrea.

His father lost his job, and his mother became ill. There were several other children, all of whom were too young to work.

Frank was compelled to quit school and help support the family. He found a job in a factory at Newark, walking two miles to work every morning and back again at night.

But—The idea of leaving school troubled him.

He went to the board of education of his town and asked the clerk what chance there might be to attend a night school.

There was no night school.

"Unless there are a sufficient number of applications to show a sentiment in favor of it," said the clerk, "no night school will be started."

"How many applications are necessary?" asked the boy.

He was informed that twelve or fifteen would be enough, whereat Frank began to try to get that many. In order to do so he had to convince some of the working boys of their need of further schooling.

And—Strangely enough, he found his propaganda an uphill task. He would say to the boys, "Do you want to be a factory hand all your life?" And some of them said they had no further ambition.

Frank finally got fifteen of his friends to join him.

"It is likely," says the report, "that a night school will be established in Springfield."

Surely—But, whether or no, it is quite certain Frank Andrea will not be a factory hand all his life.

The republic spells opportunity. As Garfield beautifully said, "Our society is not like the society of Europe, where, like the strata of the earth, one layer holds the other firmly down; but, rather, it is like the waves of the great sea, where the lowest drop may rise and glisten on the topmost wave."

BEAUTIFUL HAIR AT SMALL COST

A SIMPLE REMEDY BEAUTIFIES THE HAIR. CURES DANDRUFF, STOPS FALLING HAIR.

What a pity it is to see so many people with thin, wispy hair, faded or streaked with gray, and realize that most of these people might have soft, glossy, abundant hair of beautiful color and lustre if they would but use the proper treatment. There is no necessity for gray hair under sixty-five years of age, and there is no excuse for anyone, young or old, having thin, straggling hair, either full of dandruff or heavy and rank smelling with excessive oil.

You can bring the natural color of your hair in a few days and forever rid yourself of any dandruff and loose hairs, and make your hair grow strong and beautiful by using Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy. For generations common garden Sage has been used for restoring and preserving the color of the hair; and Sulphur is recognized by Scalp Specialists as being excellent for treatment of hair and scalp troubles.

If you are troubled with dandruff or itching scalp, or if your hair is losing its color or coming out, get a fifty-cent bottle of Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur from your druggist, and notice the improvement of your hair in a few days' treatment.
