CLOVER

We have often called attention to the fact that every farmer should whenever sowing grass of any kind include some one of the varieties of clover. If you expect to use your land for meadow purposes then one of the larger varieties, viz., the Mammoth Red or Common Red clover would probably serve your purpose best. If you expect to use the land both for pasture and for hay, the Alsike clover will serve your purpose best. While on the other hand, if you expect to pasture the land, then we would recommend a combination of Alsike and White clover.

There are several ways in which one can obtain a stand of clover. The first under consideration is to combine clover and timothy with winter wheat, sowing them at the same time along the last part of September. Clover should not be sown at this time, however, provided you are particularly anxious to obtain a stand. Clover sown in the fall will winter-kill very badly under normal conditions and for this reason it is not advisable to sow clover during the fall of the year. With timothy it may be sown with the wheat at the same time, either scattering the seed in front of the drill or by sowing the seed first and drilling the wheat later, then covering it by the use of the peg tooth harrow. The clover may be sown just before it freezes up in the winter, but we do not recommend this practice, because of the uncertainty of the weather, but prefer wait-

The plan is to sow the clover and timothy combined at this time by using a peg tooth harrow, which not only covers the seed but cultivates the wheat at the same time. The timothy will not show up with the first season, but you ought to get a good crop of clover and the timothy will come on later.

Either of the latter two methods ought to give you fairly good returns. If you expect to leave this field seeded down for any length of time it would be a good plan to add two or three pounds of Bluegrass seed when sowing the timothy.

discharging it into that Chicago river and thence into the lake. This was in the late eighties and early nineties. Then was undertaken one of the most gigantic and costly engineering feats, next to the Panama Canal, ever undertaken in the history of the world. The divide between Lake Michigan and the valley of the Illinois River was cut through for a distance between thirty and forty miles, nearly all the way through solid rock. The Culbriá cut of the Panama Canal is only nine miles, this huge aqueduct thus created between the Chicago river and the Illinois called "The Drainage Canal" caused the Chicago river to run backward, carrying all the sewerage of Chicago away from the Lake into the Illinois and thence finally into the Mississippi "Intercepting" sources were built in all directions to carry all the sewerage away from the Lake and into a river thus compelled to flow the wrong way. Lake Michigan itself does the flushing and were it not for restraining gates at both ends to regulate the flow would undoubtedly rush tumultuously through and lower the level of all the Great Lakes. As it is an immense quantity of water passes from Lake Michigan to the Illinois river. Chicago sewerage is readily detected at St. Louis hundreds of miles below. That city brought suit for damages which dragged its slow course through the courts for many years. What was the result deposit saith not—

The intakes at the cribs now furnish uncontaminated water to Chicago and typhoid is reduced to a minimum. The writer has sailed out to the cribs in Lake Michigan and along "The Drainage Canal" to Joliet over thirty miles in steamboats and can testify to the work marvelous undertaken by Chicago to obtain pure water. Let Oregon City profit by the example—in the meantime "Boil the water"—"Boil the water."

DEFENDS COUNTRY SCHOOLS.

OREGON CITY, Jan. 23. (Editor of the Enterprise)—A great deal of attention is being drawn toward our public educational system of late, and our leading educators are trying to so arrange it, that our public school system will give every boy and girl a practical education. That is, whether a girl or boy has completed her or his education, they will be ready to enter upon life's work, be it a seamstress, cook, artist, blacksmith, carpenter, or farmer. Now this in our opinion, is the only right system to encourage, but if I understand the plan that these leaders are gradually developing by legislation and otherwise, it certainly will fail to produce the desired result. The plan is, it seems to me, to have two distinctive systems—one for the city, the other for the country. The system for the city aims fundamentally to transform

HOW ONE WOMAN WON Her Health and Strength Back Again by the Use of Cardui.

Tampa, Fla.—In a letter from this city, Mrs. E. C. Corum writes: "I was all weakened and worn out with womanly troubles. My husband brought me some Cardui as a tonic, and, from the first day, it seemed to help. I had almost lost my reason, but, thanks to Cardui, I did not. Soon, I felt and looked like a new woman. I think the remedy is wonderful. I recommend it to my friends, for I have received great benefit from it."

Cardui acts specifically on the weakened womanly organs, strengthening the muscles and nerves, and building them up to health.

It helps to refresh the worn-out nervous system and relieves the effects of overwork, both mental and physical. Fifty years' successful use fully prove the merit of this purely vegetable, tonic remedy for women.

In every community, there live some who have been benefited by Cardui. The beneficial effects of this time tested woman's remedy, soon show themselves in many different ways. Try it.
