MONTENEGRO'S Because of his LESSON TO US failure in his war against Turkey, Nicholas of Montenegro finds that his throne is shaking. Montenegro invaded Turkey two or three days before Serbia, Bulgaria or Greece moved. For about a week the Montenegrins appeared to be winning. This was the story sent out from Cetinje, its capital, to the world, and the world applauded. Nicholas and his sons were with their army, and their pictures were published in the big newspapers of two continents. When they reached the Scutari district, however, they halted, and they are halted still. That region, which is on the Adriatic, was the objective of their campaign. They needed it as an outlet on that sea, but they have failed to get it, and Nicholas has fallen into discredit.

Nicholas' failure is not the fault of his soldiers but of his system. The men of the Black Mountains are among the fiercest fighters in Europe. The smallest of the Balkan states, the trained army of the country is smaller in proportion to population than is that of any of its neighbors. The men who are instructed in modern methods of fighting are comparatively few.

In its military scheme the United States proceeds on the Montegrin theory. While the law permits the enticed strength of the army to reach 100,000 men, which is an absurdly small number for a nation of 110,000,000 people, including its dependencies its actual enlisted force is less than 77,000. These soldiers are as well trained as any in the world, but they are too few to be effective in a conflict with any great power, such as may come at any time without warning. According to the testimony of regular army officers, nearly all of the country's 120,000 militia would be a poor reliance for a second line of defense except after six or eight months additional training, and in a war today this much time would not be permitted. Our standing army is smaller than that of Roumania, which has much less than a fifteenth of our population, and this little force is scattered over a large part of the globe.

OREGON CITY IS There is every FINE HOME TOWN reason to believe that more persons who have business in Portland will come to this city this year to live than ever before in one year. There is no reason why thousands of persons who have their business interests in Portland should not live in this city and many reasons why they should. The streetcar facilities have been somewhat improved and the fare between the cities probably will be reduced. It is a fact that persons having business in Portland could live in this city and save money. In the east there are hundreds of thousands of commuters, and with the population of Portland constantly growing, there is no argument against Oregon City obtaining a big percentage of the overflow. The fact is, Oregon City will get most of it and it should. The Portland Railway, Light & Power Company can do much to increase the population of this city, and we believe that it should do all in its power to induce persons wishing to get away from a big city to come to this municipality. The question is a big one, and one the Live Wires should consider. Another suggestion for Main Trunk Cross.

If it happened it is in the Enterprise.

Resolution and Notice for the Improvement of 13th Street, Oregon City, Oregon. WHEREAS, pursuant to an order of the City Council of Oregon City, Clackamas County, Oregon, heretofore made, the City Engineer of said city has submitted his report and filed in the office of the City Recorder, plans and specifications for the improvement of Thirteenth Street, said city, from the east side of Monroe Street, to the west side of Jackson Street, and estimate of the work to be done thereon and the costs thereof, and WHEREAS such plans, specifications and estimates are satisfactory to the City Council of said Oregon City, Oregon, therefore, the said plans, specifications and estimates are hereby approved, and BE IT RESOLVED that it is the purpose and intention of the City Council of Oregon City, to make the said improvement, being described as follows, to-wit: The streets shall be brought to a subgrade, 9 inches at the crown and 6 inches at the gutter, below and parallel with the top of the finished pavement. On the road bed Macadam shall be placed to the depth of not less than 10 inches at the center of the street nor less than 7 inches at the curb. All curbing shall be concrete unless otherwise ordered by the Engineer and shall be 6 inches in width at the top and 8 inches in width at the base, and 18 inches in depth. Sidewalks shall be placed on each side of the streets, adjoining the property line and shall be constructed of concrete, unless hereafter otherwise ordered, and shall be 6 feet wide with a raise of 1-2 inch to 1 foot from the curb. Plank walks shall be built in accordance with the general standard, plans and specifications heretofore adopted and approved hereby. Said streets shall be property provided with drains and catch basins, necessary to preserve the grades and to provide for property drainage of the said street. All parking shall be filled with earth to a depth of one foot. The City Recorder is hereby directed to cause this resolution and notice to be published as by charter provided. L. STIPP, Recorder.

Standards Must Be Set Before All Food Is Pure By Dr. CARL L. ALSBERG, Government Chief Chemist I BELIEVE that most manufacturers and handlers of foodstuffs want to do the right thing, but most of them DON'T KNOW EXACTLY WHAT IS THE RIGHT THING. The whole subject of food inspection and the demand for pure foods is new. When the bureau of chemistry was established there were no standards, no guides of any sort. Everything had to be worked out, and it has been slow work. Only a few things definitely have been determined for this analysis of foods. To establish standards is not the work of days. BUT OF YEARS. WHEN WE ARRIVE AT WHAT IS THE STANDARD THEN WE MUST SHOW THE MANUFACTURER HOW TO BRING HIS PRODUCTS UP TO THE STANDARD.
