COURT MAY BE ASKED TO PROBE BREMERTON PAVING CONTRACTORS.

Publication of Charge that Contract or has been Permitted to Use Inferior Brick Creates Sensation

BREMERTON, Wash., January 22, 1913.

Bremerton, Wash., is the seat of a bitter contest over the question of street improvements.

The courts may be asked to investigate the claim that a faction of the city council has permitted the contractor to use inferior material.

Sparking of the conflict, one Bremerton paper comments editorially: "Just how any body of men can imagine that such tactics (imposing inferior material) can be imposed upon a free people is hard to determine."

The real solution would be it seems that the use of some high class paving, such as bituminous, which is giving uniform satisfaction elsewhere, be specified and adhered to.

MONEY NEEDED BY PRISON BRICK YARD

SALEM, Or., Jan. 24.—Finding the state without funds with which to operate the penitentiary brickyard because of the depletion of the revolving fund by Governor West, the House committee on public institutions last night decided on a bill to appropriate $5000 for a fund to operate it and to surround it with enough safeguards so that it will be impossible for any public official in the future to deplete the original fund, and also to insure that all profits made by the brickyard will be paid into the general fund for the benefit of the taxpayers.

The committee met last night with the members of the state board primarily for the purpose of considering Speaker McArthur's bill which consolidates all boards governing state institutions into a board of control. The bill provides that the members of the board shall be the Governor, Secretary of State and State Treasurer, and places the state penitentiary under the control of the board.

The committee also discussed the matter of operating the brickyard, and then it developed that because of the depletion of the revolving fund by the Governor, there are no available funds to operate a brickyard.

The Governor expended thousands of dollars from this fund in erecting buildings making improvements about the penitentiary. As a result it will now be necessary for the state to make an appropriation in order that brick may be manufactured at the penitentiary for the state institutions.

Representative Levelling, chairman of the committee, will introduce the bill.

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 24.—A plea that Confederate veterans be permitted to wear their old uniforms at the 50th anniversary celebration of the battle of Gettysburg next July was made last night by representatives of the Southern States at a session of the conference here with members of the state and congressional commissions having the affair in charge. It was stated that the various camps of Confederate veterans are overwhelmingly in favor of wearing their uniforms at the celebration. No decision was reached on this point.

Representatives of 21 states are in conference here with the members of the two commissions arranging for the details of the celebration in which 40,000 Union and Confederate veterans are expected to participate. General Felix Robertson of Texas, said last night that "the Confederate veteran still loves his old uniform and often wears nothing else and would not come to the celebration if uniforms are to be barred."

HOG VALUES HIGHER IN PORTLAND TRADE

For the week to date hog receipts have been rather short for the average of some time past, and this in the main accounts for the improvement in the market.

In the sheep division as well the drift of prices for the time is upward. Well finished weathers sold Friday afternoon at $6.50, the best figure paid for that kind of stock in the Portland market in months, and lambs at the same time found buyers at $7.75, the record for the season to date.

There were only a few loads of cattle in the market Friday and but little in the way of trade in that division was reported. A few fair to medium grade steers were disposed of early in the day at $7 to $7.75, and 34 cows and heifers of various grades were sold at prices running from $4.50 to $7.
