TRAGIC DEATHS

The news of two SHOCK CITY tragic deaths in one day has shocked the city. Neither death should have occurred.

Carl Hodes, a well known citizen, a resident of the city for eight years, is found dead with a knife wound in his throat, evidently self-inflicted.

Clifford Miller, 29 years of age, an experienced railroad man, visiting with his parents relatives in this county, tries to board a freight train...

The tragic deaths of these men should teach a great lesson. Be cheerful in your home today, even if you do not feel like being, and you will make others so cheerful that you will forget your troubles...

MR. WILSON SEES THE OPEN WAY

The President-elect, speaking at Chicago, said nothing more that the Federal Supreme Court has said repeatedly of late in saying of big business that no business can be called too big until it is shown to be a result, not of competition, but of oppressive combination...

An organization which, under the spur of untrammeled competition, develops a managerial capacity for the making of economies in time and expenditure, for the development of better methods of salesmanship, for the conservation of its own resources and for reaching speedier results in distribution without rebating or violation of any existing law, will be entitled to all it can get in its line of trade...

SENATOR HERE TO MAKE MILL PROBE

Senator Smith of Coos and Curry Counties, chairman of the Senate committee on industries, was in Oregon City Saturday. On his way to the depot at Salem he let it be known that he would make a personal investigation of conditions in the mills of this city.

Mr. Smith is especially interested because the committee of which he is the head will on Monday evening grant a hearing on Senator Dimick's bill to enforce an eight hour day in the mills at the Falls. He will try to find out actual working conditions among the men by taking them by surprise.

A Knight of the Bath. Until the reign of Charles II. the creation of a knight of the Bath was a somewhat trying ordeal. He was conducted to a chamber at the Tower of London, where a bath was prepared, into which he was plunged. He then resumed his clothes, with a hermit's hood of russet cloth, and thus attired, kept his vigil until daybreak, when he snatched a brief rest. And in the morning, habited in costly robes, he rode to the court, where he received the sword and spurs and was dubbed a knight of the Bath by the king, for he had taken a bath—a courageous act in the fifteenth century—London Strand.

BODY OF HODES FOUND ON CLIFF

Roost your city by boosting your daily paper. The Enterprise should be in every home.

gene & Eastern Railway Company. Coroner Wilson and Sheriff Mass were veyor, employed by the Portland, E. immediately notified, and the body was taken to the Holman Undertak establishment in this city.

Papers found Saturday morning near where the body was found gave the first clue as to the end of the saloon man. It was believed that they had been dropped by him. Following this clue it was the intention to make a search of the neighborhood this morning, and the sheriff had arranged for a large party to aid in the work.

Mr. Hodes is survived by a widow and five children, the youngest being only three months of age.

The dead man sustained an injury to his head several weeks ago, by falling on the sidewalk and friends think this might have unbalanced his mind. The day before he disappeared he paid $1,800 for a half interest in a saloon. The funeral arrangements will not be made until after the inquest.

General Castro on Ellis Island; He's Just as Tall as Napoleon

Copyright, 1913, by American Press Association.

GENERAL CIPRIANO CASTRO, former dictator of Venezuela, is said to be exactly the same height as Napoleon. Perhaps that somewhat justified him when he drew a comparison between the Little Corporal and himself in that he had nothing left but honor after Gomez, his successor, got through with him. As he said it he drew himself up, stuck out his chest and gazed into space, just as you see him on the island. With him was his interpreter in un-Napoleonic pose. Castro was on Ellis Island, New York harbor, at the time, seeking to gain entrance into the United States.

Suggestive Questions Sunday School Lessons

(16) We want our community to be well represented on the list of contestants for gold and silver medals, by answering our weekly Suggestive Questions. (17) We hear a good deal nowadays about the "power of suggestion." The Suggestive Questions which we use weekly are a practical illustration of how this may be applied to our every day life problems.

Your Questions Answered

If you would like to have answered any particular question each or any week from "The Suggestive Questions on the Sunday School Lesson" by Rev. Dr. Linscott, send in your request to this office giving the date of the lesson and the number of the question you wish answered. You may select any question except the one indicated that it may be answered in writing by members of the club. Dr. Linscott will answer the questions either in these columns or by mail through this office. Don't forget to state what benefit these "Suggestive Questions" are to you. Give your full name and address. Send your letters to the Question Editor of the Morning Enterprise.

Questions for Jan. 26

Cain and Abel. Gen. iv:1-15. Golden Text—Whosoever hates his brother is a murderer. I John iii:5.

- (1) Verse 1—Which are more desirable, large or small families? (2) Should every mother, with truth be able to say from her heart at the birth of each child, "I have gotten a child from the Lord?" (3) Verse 2—In the beginning they seem to have specialized in farming. Would it be wise if farmers were to do that at this time and why? (4) What is the advantage in giving every boy a trade? (5) Verses 3-4—What is the evidence that worship to God is a universal instinct of the race? (6) Of what use were sheep and vegetables to God? (7) Ought children to be trained to

- worship and to sacrifice to God, regard less of their dispositions? (8) What made God accept the offering of Abel and reject that of Cain? (9) Suppose Abel had been the gardener and had brought to God his first fruits and Cain had kept sheep and had brought to God the firstlings of his flock, would it have made any difference as to the way the offerings were received? (10) Verses 5-7—Which class of men generally show the greatest resentment, and why—those who are justly blamed for their sins or those who are blamed unjustly? (11) What sin would you say Cain had been guilty of up to this time? (12) Does all wrongdoing imply that sin, like a heat of prey, is crouching at the door, ready to spring upon the sinner? Give your reasons. (13) What are the conditions for controlling sin or of being controlled by it? (This is one of the questions which may be answered in writing by members of the club.) (14) Verse 8—What is the first step and what are the succeeding steps to murder? (15) Verse 9—Is lying a necessary sequence of every other sin? (16) What proportion of lying is to cover up wrongdoing, what proportion to pave the way for future wrong, and what proportion to help the other fellow? (17) Verses 10-12—What proportion of murderers are never found out? (18) Is capital punishment God's law for murder; and, if so, why was it not put into execution in this punishment which God inflicted upon Cain for the murder of Abel, his brother? (19) Why is it that undiscovered murderers today live in such mortal dread, as we have reason to believe they do? (20) Why did God seek to protect the life of this murderer? (21) If God had the direct making of our criminal law, how would he have murderers treated today? Lesson for Sunday, Feb. 2, 1913. The Flood. Gen. vi:9-22; vii:1-24.

The Moorhen. What could be more perfect defense than the device of the moorhen? She sinks herself in the water beneath an overhanging root or bank, leaving only her bill in sight. And that looks like a fallen leaf. You may stand within six feet of her, and she will not move, so sure is she that her ruse will succeed.—London Standard.

EFFORT TO WRECK EXPRESS FAILS

for many of our misfortunes lies in our lack of forethought. We must look beyond tomorrow. It is a vital matter in these days of "high cost" of living to save out of present earnings something for the future. It is not the 3 per cent interest this bank pays on your deposit that is so important, but, to get into the habit of saving is of much greater importance.

Public Has Awakened to Power of the Press By TALCOTT WILLIAMS, Dean of the Pulitzer School of Journalism, Columbia University

EDUCATION, legislation and public opinion are today each concerning themselves not with editors or newspapers, but with the whole fabric of the periodical press, daily, weekly, monthly. Laws seek to regulate its advertisements and to secure publicity for its ownership and circulation.

THE PUBLIC HAS AWAKENED TO THE PUBLIC RELATIONS OF JOURNALISM. JOURNALISM HAS BECOME THE ORGANIZED SOCIAL CONSCIOUSNESS OF THE COMMUNITY AS A WHOLE.

The press as a whole has become one of those organs, like the bench and bar, the medical calling and boards of health, the body of teachers from the primary school to the university, the network of religious organization through which society both knows its needs, makes up its myriad mind and finally acts.
