AFTER THE GREAT PICNIC.

One of the first speeches made by Mr. Wilson after his nomination last summer was at a rural gathering in New Jersey. 'Here we are at a farmer's picnic,' he said, 'and on this day I suppose we might say that the farmers occupy the center of the stage in our politics. I have seen the interests of a great many classes specially regarded in legislation, but I must frankly say that I have seldom seen the interests of the farmer regarded in legislation.' As Governor of New Jersey, the state of monumental favors to inflated corporations, the farmer can seem a small figure in business. But there are forty-seven other states, chiefly much larger in area. They know more than Mr. Wilson seems to know about the homestead law passed by the Republican party early in its history, about many other laws to promote agriculture, irrigation, rural free delivery, protection and development of native productions, crops doubled in a decade, and other accomplished facts of the same sort.

Striving with the fancy that American farmers have been overlooked in national politics Mr. Wilson draws further upon his imagination by adding: 'And one of the greatest impositions upon the farmers of this country that has ever been devised is the present tariff legislation of the United States." Mr. Wilson is an academic free trader, and now in a special position to urge upon Congress the passage of a free-trade law. He has already told the farmers that a protective tariff is one of the greatest impositions that have afflicted them, and that they have been crowded away from the center of the stage to their loss and neglect. Look out now for a great farm uplift from this professor.

BUILD THE ELEVATOR SOON AS POSSIBLE

While the committee named by the city council to make preliminary arrangements for the elevator at the bluff, which was authorized by the people at the last election, is doing its work thoroughly, the committee should not forget that the elevator is an urgent need and should be erected as soon as possible. This town has outgrown steps. It is no longer a stairway town. It is a live, up-to-date city and the people at the polls have spoken in no uncertain language regarding the erection of an elevator. The thing to do is to start work at once, if possible, and build the lift the people want. That an elevator to the hill section will be of great benefit to all sections is not questioned by persons alive to the interests of the city. It will enhance the value of property on the hill and it will bring more patronage to the merchants of Main Street. The electorate of this city never did a wiser thing than when it authorized this improvement. The city council should have the wishes of the people and have the elevator built as soon as possible.

Parcels in the mails must not be so tightly sealed that their contents can not be readily examined by the postal authorities. The old joke about the postmistress and postal cards will be freshened up for another run.

A Greater Production of Foodstuffs Must Be Obtained

By Professor MILTON WHITNEY, Chief of the United States Bureau of Soils

THE country is advancing. People are living better than ever before. As a result we are stronger physically and mentally. We are CONSUMING MORE FOODSTUFFS PER CAPITA THAN THE POPULATION OF THE EUROPEAN COUNTRIES, and I would not for a moment attempt to discourage less food consumption.

But it is plain that until we get a larger supply of foodstuffs and if the period of high salaries continues we can expect the present high cost of living to continue.

For instance, in the states north of the Potomac river and east of the Ohio river the area under cultivation in this territory is estimated at a little over 40,000,000 acres. Added to this is 27,000,000 acres used for forestry. So we have over 42,000,000 acres of idle land in the territory lying in those states.

During the past thirty years the amount of land in use has steadily decreased until it is now about TWENTY PER CENT LESS THAN IN 1880, while the country as a whole has been growing at a phenomenal rate.

The conditions in the eastern section of the country are similar to those existing in other sections of the country. So whether the cost of living is to be reduced or not it is perfectly plain to even the layman mind that to feed the present and constant growing population of the country A GREATER PRODUCTION OF FOODSTUFFS MUST BE RAISED.

TO DO THIS MORE PEOPLE HAVE GOT TO RETURN TO THE FARMS. IT IS NECESSARY TO PUT MORE LAND UNDER CULTIVATION, MORE IMPROVED METHODS OF AGRICULTURE AND MORE INTENSIFIED FARMING MUST BE FOLLOWED.

Roumania asks to be rewarded for neutrality in the Balkan operations. This will strike the men who have been roughing it at the front as the height of home guard impudence.

Gen. Botha, the old Boer warrior, has never ceased fighting for his country. He is determined that South Africa shall be something more than a mere adjunct of the British Empire.

Delay is one of the trump cards of diplomacy, and Turkey is equal to any of the experts in playing it.

OREGON CITY FOLK ENTERTAIN AT SALEM

(Salem Statesman.)

The social season that opened so auspiciously with Governor and Mrs. West's reception on New Year's night promises to be one of unusual brilliancy even in the annals of the Capital city, deservedly famous for its recheerch affairs. The most brilliant event so far was the unique and delightful musicale at which Mrs. William Brown, Mrs. W. H. Eldridge and Mrs. Clifford Brown were hostesses on Thursday afternoon. The occasion also marked the opening of the beautiful reception, auditorium and women's rooms of the new Masonic temple. Exquisite floral decorations of palms and ferns, relieved by masses of pink carnations, charming bits of furniture, arched rugs and cozy corners enhanced the effect of the mural decorations. At every step the guests were surprised by some new and charming feature in this modern fairyland.

The hostesses received in the spacious reception room where the soft oriental color scheme assisted by the subdued overhead lights, brought out the rich tones of their beautiful gowns.

As the guests left the receiving line they were presented with dainty souvenir programs by Miss Mabel Smith and Miss Constance Cartwright. Miss Smith wore a fetching frock of white lace over pale yellow museline. Miss Cartwright, a pink satin striped voile over pink silk, trimmed with pink marabout and roebucks. Scattered about the rooms were a number of Salem's most popular matrons, smartly gowned, adding gaiety and distinction to the scene. Seldom at an afternoon function have so many beautiful gowns been in evidence. The guests presented a kaleidoscopic effect of loveliness against the stately background of the spacious auditorium done in early English style where the musicale was held, that would have been cherished by an artist.

Rarely has a Salem audience had the pleasure of hearing two such artists as Mrs. Nella Barlow Lawrence and Mrs. Imogene Harding Brodie. Mrs. Brodie of Portland studied under Arens of New York for several years and sang one of his compositions during the afternoon. Her work was finished and artistic. Mrs. Lawrence of Oregon City comes of a musical family, being an aunt of Mrs. Beatrice Dieker, the noted pianist. She received her musical training in San Francisco. Their different numbers were received with rounds of applause and it was difficult to choose between the deep sad tone of Mrs. Lawrence's dramatic voice and the exquisite finish and charm of Mrs. Brodie's. In the beautiful duet, 'Oh, That We Two Were Maying,' they sang together and the guests knew then that they loved them both.

Miss Alton, the talented young violinist, played several large numbers with unusual dash and nerve. She was a great favorite in all of her numbers but quite carried away the listeners with her fine rendering of 'The Devil's Trill.'

Mrs. Lawrence was beautifully gowned in blue and silver chiffon cloth over blue chameuse paneled in white Chantilly lace.

Mrs. Brodie wore an exquisite shade of amethyst velvet. She wore a gold butterfly in her coiffure and her corsage bouquet was of roses and violets.

Miss Alton's frock of ecru chiffon trimmed with black velvet and chiffon roses was much admired.

Mrs. W. H. Burghardt, Jr., and Miss Gesner presided at the piano alternately. Mrs. Burghardt was in black chameuse with red carnations, Miss Gesner in blue silk.

The following was the delightful program: Lascia chio Piana.....Handel Brindisi (Lucreta Borgia. Donizetti Mrs. Lawrence. Mrs. Sulzer Gets New York's First Parcel Post Package

Copyright, 1913, by American Press Association.

THE first parcel post package mailed from the New York postoffice at midnight as 1913 began was addressed to Mrs. William Sulzer, wife of the new governor of New York state. She received it several hours later at the executive mansion in Albany, N. Y., shortly before Mr. Sulzer was sworn into office. Our picture shows the postman delivering the package to Mrs. Sulzer at the entrance of her new home. The gift was a New Year's remembrance from Miss Sophie Irene Loeb of New York and was the first parcel post package sent by arrangement with Postmaster Morgan.

HIS TROUBLE NOT OF HEART

Real Facts in Regard To F. R. Huffman's Illness. Relief Obtained By Curing His Stomach Ailments.

Waynesville, N. C.—Mr. F. R. Huffman, of this city, says: 'I suffered dreadfully with what I thought was heart trouble, and tried various medicines in vain.'

After other remedies had failed, Theford's Black-Draught restored me to health. I would not feel safe without Black-Draught in the house. I consider it worth its weight in gold.

It cured my indigestion, and by this means I was restored to health. I can not express my gratitude for its benefits. Good health depends on the condition of your digestion. Poor digestion and good health do not go together.

Theford's Black-Draught will thoroughly cleanse and set in order your digestive system.

It has done this for others, during the past 70 years, and is today the most popular vegetable liver remedy on the market. Try it.

RESPONSIBILITY

For many of our misfortunes lies in our lack of forethought. We must look beyond tomorrow. It is a vital matter in these days of 'high cost' of living to save out of present earnings something for the future. It is not the 3 per cent interest this bank pays on your deposit that is so important, but to get into the habit of saving is of much greater importance.
