A KANSAS Gallantry or what would

LESSON be called "chivalry" in the South, has for many years past animated the average Kansan in his voting. A peculiar condition has long existed in that state regarding the eligibilities of women as office holders. Perhaps among all of the peculiarities of Kansas nothing has been more distinguishing than laws under which women can hold state offices, from the highest to the lowest without the privilege of voting. The Kansan has found nothing in the theory that only voters should be eligible to office. He has treated this as contemptuously as other old and time-worn ideas that the world has been accepting without question. The Kansan has always been without reverence. He has been an iconoclast from the start.

Now he has conferred unlimited state suffrage upon women, not, however, because he has discovered that office holders should be voters. The world will regard the new step as a natural evolution, and such no doubt, it is. But the Kansan must have had some special and particular reasons of his own, and in searching for these we naturally fall upon the one that the male politicians there may have been growing afraid of the women as competitors in office seeking. The records show that female office holders have increased steadily in Kansas since women were made eligible. This year, on the same day which conferred state suffrage on women, Kansas elected 200 women to county offices in her 105 counties. In Kansas there are women probate judges, district court clerks, registrar of deeds, county treasurers, clerks and superintendents.

The gallantry of Kansas has long made it a hard row to hoe for any man running against a woman for an office. The majority of men have almost uniformly voted for the woman. The bringing of all their woman-kind into the electorate may be a trick of male politicians to get fair chance to hold a few of the remaining offices and get back some they have lost. They may have calculated that women voters would favor the opposite sex as the men have done, in contests between men and women for office. Kansas is a student of psychology. And this may be a lesson.

SCHOOL HEAD SHOULD

GET BIGGER SALARY The Enterprise prize believes that the superintendent of the Clackamas County schools should receive a higher salary. Mr. Gary, who has been re-elected by the people to that office, receives only $1,000 a year. Surely that is not enough. The superintendent of the Oregon City schools receives almost twice that amount. If the increase involved a burden upon the taxpayers the Enterprise might oppose it. But it does not. The bill before the Legislature provides that the salary shall be increased from $1,000 to $1,600 a year and that one supervisor be dropped. The supervisors get $100 a month.

A Sublime Use.

Man's Inhumanity to His Watch

The chauffeur watches his motor, the engineer his engine, but few give a thought to the little timekeeper running night and day, ready to answer to their first appeal.

If instead of running backward and forward, the balance wheel ran straight around like the wheel of a wagon, it would cover a circuit representing the circumference of the globe, in three years' time, or twenty miles a day. Running ten hours a day, at a speed of twenty-eight miles an hour, a locomotive would take eighty-nine days to traverse the distance covered by the little wheel of the watch in three years. The watch is fragile and weak, the locomotive is strong and powerful. But the locomotive is oiled several times a day, and at short, regular intervals it receives a thorough examination. It is kept in working condition. The watch is never given oil to use according to its running needs. When furnished and put in its case oil is crudely applied to its working parts and, thus, provided for its incessant labor, it is put upon the market, to run until constant friction, from lack of attention, brings it to a condition when it can run no longer. Not long after its run begins all that is volatile in its lubricant evaporates and all that is not volatile thickens and hardens, to clog its delicate springs and bearings.

Three voiceless prayers, pathetic appeals of crying need, are sent out incessantly by this hardworked slave of man—one for less careless handling, another for closer covering, for its mechanism, another for the lubricant that no one but the watchmaker knows just how to give. Let man be just. His watch is in his mercy; it is the servant within his gates. Let him not rap it upon the shell to rid its internal organs of their obstacles nor search its vitals in search of dust. If the strong, powerful locomotive demands a quarterly overhauling, why not the watch—a thousand times more delicate? Its pivots are set in jewels so thin that a shock shatters them. Let them be split even at one point and every turn of the wheel is a rasp. Man has no servant more untiring more devoted, or less cared for than the object generally appreciated only according to the show made by its use.—Harper's Weekly.

ALL Viburns talked for many a day over the visit of President-elect Wilson and Mrs. Wilson to Staunton, Va., on his recent 47th birthday. Governor Wilson was born there, and the old town gave him a true southern reception. The "Welcome Home" arch was a feature of the celebration, and there was talk after the event was over of making it a permanent memorial. Mrs. Wilson was a prominent figure in the day's program, being given an equal place of honor with her husband. She is shown in the illustration just as she looked during the celebration.

NOTICES

Summons. In the Circuit Court of the State of Oregon, for the County of Clackamas, vs. G. B. M. Sommerville, Plaintiff, vs. Dona A. Sommerville, Defendant.

In the name of the State of Oregon, you are hereby required to appear and answer the complaint filed herein against you, in the above entitled Court and cause, within six weeks from the 29th day of January, 1913, said date being the first day of publication of this summons.

If you fail to so appear or answer, for want thereof, the plaintiff will apply to the Court for the relief prayed for in the complaint filed herein, to-wit:

For a decree dissolving the bonds of matrimony now and heretofore existing between the above named plaintiff and defendant, and granting unto the plaintiff an absolute divorce from the defendant, and for such other and further relief as may seem just and equitable in the premises.

This summons is served upon you by virtue of an order made and entered by Hon. J. U. Campbell, Judge of the Circuit Court of the State of Oregon for the County of Clackamas.

C. E. Gorbett, Plaintiff, vs. J. G. Sullivan, Defendant.

To J. G. Sullivan, the above named defendant, in the name of the State of Oregon, you are hereby required to appear and answer the complaint filed against you in the above entitled action, on or before Saturday the 8th day of March, 1913, and if you fail to so appear and answer, for want thereof, plaintiff will apply to the Court for a judgment against you for the sum of Five Hundred and Fifty Dollars ($550.00) with interest thereon at the rate of 7 per cent per annum from the 27th day of October, 1909, and for the further sum of One Hundred Dollars ($100.00) attorneys fees, and for plaintiffs costs and disbursements herein and for an order for foreclosing the mortgage as set out in the complaint on file herein, and for an order of sale of the following described real property, the North-East Quarter of the North-East Quarter of Section 36, Township 4 South, Range 3 East, of the Willamette Meridian, Clackamas County, Oregon, to satisfy the said mortgage, according to the provisions of this Court, and the laws governing the sale of real estate upon execution, that the defendant and each and all persons claiming any title through him be forever barred of any right, claim or interest in said property.

Service of this summons is made upon you by publication thereof, by order of the Honorable J. U. Campbell, judge of the said Court, which said order was duly made, dated and entered on the 21st day of January, 1913, and directed that publication of summons be made in the Morning Enterprise, a newspaper of general circulation, published in Oregon City, Oregon, and that said publication be made once a week for six successive weeks.

1st publication dated Jan. 22, 1913. Last publication dated March 5, 1913.

DAVID E. LOFGREN, Atty. for Plaintiff.

RESPONSIBILITY

For many of our misfortunes lies in our lack of forethought. We must look beyond tomorrow. It is a vital matter in these days of 'high cost' of living to save out of present earnings something for the future. It is not the 3 per cent interest this bank pays on your deposit that is so important, but, to get into the habit of saving is of much greater importance.
