APPLES IN DEMAND BUT PRICE IS SAME

The apple market continues to show an improved volume of sales, but prices are stationary as a rule. There is little first class stock to be had. Extra fancy Spitzenbergs are unobtainable and the trade does not care for the yellow sorts.

The situation for Oregon apples is generally better abroad, although the market has been rather erratic and forced one way or the other by the arrivals.

Regarding the situation, W. Dennis & Sons, fruit brokers, write from Covent Garden market, Liverpool, under date of January 17:

"The market for barrel apples in London this week has been very dragging, due in a great measure to the wet and depressing weather we have experienced and has prevented the retailer from clearing his stocks. In view of this poor demand we have withdrawn our Nova Scotian apples from sale until next week, when we hope that a better condition of things will prevail.

We auctioned today a very fine car of Oregon Newtowns, the best fruit we have seen this season. The apples were competed actively for by the best London trade and realized top price of the season."

Prevailing Oregon City prices are as follows:

- HIDES—(Buying) Green salted, 7c to 8c; sheep pelts 75c to $1.50 each. FEED—(Selling) Shorts, $26; bran $24; process barley $27 to $28 per ton. FLOUR—$4.50 to $5. HEILIG THEATRE

Without the aid of lifting tunes or ragtime rhythms about the American flag or any other favorite topic, Mr. Geo. M. Cohan's newest play "Broadway Jones" has succeeded in scoring one of the big hits on the theatrical year. It will be seen at the Heilig Theatre for an engagement of three nights and a Saturday special priced matinee, beginning Thursday, February 6th. In the routing of the company to the west, Messrs. Chan & Harris, the producers, allowed but few stop-overs, these being made at Denver, Salt Lake, Los Angeles and San Francisco.

In the play "Broadway Jones" has squandered a fortune in an endeavor to "burn up Broadway." Just as he thinks he has it properly incinerated, there comes the inevitable smash and his money is all gone. Not only this but he is heavily in debt. In despair he consents to marry an heiress old enough to be his mother.

This is the predicament in which the audience finds "Broadway Jones" when the curtain rises on the first act. Mr. Cohan's writing breathes an atmosphere of keen humor, love, laughter and happiness in an environment of absolute cleanliness.

A splendid cast is coming as the players are Ralph Morgan, John Webster, George Shaefer, Caroline Lill, George C. Stanley, Daniel Burns Marie Taylor, Jack Pierce Edith Luckett Grace Morrissey, George K. Henry and many others.

MOTHER AT THE BAKER

Beautiful Play of Domestic Life Presented by the Baker Players This Week.

One of the most charming and beautiful plays of the season will be Mother, which the Baker Players are to offer all this week starting with the usual matinee Sunday. It is not a play of sadness as some might think, and while there are moments a suspicious lump to rise. There is plenty of comedy too for Mother is just a picture of home life—real home life, depicting the cares and tribulation of a dear old fashioned mother in the managing of a large family consisting of six children, four grownups and a pair of mischievous twins. The two older boys are her greatest care and the principal plot centers on the eldest son who has married a fortune hunting girl and become estranged from the family. In her desperate attempts to shield and protect him, Mother sacrifices, not only herself but all the others, bringing about all kinds of trouble in the family. Her simple love and undying faith in him against all odds is a beautiful thing which in the end receives its reward. Mother is a play all of us can understand and sympathize with and no one should fail to see it at the Baker this next. Helen Strickland will play the title role and her

MADAME LILLIAN NORDICA, A T HEILIG, WEDNESDAY, FEB. 5 World's greatest dramatic soprano at Heilig Theatre, Portland, Wednesday, February 5

LILLIAN NORDICA

There is no more beautiful nor brilliant artist in the musical world than prima donna Lillian Nordica, to be heard in concert at the Heilig Theatre Eleventh and Morrison streets, Portland, Wednesday, February 5. She has been warmly welcomed by all music lovers. Regal in appearance, possessed of a vocal equipment not to be excelled, and the genuine dramatic instinct, her wonderful career is so well known that it is needless to repeat the story of her successes. Great as Brunhilde, Elsa and other big roles, no singer has equalled her in the affections of the opera loving public, and her success in concert both here and abroad has been equally brilliant.

The diva is in superb voice this season, and has recently scored a memorable triumph in London, where she gave two concerts at Queen's Hall, to packed houses. She is a favorite in London and her return was made the occasion for unwonted demonstrations of enthusiasm.

Mme. Nordica will be assisted at her concert here by Rummel, the eminent violinist, and Romayne Simons, pianist. Mail orders are now being received.
