LOCAL BRIEFS

The public, and especially church going people, will be interested in watching the movement of Dr. Ford and his church in the organization of the Children's Vested Choir. This is something for the Methodists in this city, and some wonder what the outcome will be. There is much interest in this feature of the Sunday evening program at the Methodist Church. The children will appear in their new vestments this evening at the 7:30 o'clock service. Many who are not in the habit of attending church will want to see and hear the children.

The McTague-Citelly Company expect to finish the work of paving lower Main Street either Sunday or Monday. The work has been progressing well for the past few days, and the street is now beginning to look fine.

Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Shewman left this city Saturday evening for a two months' trip through California. While in the south they will visit Mrs. Shewman's sister and many places of interest.

Mrs. Sarah Clark, mother of Mrs. Lucy Clark, of this city, is seriously ill at the Patton Home in Portland. Owing to her advanced age it is not expected that she will recover.

L. P. Castor, of Vancouver, B. C., has been spending several days in Oregon City where he has been visiting friends and attending to business matters.

Miss Georgia Cross, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Cross, of Gladstone, left this city Friday for Eugene where she will attend the university. Miss Cross has for some time been employed in the county clerk's office.

D. O. Anderson representative of the Western Stock Journal, arrived home from a trip to Winlock, Chehalis, Centralia, Elma, Aberdeen, Tacoma, Thomas and Seattle in the interest of that paper.

Mrs. P. K. Hammond and daughter Margaret, of Eugene, will return to their home in that city Monday after visiting at the home of William Hammond in Gladstone for the past week.

Representative Schuebel, of Clackamas County, was in this city to stay over Saturday and Sunday. He is

CLOTHING WORKERS STRIKE EXPECTED

The strike of the garment workers is having a weakening effect on the market for wool, but it is generally believed that the reaction will be but momentary, and that better prices will prevail.

The demand for woollens is good, and therefore the consumption will be fully as good as previously. For that reason the mills will be forced to purchase supplies. The stopping of the machinery by the strike will therefore mean nothing except that overtime work will be necessary after the affair is settled and the demand for cloth picks up.

The regular correspondent of the Enterprise wires the following from Boston:

"Wool sales have decreased materially, most of the Boston houses reporting a quiet demand. As foreign primary markets are closing, the center of American interest is being slowly transferred to the west. The outlook is distinctly less encouraging than at the opening of the year. The change in sentiment is attributed to the garment workers' strike, which is now in progress here.

"Some bids submitted have been far below the asking prices for desirable wools. They have generally been rejected, yet a disposition to make slight concessions where any valid reason was forthcoming has been evident.

"California wools are still draggy, the principal transactions for the week being in sample lots of five bags or so. Small lots of baled scoured, full basis have been moved on the basis of 40¢ to 45¢ for gray and 53¢ for the best white, with average lots at 45¢ to 47¢."

Prevailing Oregon City prices are as follows:

HIDES—(Buying) Green salted, 7c to 8c; sheep pelts 75c to $1.50 each. FEED—(Selling) Shorts $25; bran $24; process barley $27 to $28 per ton. FLOUR—$4.50 to $5.

"THE BRASS BOWL"

Thrilling Burglar Play to be Seen for First Time in Portland at Baker

There are two places one thoroughly enjoys seeing the festive burglar—in jail and on the stage. When a burglar play is well written and well played like "The Brass Bowl" at the Baker this week the audience can expect to be entertained in a manner that satisfies the most eager seeker after genuine thrills and excitement. The play is dramatized from the widely read novel and depicts the adventures of a rich New York bachelor who becomes the prey of a gang of burglars, lead by a noted crook who happens to resemble their proposed victim to a certain degree. This resemblance helps complicate matters inasmuch as it serves in several surprising ways, both burglar and victim. Then there is another thief, playing a lone hand. It is a pretty and daring girl whose purpose is higher and with better reason than that of the other crooks. The first act happens at a lonely country house near New York at midnight and has enough excitement to work the audience up to the highest pitch. The second moves to town next day, towards evening and things keep piling up rapidly until one has to keep his wits about him to follow the rapidly changing situations. There are no dull moments and a charming love story springs out of the plot, which has its fulfillment after the real crooks are bagged and their victim, who has had the liveliest time of his life, has a chance to come back to earth again. If you want to be amused, entertained and thrilled, go to the Baker and see "The Brass Bowl" this week. It will open Sunday Matinee and there will be matinees also Wednesday and Saturday as well as the popular Bargain Matinee night Monday.

ADVERTISING TALKS NO. 13

(By Ralph Kaye.)

If you sell men a clothing, you have to convince men that it is to their advantage to buy them.

What are you going to say in your advertising that will accomplish this result?

To my mind, the answers to the following questions, put in a straightforward manner, would convince me.

What is the price?

Who makes them?

How are they made?

What is the kind and quality of cloth, lining, etc.?

What is the style?

Do you guarantee a satisfactory fit?

Will it hold its shape?

Don't say a suit is all wool when it isn't.

Don't say it will hold its shape unless it does.

Don't say it's a $25 suit when it's really a $15 one.

There is nothing that makes me more disgusted than to find that I did not get what I was buying.

It makes no difference if I did pay $15 for a $25 suit and received a $15 one.

You are not going to make very much profit on this suit of mine, but you will if I come back for another and another and so on.

When I tell my friends that your suits are cracker jacks their trade is all velvet to you. That is where you really make money.

BIG POW WOW IS PLANNED BY REDMEN

The Improved Order of Redmen had a delicious oyster supper Tuesday evening after which a war dance was given. Captain Walter Little was in charge and the dance was one of the best ever given. The lodge will give the finest dance March 29 ever given in the city, Mr. Little being in charge.

There will be a big street parade, and a dance on horseback. The lodge is one of the most prosperous in the city, and the proposed dance will be one of the events of the year.
