DIMICK AND BEATIE The advertisement NOT POLITICAL ALLIES

ment in Wednesday's Enterprise regarding Grant B. Dimick and R. B. Beatie was somewhat misleading. Judge Dimick is a candidate for the Republican nomination for Governor. Judge Beatie is a Democrat and an applicant under the Democratic administration for Marshal of the state. While Judge Dimick and Judge Beatie are good friends they do not agree politically and the advertisement worked a disadvantage on both of them. The advertisement was furnished by an enterprising real estate man who is a friend of both men mentioned, and, he like the Enterprise, little thought that anyone would take exceptions to it. However, the fact remains that

S. O. Dillhow gave A. C. Manland a contract to build a $1500.00 bungalow on his lot purchased in yesterday's narrative.

Judge Beatie will be named Marshal of Oregon, and Judge Dimick has a mighty good chance of becoming Governor of this great state. The Enterprise says to both of them: "Good Luck!"

GOVERNMENT SECRETARY OF THE AND PANICS Treasury McVeagh, in the annual report of the operations of his department transmitted to Congress, renews his earlier urging of an improved banking system.

There can be no denial of the necessity of improvement in the present system, and the secretary cannot even be charged with exaggeration in saying that the Federal Government, so long as the present faulty system is retained, will be responsible for the commercial, financial and industrial disasters which flow from panics. But the desirability of having a better system being generally admitted, it will be generally disappointing for the business world to find that the secretary sees only the end but not the means. The present system promotes and develops panics, he declares, but he seems to offer nothing more than glittering generalities by way of providing a better one. The revision of the law, he says, should, aside from affording flexible and elastic currency and reserves, bring the banks into an organized co-operation and provide for a central agency through which they can work free of political or trust control.

Battle ships can hit a small target at a distance of seven miles, but this will not suffice to keep the Balkan allies from reaching salt water somewhere.

A Democratic senator remarks that there are Democratic protectionists. No doubt of it, and they will shortly realize the folly of voting for a free-trade party.

Iowa, Illinois, Missouri, Kansas and Indiana are the only states in the Union that batted over 200,000,000 bushels in corn production for the season of 1912.

Some of the Democrats are so sensitive about cause and effect that they don't want anybody to mention that fire will burn, water drown, or a misplaced switch make trouble.

A business more restful than that of smoking glass for eclipses has been discovered. It is that of acting as a living model for embalmers. And yet it is a stiff proposition for the nervous.

A grandson of Patrick Henry lived long enough to see the Mother of Presidents add another to its list. Everybody admits that the first Virginia president is as good a model as ever.

The latest Democratic recipe for reducing the cost of living: "Give us back those 50,000 fourth-class post-offices."

Democratic patronage pie will be abundant, but the crust shorter than ever, according to the figures of the popular vote.

FORUM OF THE PEOPLE

HEALTH OFFICER BLAMED.

CLACKAMAS, Feb. 11.—(Editor of the Enterprise).—In the Enterprise of Feb. 7, appeared an article headed, "Carelessness causes spread of disease," in which Dr. Norris is quoted as saying: "That several cases of the scarlet fever in Clackamas might have been prevented had the families of those affected been more careful."

Also that "In several cases persons who were exposed to the disease have been careless and thus made it difficult to stamp out the contagion." He also charges people with breaking quarantine, saying: "If persons had been careful of keep the quarantine there might have been no more cases at the present time."

This is adding insult to injury and shooting at long range, when the people concerned were not supposed to read his article. The facts are Dr. Norris is charging the people with his own guilt. Every time the cases were turned over to Dr. Norris as health officer there would be a new outbreak of scarlet fever. He had his deputy fumigate the house and the people were told they could not go anywhere when they usually did.

Now he blames the people the most of whom followed his advice when he is the guilty man. He turned these people out in some cases, 10 days too soon, others were turned out 21 days too soon and one was turned out 28 days too soon. To make the matter plain; when the first cases occurred they were placed under quarantine. There were then no new cases for about 5 weeks, when Dr. Norris caused one house to be fumigated and the people were told they were free to go anywhere. They went to church and the girl went to school. Several new cases resulted of this disobedience on the part of Dr. Norris, of the rules laid down by the State Board of Health. Was this family to blame? No. They did not know the law but followed the direction of the health officer or his deputy.

The second outbreak was held in check for more than six weeks. During a part of this time the schools were closed and the churches closed down. It was agreed not to reopen school until the health officer, Dr. Norris, should pronounce the situation safe. All went well, the school was re-opened and so were the churches. The house where there were cases, the health officer caused to be fumigated and by his order they were turned out, told they were free to go any where. They went to church and school. Were they to blame? They believed Dr. Norris knew or ought to know the law. At least eight cases sprung up within a few days, resulting in the death of one. When all had taken it, who were susceptible and the people had kept their children away from school and public gatherings there was another pause of several weeks until another batch of patients were turned out, and then we had the last outbreak. Why will Dr. Norris blame the people when he is the guilty man? Most of these people would have complied with the law had they been told what it is.

E. H. Amet Rivals Edison In Inventing Talking Movies

THE distinction of being Edison's rival in attempting to perfect "talking movies" makes E. H. Amet of Berkeley, Cal., a man of the hour in the invention world. Our illustrations show him in his laboratory and the method by which he secures moving pictures and sounds at the same time. For nearly five years he has been working at the idea. Now he has invented what he calls the auto-moto-photo. He claims he can register sounds concomitant with motion and reproduce them just as exactly and successfully. He claims his invention will revolutionize the rapidly growing moving picture business. Edison has claimed the same thing.

What right had he to be ignorant of the rules of the State Board of Health? If he knew and willfully disobeyed his crime is still greater. In no instance where the people were told they must stay away from school for twenty-one days. He broke the rules when he turned out one case in twenty-one days, when the law provided that they were not to be fumigated until thirty days after they took sick and then the patient must stay away from school and other public gatherings for twenty-one days more. These facts were brought out by an examination of the record in his examination at school. Dr. Harvey Wiley says: "That for every preventable disease resulting fatally, those charged with the responsibility of prevention are guilty of murder."

The editor would perform a good deed if he would get a pamphlet containing laws and rules regarding contagious diseases and publish them. The rules for scarlet fever follow: "For the patient and children associated with or in the family with the patient, quarantine for not less than thirty (30) days after the beginning of the disease and until complete desquamation or scaling of the skin of the patient. Isolation of the patient and children associated with the patient for ten (10) days after removal of quarantine. Patient shall not be permitted to re-enter school until twenty-one (21) days after quarantine is removed. Other children in the family may be disinfectant and removed to another house and shall there be isolated for a period of ten (10) days and then released, provided they remain free from the disease."

For adults living in the family or exposed to the patient, while the house remains quarantined, unless said adults submit to thorough disinfection of their clothing and removal from the premises during the time said quarantine is maintained.

PENDLETON MOURNS OVER 2 TRAGEDIES

PENDLETON, Or., Feb. 12.—Two frightful accidents occurred here this morning with fatal results, causing a gloom over the city. Little Ethel Grubbs was run over and her body ground beneath the wheels of an incoming Walla Walla passenger train. Almost at the same time, in another part of the city, Lloyd Hall was accidentally shot and killed.

The little Grubbs girl was hurrying to the Catholic school, and it is thought that, in an attempt to avoid being late, she dashed across the railroad tracks without seeing the oncoming train. The engine train passed over the body and "rattled" it badly. At the point where the accident occurred three main lines of railroad cross Court Street, one of the main thoroughfares, and one which all students of the Catholic school use. The place is dangerous at best, and there is no flagman or warning signal of any kind at crossings.

Lloyd Hall had taken a 22-caliber rifle out early in the morning to hunt rabbits before school time. Returning to the house, he handed the gun to his sister, asking her to put it away. In the exchange the weapon in some manner was discharged, the ball striking the lad in the breast, killing him almost instantly. The boy was a member of the freshman class at the High school, where he was prominent in athletics and was well liked. He was a son of James Hall, a prominent stockman of Camas Prairie.

By President ARTHUR T. HADLEY of Yale University

THE American nation may LOSE ITS GREATNESS if the temper shown by recent unreasonable attacks on railroads is not altered.

I am afraid that neither the public nor the government is awake to the real state of things. In our endeavors to control corporations we TOO OFTEN TRY TO LESSEN THEIR EFFICIENCY INSTEAD OF INCREASING IT. We are appalled by one railroad accident, and we suggest that every engine should have two engineers instead of one. A fast train runs off the track, and a government officer suggests that people ought not to want to travel so fast.

IF THESE VIEWS PREVAIL THE DAYS OF AMERICAN GREATNESS ARE DONE. A PEOPLE THAT BELIEVES IN DIVIDED RESPONSIBILITY AND WASTE OF TIME HAS NO FUTURE. THERE IS COMPETITION BETWEEN NATIONS, WHETHER THERE BE COMPETITION WITHIN THE NATIONS OR NOT. IF WE ARE CONTENT TO TAKE THINGS EASILY, GERMANY WILL BE ONLY TOO GLAD TO GET AHEAD OF US.

What is to be done in the face of this state of things? In the first place, we must CONTINUE TO REWARD THE EFFICIENT MAN. The fact that competition will no longer do this automatically must make us all, as part of our public duty, lend a hand to the men who are getting things done. We shall deal with the problems of corporate regulation and with the abuses of corporate management more effectively if we are willing to appreciate efficient service.

We must develop a system of FIRST CLASS TECHNICAL TRAINING AT LOW PRICES, like that which has been so successful in Germany. The great obstacle to good technical training in the United States in the past has been the idea that public schools ought to be free.

DIMICK OPPOSES ANNEXATION BILL

SALEM, Feb. 12.—(Special).—The Senate adopted McArthur's resolution providing for a constitutional amendment to go before the people, which would allow the City of Portland and the County of Multnomah to be united under a single government.

Dimick was opposed to the proposition, fearing that if it was passed by the people it would allow a slice of Clackamas County to be lopped off and created into a new county with a strip from Multnomah County.
