

How He Lost It.

"Why are you crying, little boy?"
"I lost the one dollar prize for being the best boy in school!"
"Never mind, here's another one. How did you lose it?"
"I wasn't the best boy."—New York Mail.

LOCAL BRIEFS

Ito Family of Japs at the Grand today
An annual production of 40,000 motor cars, when mentioned in figures, does not mean a great deal to those not of an individual mind. But when reduced to miles these cars will cover, the number of freight cars which would be necessary to transport them in a single train, were it possible, or the number of dollars of investment such production represents, a better idea of the magnitude of the industry can be gained by everyone. Figures recently compiled by The Willis-Overland Company, of Toledo, Ohio, whose annual output is 40,000 cars are interesting. Should all the Overland cars produced at the Toledo plant for the season—each averaging 148 inches over all—be placed end to end, as closely as they could stand, the line would cover more than 83 miles of roadway, or more than the distance from Toledo to Detroit. Should the cars be distributed over a straight and level road, each in sight of the one following, or one mile apart, the line would reach 40,000 miles or one and three-fourths times around the world. A train of 40-foot automobile freight cars sufficient to haul the entire output would reach more than 126 miles or farther than from Toledo to Cleveland. The total value of the 1913 output of the Toledo factory is more than $40,000,000, or so great that there are but very few multimillionaires in America today who could purchase all the cars and pay cash. A part of this great system is represented by the Miller-Parker Company in Oregon City, who are endeavoring to maintain the good reputation of the Willis-Overland Company.

MISCHA ELMAN.

ELMAN COMING.
Greatest Violinist of the Age Will be Heard in Portland February 26.

The leading critics of the day are at a loss to explain the extraordinary hold Mischa Elman, the violinist, has obtained on the people. How has this youth of barely twenty years, been able to attain such interpretative insight into the secret meaning of the great masters of music, so that he can bring their works into the ken of his audience with such vivid and impassioned realism, such enchanting fantasy of poetry, that all who hear are transported into the seventh heaven of delight? There is only one answer—genius, such as the world has rarely known.

Elman will visit Portland February 26, playing at the Heilig, 11th and Morrison, under the direction of Lois Steers-Wynn Coman. The sale of seats will open February 24. Mail orders are being received now.

OREGON APPLES LIKED BY DENMARK'S KING

The king of Denmark personally has approved the quality of Oregon apples. He expressed himself as highly pleased at the excellence of the stock. By personal letter he has expressed his appreciation of the quality of Oregon-grown fruit to L. L. Johnson of Freewater, a former subject of Denmark.

The market for apples is somewhat more active locally. While there is still a very large amount of stock being offered on consignment to the Portland trade, good quality is not nearly so plentiful as it was and slightly better prices are being asked for these.

According to a prominent commission man, most of the stock now being offered on consignment is so poor that he has been compelled to refuse the supplies and has actually paid cash for what he wanted instead.

Apple market trade in the East is not showing the slightest bit of improvement, trade there remaining unsatisfactory to both seller and shipper. Regarding the general situation Egobal & Day write from New York under date of February 5:

"We are sorry that we cannot write any encouraging news about box apples, but as our circulars always report truthfully the exact situation, so we give it to you and in this world we certainly have to take the bitter with the sweet."
