Suggestive in Questions Sunday School Lessons

(37) Concerning the Suggestive Questions on the Sunday school lesson, which the Morning Enterprise is publishing an enthusiastic presiding elder of the M. E. church writes, "I am always glad to recommend a good thing and especially that which aims to get the Word of God into the hearts and minds of the people. I am they are to the point and calculated to awaken interest." This is in substance what everybody says who read the stirring questions. We expect that every reader of the Morning Enterprise will be long be enrolled as a student of these questions.

to his happiness. Give your reasons.
(5) Which are the happier, other things being equal, those who are rich or those who earn enough to live comfortably?
(6) Verses 3-4—Where was Bethel and what important events transpired there?
(7) Why is it that certain places void of any natural attractions have such a charm for us?
(8) How would you compare the pleasure derived from living in a tent, and frequently moving, to living in one place in a well built house?
(9) Verses 5-6—What per cent of business partnerships, roughly speaking, turn out to be satisfactory?
(10) What relation was Lott to Abram?
(11) What, if any, reason is there to believe that intimate business relationships with relatives are generally less satisfactory than with others? Why?
(12) Is it possible or impossible, and why, for two parties to quarrel without either party being to blame for the cause of the quarrel?
(13) With human nature as it is and conditions as they are is it possible to live and do business without misunderstandings or strife? Give your reasons. (This is one of the questions that may be answered in writing by the members of the club.)
(14) Verses 8-9—If you learn that one party to a dispute shows an arbitrary spirit and is determined to fight it to a finish how would you estimate him morally and spiritually?
(15) Would you regard it to be possible or not, and why, for a man to be a truly good man and yet to be quarrelsome or anything akin to it?
(16) What do you think of Abram's offer to settle the dispute with Lott?
(17) When a partner makes a proposition to either give or accept certain conditions to settle a partnership dispute and the other partner refuses how would you characterize the two men?
(18) Verses 10-13—When we have the choice of living with our families in a community of Godless people with big business possibilities or in a community of Godly people with doubtful business possibilities which should we choose and why?
(19) Verses 14-18—If an industrious man acts generously with his neighbor and walks humbly with God what are his business prospects?

he has gained two and a half days on the Legislature. Monday the bills will come in and the Governor will have until Friday to sign or veto them. This will enable him to swamp both houses with vetoed bills if he chooses to do so. There are so many bills on third reading in the House and Senate now that it is not improbable that Governor will be able to turn loose another flood of vetoes a few days afterward. Lawyers in both houses cite that in 1895 Governor Lord signed bills and both houses were in session on Washington's birthday, and declare that Governor West's action has no foundation in law.
The Governor now has on hand among others, the general appropriation bill carrying an aggregate of $1,200,000. Buried in this is the allowance for the salaries of clerks and stenographers in the Legislature. Because the Governor has not signed it, they cannot get their pay at least until Monday. It is also rumored that the Governor may veto this bill because it carries appropriations for the Naval Militia and various other items he is opposed to. The Legislature has resolved to hold over an extra week, and the chief executive might veto this bill and force the Ways and Means Committee to draw up another. The Governor, not having power to veto individual items will have to either sign and approve the whole bill, or reject it.

WHEN TIM HURST SQUELCHED MIKE DONLIN.

It is related that in the days when Mike Donlin was a "bad actor" he gave Tim Hurst a lot of trouble. The umpire, however, always got the better of Mike. One day, when Mike had been up twice without getting a hit, he was unusually peevish and grew witty at Hurst's expense. "Think you're a funny feller, don't you?" purred the umpire after Mike had dropped to his knees on the home plate in an attitude of prayer. "I'm the funniest guy that ever lived," was Mike's quick comeback, as he tried to take a grip on Hurst's blouse. "See?" replied Hurst, nice and soft like. "Well, they need an end man on the bench; go over there and make 'em laugh."

It takes five different aged whiskies to make Cyrus Noble—each one good in itself. But it takes blending and re-ageing to bring out the best in each—to "round out" the flavor.

Why punish yourself with rough, high-proof, strong whiskey when you can get Cyrus Noble everywhere?

DIMICK URGED TO OPPOSE HAWLEY

It is said that if he should be a candidate for Congress he will get heavy support from the working classes. Dimick is serving his second term as a member of the State Senate.
A dogged fight by Dimick this afternoon resulted in the defeat in the Senate of the bill of Representative Parsons, providing for the creation of the organization of new counties. Calkins moved that the Senate go into committee of the whole to consider an amendment made by himself for its consideration. This Dimick objected to and succeeded in defeating it. Calkins then moved that the bill be laid on the table until next week. This move Dimick also blocked. Dimick then moved that the bill be indefinitely postponed.
The motion carried with 17 Senators voting in favor of the motion. Calkins' main contention was that the bill would furnish a working basis for the formation of new counties when such are needed. In a debate on the bill Friday Nuener and Dimick declared that if it became a law the number of counties in Western Oregon would double in the next two years. The bill provided that only the persons in sections wishing to secede had a right to vote on a proposition to divide a county.
Seven runaway members of the House of Representatives riding on an Oregon Electric train were accosted at West Woodburn this evening as a result of a telegram order sent by Speaker McArthur when he discovered that he did not have a quorum to do business in the night session. The members refused to return and bench warrants for their arrest on a contempt charge will be issued. Other members are also offenders. Lewelling, Chapman and Thomas were arrested by Sergeant-at-arms Singer just as they were ready to board an out-going train. Parsons, who had gone to his home at Eugene, has been ordered to return.
By a vote of 17 to 11 the Senate killed the cement bill which came up for reconsideration this afternoon. Out of courtesy to Senator Moser, who wished to vote for the bill, Senator Calkins, who opposed it, moved for its reconsideration. Moser was absent when the vote was taken Friday.

MR. AND MRS. HULL DELIGHTFUL HOSTS

Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Hull entertained the teachers of the Barclay school in a delightful manner at their home on Jefferson Street Friday evening. The evening was devoted to various kinds of guessing games, after which delicious refreshments were served. The Hull's guests were Mr. and Mrs. A. O. Prael, Miss Olah Mickey, Miss Beulah Stuart, Miss Beatrice Weeks, Miss Mildred Burley, Miss Margaret Gilman, Miss Neita Harding, Mrs. Estella Salisbury, Miss Lillie Knotts and Lawrence and Mildred Hull.

CHAMPION BULLDOGS HERE.

Arnold Lawson Pays $37,500 For Great English Pack.

Arnold Lawson, son of Thomas W. Lawson of Boston and Drenwood, Egypt, Mass., where the financier's kennels are situated, brought from England what is probably the finest and most costly pack of bulldogs ever imported into this country.
In the collection, for which were provided tiny cottages, are Champion Centaur, a lightweight, with a little white but almost "holly a brindle; Champion Beamish Blunderbus, a heavyweight, of what is known as a red smut color; Irish Boy, a white bull; Juanita, Dora and Newington Supreme.

A seventh purchase, Deodora Dina, died Jan. 10 in England.
It is said the dogs cost $37,500.
"All the best bulls in England are now gone," said Mr. Lawson. "There is nothing left. They will probably holler when they hear this, but it is true."
The dogs are to be shown at the Westminster Kennel club show, New York, Feb. 19, and at the Boston dog show on Feb. 25.
"According as you consider lightweights or heavyweights the more important in bulls," said young Mr. Lawson, "Champion Centaur or Champion Beamish Blunderbus may be considered the head of the collection. Champion Centaur has never been beaten by any English bulldog. He is the best bulldog in the world today probably. He is four and a half years old, has taken twelve championship prizes and has beaten every bull in England.
"As for the big fellow, Champion Beamish Blunderbus is probably the best heavyweight bull in the world. Irish Boy beat the Blunderbus once, but Champion Beamish Blunderbus has beaten Irish Boy three times. Irish Boy has always been a house pet, and on that account I had to get an extra stateroom on the steamship for him. He positively refused to stay below with the other dogs."

could get the best value for their produce or money.
Farmers purchasing from mail order houses in the East also came in for a fair amount of discussion. It was stated by several of the members that the goods from some of the mail order houses than in Oregon City. Grange Master Dimick asked if it were not true that the stores of Oregon City were better than they were formerly. It was stated that they were. L. O. Harding of Oregon City, said that the stores were much better than formerly, and that there was now a keener competition among the merchants. Mrs. C. W. Swallow stated that the women would go to the stores where the best bargains were given and the greatest amount of trading stamps could be obtained.
Robert Glinther stated his views on supply and demand with reference to the price paid to farmers. The question to be discussed at the next meeting is: "Which is the Most Advisable for the General Public, the Extension of the Agricultural Knowledge, that is the Raising of More Produce, or Looking After Better Distribution and a Better System of Marketing What We Do Produce."
Dinner was served by the women of the grange at noon and in the evening a social was held. After the afternoon session a short program was given by Mrs. Homan, Miss Dorothy Swallow, Sammy McLarty and Annette and Mira Adcock.

FARMERS SCORE CITY MERCHANTS

should be allowed to trade where they the general opinion of the members that the farmers did not receive what they should at the hands of the majority of the Oregon City merchants. It was stated that the merchants of this city did not pay as good prices as did those of Portland and that they would not make extra efforts to accommodate the farmers. Another grievance that aroused the animosity of one or two of the members, was the allegation that most of the merchants of the city refused to pay cash for the farmers' produce and insisted upon barter.
A. J. Lewis stated that he found the merchants of this city wanted everything their own way and that it was difficult to get cash from the farmers. William Beard said that the farmers were under no moral obligation to the merchants and that they
