TYPHOID IN OUR OREGON CITY BACK YARDS

has not yet forgotten and will not soon forget the epidemic of typhoid fever recently experienced. Much good will undoubtedly come from the agitation for a supply of pure water and this aim should be kept in mind continually.

It has been proven beyond a question that the ordinary house-fly may and often does act as a carrier of typhoid as well as many other disease germs. In fact scientists tell us that one fly can carry and may deposit on our food 5,000,000 bacteria!

Now the principle breeding places for flies are garbage and waste piles. It is therefore easy to deprive them of their breeding places and this will mean much toward improving the health of the city.

The city council has taken creditable action in establishing a system of garbage collection. This should be made use of by every citizen and if the periods of collection are not sufficiently frequent we have no doubt that the council may be depended upon to provide for garbage collection as often as it may be necessary.

Another Nuisance. It was the first time he was being married, and he was naturally a little nervous and upset, but he managed to say "Yes" all right and to keep time to Mendelssohn, sailing down the aisle, and to sign his name in the register without making more than a dozen blots.

Typical has been prevalent during the past winter and for this reason there is all the more reason for using the utmost care in preventing possible spread of the disease in the warm weather by flies bred in our own garbage piles.

HARD TASK AHEAD OF TENNIS CHAMP.

This Season Will Give McLoughlin Real Test of Ability.

Maurice McLoughlin, W. A. Larned's successor as tennis champion of the United States of America, has been coming forward rapidly of late and last season reached the top. But while undoubtedly an expert of great ability it is still a question as to whether he is or will be another Larned—a champion able to protect his title through several years to come.

McLoughlin, in fact, has a hard year looming directly ahead without considering a run of seasons. In addition to his mate in doubles, T. C. Bundy, another Pacific coast star, McLoughlin is sure to face high grade competition from R. N. Williams, Wallace Johnson, Raymond D. Little and Touchard.

If Larned is able to return in proper physical condition to make an old time fight the present champion's troubles will be even heavier. It is doubtful, however, whether Larned will be able to face a year of active competition.

With Larned out of it, it is rather unlikely that McLoughlin will be displaced unless decided improvement is shown by several of his rivals. While one or two are now within close reach of his class, there is none who can be considered his master with better than an even chance to win.

The proposed invasion to make another fight for the Davis cup, now lodged in England, will draw out the best season of preliminary play the game has known so far as American is concerned. This feature may figure in the development of men of enough ability to displace the title holder. McLoughlin, however, hasn't reached his top form yet and will likely improve as much as any of his rivals. He is expected to be the leading factor in America's proposed invasion of England to fight again for the cup which England recently lifted from Australia shores.

Stars to Enter English Play. Heinrich Schmidt of the Worcester Golf club, Massachusetts' amateur champion, will be one of the Americans to enter next spring's British amateur championship contests. C. E. Evans, Jr., of Chicago is another who will make the trip seeking honors.

Factory Safety Device.

The management of a machine tool works in America has during the last several years kept a careful record of all accidents and made a study of them in the endeavor to ascertain just where danger is greatest and what accidents can be prevented by means of improved safety devices. One recently installed device particularly interesting is an electrically operated control by which the power at the engine room can be stopped by pushing a button anywhere in the works.—Exchange.

Lost and Found.

"I've just returned from abroad, you know. How is your poor father?" "We lost him." "Dear, dear!" "Yes, the nurse married him."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Atlantic Coast Life Savers In Action For Stranded Ship

Photos by American Press Association.

WHEN the Norwegian fruit steamer Nicholas Cuneo, outward bound from New York, was driven on to the Long Island beach during a terrific gale, the life savers found it impossible to reach the vessel. She was close in, but the high wind washed the sea into such a fury that the life savers were bent back each time they tried to reach the ship. When the storm subsided the steamer was found nearly high and dry and Uncle Sam's men in the cork belts had no trouble in getting the crew off. The pictures show the life savers in action after the gale had blown over.

Heart to Heart Talks

By JAMES A. EDGERTON

WHY THE WORLD GROWS BETTER.

People go up a hill by unclimbing and climbing. The world is constituted of the people who are in it. We are strong these people, and the world is what we collectively make it.

If the world is growing better, as we so often hear, it is because we are making it better.

Can we individually do our part? Can we each of us say, "I left the world a little better for my being here?"

If not, we are a hindrance rather than a help to mankind.

That is about the worst thing that can be said of a man.

It convicts him of getting something for nothing.

He receives the advantages of civilization, culture, free government, enlightenment, great inventions, religion, art, literature, humane institutions and general advancement.

The only way he can make repayment for these blessings is by adding something to them.

He cannot pay the past. That is gone. But he can pay the future. This is the course of life.

We repay our parents for their care of us by our care of our own children. If we shirk, we are getting something for nothing.

Here is a story of some people who are doing a very delicate service to make the world better.

The Ladies' Welfare association of New York city recently reported that the death rate of infants under one year old had fallen in a just year.

During the year 1912 there were 14,239 deaths of such infants as against 15,053 the previous year.

Yet the births in 1912 exceeded those of 1911 by 1,081.

The decrease in infant mortality was due to the work of eighty societies banded together in a common cause.

Civic Reform Gained Only Through Perseverance

By Rabbi STEPHEN S. WISE of New York

IF civic patriotism is to become a civic religion the pitfalls of religion must AVOID THE DANGER OF SCAPEGOATISM. Let us not make a scapegoat of some single political force or organization and thus try to explain away civic inefficiency and civic unrighteousness.

Such an organization as Tammany Hall is supported not only by the active suffrage at all times of a very large minority of New York citizenship, but, above all, is made possible by the INDIFFERENCE AND LETHARGY OF THE MULTITUDES WHO DO NOT CARE and, moreover, by the inefficiency and incompetency of many of those who set forth to lead the forces to reform.

CIVIC REFORM MUST BE A MATTER OF CONTINUOUS AND CEASELESS STRIVING. CIVIC RIGHTNESS IS NOT TO BE ACHIEVED BY SPASMS, COVERING A FORTNIGHT BEFORE ELECTION OR BY PAROXYSMS OF CIVIC WRATH, WHICH SUBSIDE IMMEDIATELY AFTER ELECTION.
