MILWAUKIE TO BUY WATER PLANT

$20,000 BOND ISSUE TO BE AUTHORIZED AT ELECTION IN MARCH

FULL VOTE EXPECTED ON MEASURE

No High School Graduates This Year, But Large Class Will be Graduated in 1914

Indications now are that at the special election March 18 in Milwaukie, the $20,000 bond issue for a municipal water plant will be carried. Sentiment seems to favor an enlarged water plant, or the purchase of the present private water system, which embraces two plants. It is provided in the act that the city shall purchase Minthorne Spring as the source of water supply, which has been tested and found free from contamination. It is considered almost certain that the amendment for establishing a fire department by a tax of 10 mills will also be carried.

There is much interest in the coming special election, and there will probably be a full vote on all five measures to be submitted. Mrs. Maggie L. Johnson, clerk, reports 270 pupils attending the school, 19 of whom are in the high school department. There will be no high school graduates this year, but a class will be turned out in 1914. Eleven rooms are occupied.

CAMPAIGN FOR 8-HOUR DAY

SACRAMENTO, March 1.—Leaders of the campaign to limit the employment of men as well as women to eight hours a day have declared March 2 as a universal eight-hour day, and hundreds of mass meetings are scheduled throughout the state. The declaration is intended as an aid to Assemblyman Kingsley's bill to this effect soon to be passed upon by the Legislature.

"Fifty thousand signatures to a petition requires the Legislature to enact the Kingsley bill" is the slogan of Socialists, who confidently expect to obtain this many signers to the petition on Sunday.

CAPITAL IS IN INAUGURAL THRILL

AT LEAST 50,000 DEMOCRATS TO INVADE WASHINGTON ON MARCH 4

HOTELS AND THEATRES THROGGED

Vice President-elect Marshall Calls on President Taft and is Given Cordial Greeting

WASHINGTON, March 1.—Fifty thousand visitors, it was estimated by railroad officials, had reached Washington tonight. The vanguard of the 250,000 expected to witness the first inauguration in 20 years of a Democratic president of the United States. The inaugural committee announced late in the day that every detail for the elaborate ceremonies of Tuesday had been completed and the city, bedecked in patriotic and holiday array, already has assumed a jovial spirit.

Throughout the day Washington teemed with inaugural activity which tonight turned into gayety, its historic avenue being transformed into a brilliant holiday thoroughfare. Enthusiasm was apparent everywhere in hotel lobbies, restaurants, theatres and the main thoroughfares, with arriving clubs and military companies, which are to participate in the inaugural parade contributing to the general excitement.

Official completion of the inauguration plans now await the arrival of Woodrow Wilson, the President-elect, who will reach Washington at 3:45 o'clock Monday afternoon escorted by special trainloads of Princeton University students and the Essex troop from New Jersey, which is to act as his official escort in the inaugural procession.

Vice-President-elect Marshall spent the second day in his new home. After an early morning greeting from the black-horse troop of cadets from Culver, Ind., who are to be his escort on inauguration day, Mr. Marshall visited the Senate, over which he is to preside for the next four years, and inspected the office in the Capitol building that will be his.

Late in the afternoon he called on President Taft, who received him in the blue room of the White House. The retiring President gave the running mate of his successor a cordial welcome, expressing his delight to greet him and wishing him and the new administration success.

The Vice-President-elect, in turn, smilingly expressed his regret that Mr. Taft would not be present after March 4 to aid by his influence in the assurance of such a consummation.

BANKING REFORM URGED BY CONGRESS
MAJORITY REPORT OF PUJO COMMITTEE IS FOR MONEY CHANGE

FINANCIAL TRUST IS ALLEGED
Minority Report Admits There is Grave Danger—New Chairman Favors Expected Plan

WASHINGTON, March 1.—Recommendations for the reform of banking laws made by a majority report of the Pujo congressional committee, which investigated the "money trust" are expected here to be followed out in the next session of Congress. Congressman Glass, of Virginia, is expected to be chairman of the banking committee in the new house, and it is declared that he is strongly in favor of the Pujo findings. Glass announced today that the report of his sub-committee, which investigated the Aldrich currency plan, is being prepared.

Bills covering the Pujo and Glass reports probably will be ready by April 1 for submission to the extra session. The Pujo committee recommends that the money trust inquiry be continued, but this clause probably will be stricken out. Many Democrats oppose further investigation.

A very lively battle on the floor of the House is anticipated before the close of the present session. The majority report of the Pujo committee found that:
The money trust is a menace to the financial welfare of the country.
The dominating forces in the world of finance are J. P. Morgan & Co. of New York; the First National Bank of New York; and the National City Bank of New York.
Seven Democrats signed the report, and four Republicans dissented.
Revolutionary reforms in the fiscal life of the country are recommended by the report. These include the regulation of bank exchanges and clearing houses.
The majority report submitted two model bills, one of which proposes to prohibit the use of the mails, telegraph and telephone to stock exchanges in the furtherance of alleged fraudulent transactions. It is also proposed to bar stock exchanges from all use of public utilities unless they incorporate and their brokers open their books and records to the state officers and the postmaster-general.
Hayes, of California; Guernsey, of Maine, and Head, of Delaware, presented a minority report, which denied that the evidence disclosed the existence of a money trust, but admitted that it did disclose a dangerous concentration of credit in New York, Boston and Chicago.

GOVERNOR VEToes POWER MEASURE
SALEM, Or., March 1.—Wielding the veto axe with a firm hand, Governor West today clipped off the heads from 10 legislative bills. Most of them are bills creating new offices or raising the salaries of present officials. Such measures met with no mercy at the hands of the chief executive. Others met the Governor's disapproval because of the attempt of the Legislature to usurp the functions of state officials, and because of undesirable provisions in measures dealing with worthy matters.
Important among the vetoes today are the Cello power project, rejected because it takes the matter out of the hands of the state engineer and puts it in the hands of a Legislative committee; and the Senate judiciary committee's bill, represented to be in aid of the recall but believed to be aimed at the recall.
Senator Day's bill for the investigation of the Cello power project had a checkered career in its course through the Legislature, and all efforts to have the investigation put in charge of the state engineer was fruitless. As first introduced in the Senate, it provided that the state engineer should have charge. Then the House refused to accept this, and put the investigation in charge of the desert land board. The Senate would not listen to this change, and, after going into the hands of a conference committee, the present form of the bill was decided on. As finally passed, the bill provided that the investigation should be made under the di-

COMMERCIAL CLUB BALL TO SET RECORD

Busch's Hall will be the mecca of all lovers of a good live time March 25, when the Commercial Club will hold its annual mask ball. Some of the prominent women of the city have already ordered their Puritan and other costumes and many reservations have been made of Portland costumers for standard outfits, while there are a number of original ideas being designed which will make a big bid for the most original character prize. Requests for invitations should all be in early and remember no one can dance unmasked until after 10 o'clock.

WHITE SLAVE FOE COMES HERE TO WORK

J. Ronald Stillwell, of Bandon, Or., a brother of E. L. Stillwell, of 615 Duane Street, this city, has arrived in Portland and will conduct a campaign against white slave traffic. Mr. Stillwell's idea is different from the ideas of most reformers, for he believes that white slavery can be stopped by an educational campaign among the fathers and mothers of country girls would stop this awful traffic. His plan is to circulate a great amount of literature to all country families and to have educational moving pictures to have along this same line. He also proposes to have a look-out committee in all country districts which will look into the character of all strange and suspicious characters. They will be given in one of the talks in this city some time soon. Mr. Stillwell will give a number of speeches.

CHURCH CHOIR PLAY TO BE GIVEN AGAIN

So great was the success of "Phyllis the Farmer's Daughter" which was produced by the Presbyterian Church choir, that the members of the choir, have been urged to produce it in Canby and will probably do so some time in the near future. Mrs. W. C. Green, playing the part of the adopted daughter, demonstrated her ability and surprised her many friends by the natural way in which she played her part, her sweet, melodious voice being much encored. Harold Swafford demonstrated that he was a singer and actor of great ability. Miss Harrison has been urged to remain in the cast as those who witnessed the play say that it would be impossible for any one else to fill the part as well as she. Mr. Harrison's part was played so well that one would think that he had the role from the first instead of just taking it at the last moment to fill the vacancy caused by the illness of Hugh Kennedy. The work of the chorus was a great credit to the drilling given them by Mrs. Leon DesLarzes.

ADVERTISING TALKS NO. 15

(By Ralph Kaye)

I realize that clean linen is paramount to my appearance. I think that every business man will say the same thing. Therefore when he purchases one, which laundry he will patronize it will be the one where he is assured that his collars, cuffs, shirts, etc., will be treated right.

In the advertisements of a laundry the points should be brought out that they know the importance of clean linen; that they have the methods and facilities to accomplish this; that the colors they turn out have just the right finish; that the shirts are starched and ironed just right and so on down the line.

Saying that my laundry does the best work means nothing. But if I say that my laundry appreciates the importance of appearance in business and social circles and that linen turned out by us has the proper looks, I am convincing my future customers that I know what is necessary in their appearance as well as they do. An advertisement has to convince the reader, first—that the firm advertising appreciates what he should have; second, that the finest product of service will accomplish the desired result.
