MORNING ENTERPRISE OREGON CITY, OREGON. E. E. Brodie, Editor and Publisher. Entered as second-class matter January 9, 1911, at the post office at Oregon City, Oregon, under the Act of March 3, 1879.

FOR RENT 15 acres, 2 1/2 miles from heart of Oregon City, 3-room house, barn and family orchard, 8 acres cleared. Tenant will be allowed to use fire wood for own use from place. Price $75.00 per year. SEE Dillman & Howland Weinhard Building.

Mr. Bennett, "though sometimes this number is larger, the motor of each of these cars is placed in a testing chassis and given two thorough tests before it is passed by the inspectors. This necessitates four trips for each of these 150 cars over the road a question every day, or a total of 600 trips. Then each of the completed cars is given a road test, adding 300 to the number passing, both ways over the road. Later these finished cars are driven out to the loading platforms, adding 150 more to the total. And at the very lowest figure, 150 delivery and office cars and trucks pass both ways during the day. This makes a grand total of 1350 cars every eight-hour working day, or an average of about 163 per hour or almost three a minute. We believe this is a record."

Arsene P. Pujo, Chairman of Money Trust Investigators

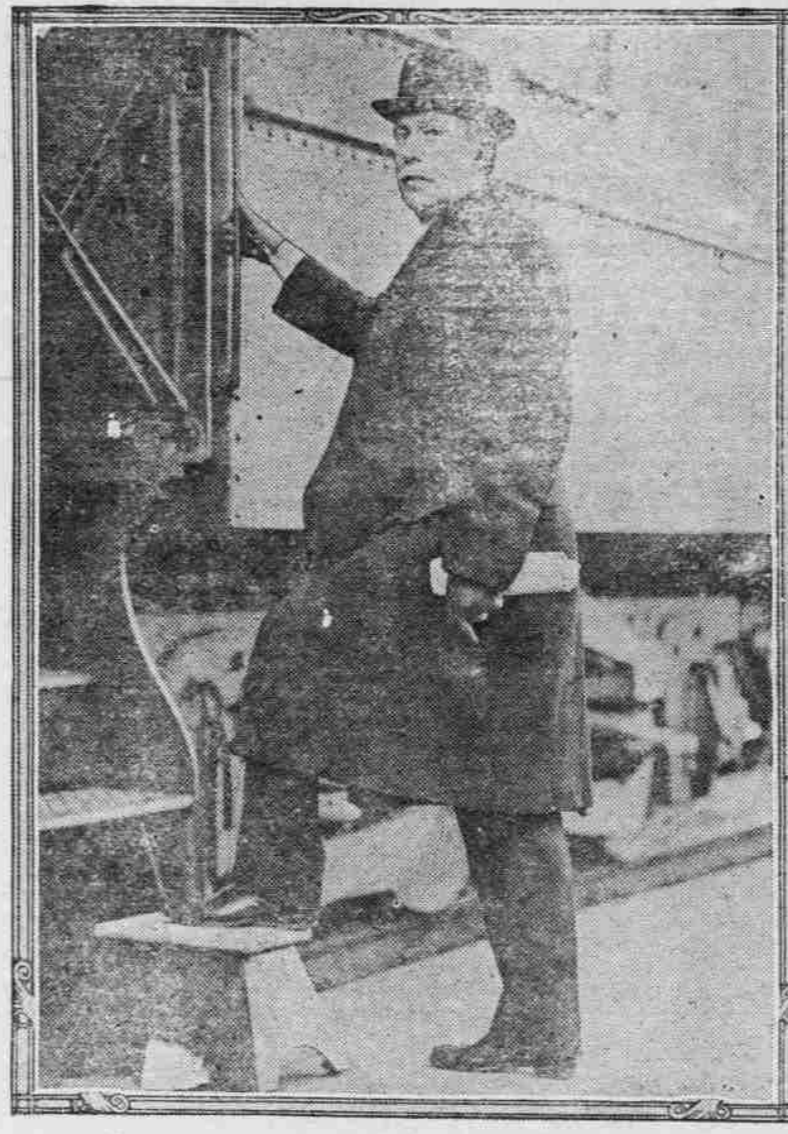

Photo copyright, 1913, by American Press Association

THIS is the man with the odd name who stirred things up in the financial pot of America. He is Representative Arsene P. Pujo of Louisiana, chairman of the money trust investigating committee, whose examination of J. Pierpont Morgan, George F. Baker and other money giants disclosed many interesting facts regarding the big financial combinations of the country. Congressman Pujo was snatched, as you see in the picture, as he was boarding a train at Washington on his way to Jersey Island, off the Georgia coast, where, together with Samuel Untermyer, counsel for the committee, he briefly questioned William Rockefeller who had dodged the investigators for months before he was served with a subpoena.

TWO KANSAS Dr. Adeline G. Soule CITY MODELS of Kansas City has found the model husband. And, naturally, Dr. Soule being an exemplary married woman, there is but one man in the world whom she could acclaim as the model husband. Need we add that the model is Mr. Soule? Multitudes of good women know that the men to whom they are married are not model husbands. But if any of such women were put under the sanctity of an oath, and the pressure of a court, to name the model husband of the world, is there one who could do otherwise than Dr. Adeline G. Soule? Not one. And that is the crowning glory of their sex.

would rather be shot than wear an apron (your name is legion and we know exactly how you feel) may shoot out the lip. But you can never deny that Mr. Soule is a model husband. And we tell you why. He is a model because none of the rest of us can ever pattern after him. He is a model because unapproachable. Any of us trying to pattern after that model would be likely to break the model before we got through. Wherefore better not try, for such a model should not be broken. The only other perfect model in the world is the woman fitted by nature to admire and acclaim the excellence of such a model man.

Has anybody ever heard anything of Mr. Emmeline Pankhurst, or must we say of him, as Sairy Gamp said of Mrs. Harris: "There ain't no such person?"

Secretary MacVeagh refers to the comfortable surplus in the United States treasury. P. P. C. in this case refers to the fact that the retiring Republicans provide plenty of cash.

A peculiarity of the Diaz-Madero bombardment of the City of Mexico was that the casualties were largely confined to noncombatants. The innocent bystander was in constat peril.

FORUM OF THE PEOPLE

BARCLAY SCHOOL HAS CONGRESS OREGON CITY, March 1.—(Editor of the Enterprise.)—The graduating class of the Barclay school organized themselves into a Senate December 8, the grade organizing as a House of Representatives. These to be known as the United States Congress of the Barclay School, Oregon City, Or. A president and vice-president for the school was elected from the two rooms at large. The constitution of the United States was adopted as a guide in all deliberations, and each house chose its necessary officers and committees and proceeded to hold regular sessions every two weeks, beginning at 2:15 o'clock P. M. every other Friday. Occasionally special sessions are called by the president.

A large number of bills have been introduced, including some amendments to the United States constitution. It was agreed from the start that the Congress not confine its work to national legislation only, but that bills relating to purely local matters would be considered. Thus several bills relating to state, county, and municipal questions are being handled. In the way marked interesting is being shown in several of these local questions that are before the people now, and are really alive. Among the bills so far introduced that have aroused spirited interest and called forth prolonged debate is a bill to appropriate $50,000 to the Willamette River at Oregon City, a bill to provide for paying the state militia half wages for providing for more drill work by the militia, a bill to amend the United States constitution so as to abolish the electoral college and elect the president and vice-president by popular vote of the people, a bill providing for an open season from September 15 to December 1 for shooting of China pheasants and setting a limit on the number to be killed by any one hunter and providing fines for disobeying the law. One of the most interesting Senate sessions of the year was held Friday afternoon, February 28, when nearly the entire time was consumed in the debate on a bill to prohibit the manufacture and sale of intoxicating liquors within the United States or any of its possessions. The most intense interest prevailed from the very opening of the debate, it being the general rule that as soon as one speaker finished five or six would be on their feet asking for recognition by the chair. After carrying the discussion for 30 minutes past the time for dismissal, they finally carried a motion to adjourn and to continue the debate at the next session, when it promises to be continued with renewed vigor.

The objects of this work are very apparent. First—it affords a most excellent opportunity to stimulate the study of civil government which in a large sense means citizenship. Second—it furnishes an opportunity for developing expression and the ability to think on ones feet, and at the same time furnishes splendid training in debating. Third—it brings to the realization of those who take part, the fact that all the knowledge they may possess is of no real value to them if they can not utilize it. For after all the great end of education is to fit boys and girls for future citizenship and citizenship includes usefulness. Therefore unless knowledge is usable the possession of it does not add to our usefulness as citizens. A. O. FREEL, Principal.

URGES U. U. INTERVENTION. OREGON CITY, March 1.—(Editor of the Enterprise.)—From the standpoint of the "man with the hoe" it seems to him that a solution of our present difficulties with Mexico, bringing peace to that much troubled country and on our part maintaining the Monroe Doctrine, would be intervention with the purpose of acquisition. Let the United States treat the Mexicans as she has treated the American Indian. When we have established a stable government in Mexico, it will be a decade till we will have to begin cutting her up into states to join the Union because of the immense immigration of United States citizens to that country. CHARLES M. MOFFITT.

The Widows' Town. Charlottetown, the fashionable western suburb of Berlin, is known as the "widows' town." At the last census no fewer than 14,543 widows were registered as residing within its boundaries. This is very nearly half of the total surplus of women over men that is to be found in the town—29,240. In no other town in Germany can such a proportionate surplus of the female sex be found. The number of widowers is extraordinarily small in proportion, being only 2,358.—London Telegraph.

A Puzzler. "I've a new car that's a beauty," said Green. "Runs so smoothly you can't feel it. Perfectly noiseless, no odors and, as for speed, it whizzes—you can't see it go by."

The Optimist. An optimist is a man who is confident of his ability to dig out of any hole except the grave.—Dallas News.

Farmers Should Combine to Control Sale of Their Products

By President HENRY J. WATERS of the Kansas State Agricultural College

THERE should be COMBINATIONS OF FARMERS of the United States to conduct their sales on a gigantic basis as do big corporations.

Perhaps the greatest single hardship of the farmer is LACK OF SUFFICIENT CAPITAL to conduct his business.

We have had several attempts at co-operation, such as the grange and Farmers' alliance movement, the Farmers and Laborers' union and the Farmers' Co-operative and Educational union, and those that best understand the present situation feel that we are at the beginning of another general movement in this direction.

Any form of co-operation to be successful must employ the methods that have been found most successful in other business. The co-operators must be willing to employ as CAPABLE MEN as managers as are employed by those with whom they seek to compete and in competing it will be necessary to employ the methods of conducting business EMPLOYED BY CORPORATIONS.

FOR EXAMPLE, IF THE FARMERS START A CO-OPERATIVE GRAIN ELEVATOR AT SOME GRAIN CENTER THEY ARE LIKELY SOON TO FIND THEMSELVES UNABLE TO COMPETE WITH THE CORPORATION THAT OWNS THE ELEVATOR THERE AND OWNS ELEVATORS AT OTHER POINTS, BECAUSE THE CORPORATIONS CAN OUTBID THE FARMERS AT ONE POINT AND MAKE UP AT THE OTHER TEN OR A DOZEN POINTS WHAT THEY MAY HAVE LOST AT THE COMPETITIVE POINT. TO MEET THIS KIND OF COMPETITION THE FARMERS' ELEVATORS SHOULD DO EXACTLY WHAT THE PRIVATELY OWNED ELEVATORS HAVE DONE—COMBINE.

THE BUSINESS MEN of the community look with more favor upon the young man who is wise enough to carry a checking account, than upon the other fellow.
