Governor's Vetoes on Number of Important Measures Sustained

Law

SALEM, Or., March 4.—The Senate adjourned sine die at 11:32 tonight. The House adjourned sine die at 11:43 o'clock.

At 11 o'clock tonight with half an hour's work still ahead of it, the Legislative Assembly had disposed of 27 of the 40 vetoes of the Governor. Of this number 11 county salary bills had been passed over the Governor's head, nine of the vetoes had been sustained and seven other vetoes bills, aside from salary bills, had also been passed notwithstanding the Executive veto.

Some of these passed were of large import, including the Rogue River fishing bill and the bill providing for investigation of the Commercial Club and the Cello Rapids in the Columbia River.

Probably one of the most important bills which was vetoed by the Governor and in which his veto was sustained was the Abbott bill.

It repealed the law placing the state printer on a flat salary. In addition the Legislature decided to sustain the Governor's vetoes on a number of important measures, including the bill providing for the extension of the recall provisions of the constitution.

The first veto which came into the hands of the Senate today from Governor West was overwhelmingly sustained, there being 21 Senators who voted to sustain the veto and but seven who voted to pass the bill, notwithstanding the veto.

The bill in question was one having for its purpose the extending the recall provisions of the constitution.

McCulloch and Joseph led the attack on the bill, urging that the Governor's veto be sustained, asserting that the bill provided that recall petitions should be signed only by those who had voted for Justice of the Supreme Court only at the next preceding election.

This provision McCulloch declared raised a condition which would make it impossible for petitions to receive an adequate number of names and he intimated that the bill had been designed for the purpose of nullifying the recall provisions of the constitution.

100 COUPLES ATTEND CATARACT CO.'S DANCE

One of the most enjoyable balls of the season was that given Tuesday evening by Cataract Hose Company at Busch's Hall. About 100 couples were in attendance, the hall was beautifully decorated and refreshments were served.

Milton Price, who had charge of the dance, and is regarded as probably the best manager of balls in the city, never had a better success, and at the close of the festivities he was congratulated by the firemen. Music was furnished by Prasp's Orchestra of six pieces of Portland.

SEVEN DECREES GRANTED ONE DAY

Divorce decrees were granted Tuesday in the following cases by Circuit Judge Campbell: Helen A. Tackles against Horace Harlem Tackles, plaintiff awarded custody of child; Mand Keith against Albert J. Keith, plaintiff awarded custody of child; Robert Greer against Sarah Greer; Wilhelme Arnes Knox against Herbert H. Knox, plaintiff awarded $25 a month alimony and her maiden name, Wilhelme Arnes Boots, restored; Vera Artella Perry against George Herbert Perry, plaintiff awarded custody of child; Thomas H. Mann against Mable G. Mann and C. G. Morey against Nellie M. Morey.

John J. Ramser filed suit for a decree against Margaret Ramser. They were married February 14, 1906, in Lisbon, O. The plaintiff says the defendant deserted him in September, 1904. Declaring that his wife had accused him repeatedly of being lazy and has harassed him for three years E. D. Mitchell has filed suit for a decree against May C. Mitchell. They were married November 27, 1891, in Cheyenne, Wyo., and have lived in Portland several years.

Oregon City was hardly outdone by the National capital last night for the Commercial Club had an inauguration ceremony of President Wilson and the Democratic party before a crowd that taxed the capacity of the club room.

Early in the evening President McElain of the Commercial Club announced that "Mr. Taft" and arrived and was ready to hand over the reins of government to his studious successor. The crowd greeted the announcement with a cheer and "Mr. Taft" (C. J. Buchanan) stepped into the room leading the Democratic donkey upon which was seated "Mr. Wilson" (J. P. Lovett). After loud and continuous applause "Mr. Taft" was finally able to deliver the government into "Mr. Wilson's" hands, whereupon Mr. McElain said that the Republicans had so long been in power that their president had grown fat, whereas the Democrats had so long been out of power that their new president was very thin. He hoped that at the end of Mr. Wilson's tenure of office both he and everybody else would grow fat. Mr. Buchanan, as "Mr. Taft" and Mr. Lovett, as "Mr. Wilson" were seated, and the resemblance to the President and ex-President was remarkable. The donkey was kindly donated for the occasion by John Moore, Jr., of Mount Pleasant.

Before the ceremonies it created much excitement by its refusal to enter the elevator and later by running away. But it was captured and finally taken to the club rooms, where its behavior was hardly what might have been expected, considering its presence on such an illustrious occasion.

Both the Star and Grand Theaters kindly donated a troupe of vaudeville artists and piano players, which were highly appreciated by the audience. Both troupes were of the first order and were much applauded. Mr. and Mrs. Bircel, the "Novelty Musicians" from the Grand, gave clever comedy and played a few fine selections on the harp, lute and violin. Blamphin and Hehr, of the Star, were the source of much amusement caused by the many catchy songs which they sang in a still more catchy manner.

W. W. Walker, of the Grand, and Miss Murphy, of the Star, did some fancy playing on the piano.

The Swafford Quartet, composed of Harold Swafford, John Mutkey, Arden Hickman and Hugh Kennedy, sang well and should continue the organization. The Busch Orchestra played at different times during the evening in a manner which would lead one to believe that he was listening to professional artists. The members of the orchestra are Frank Busch, Jr., Henry Pusey, Ray Baxter and C. A. Schoenberger.

Harold Swafford favored the company with several fine whistling songs, his canny bird-like warble proving popular.

After the entertainment a bounteous repast was served in the Masonic dining room. The crowd of more than 300 was the largest and most appreciative audience that has ever gathered in the Commercial Club rooms, and the whole affair was a great success. Great credit is due Mr. McElain, M. D. Latourette and other members of the committee for the success of the meeting.

EXPERT TELLS HOW TO MAKE CITY BEAUTIFUL

That the lecture of Howard Everts Weed, an expert in making cities beautiful, at the High school Tuesday evening will result in the city being improved from the standpoint of beauty is assured. The building was crowded and everyone present was greatly impressed with the practical suggestions offered by the speaker.

More than 100 stereotypical views were presented. Mr. Weed, who is a graduate of Cornell University, and has had 14 years of experience as an instructor of horticulture in two of the leading agricultural colleges of the country, declared that the first impressions gained by a stranger in a city or town were formed from what he saw at the railway stations and in passing through the city or town. He gave pictures showing how station grounds should be improved. The speaker also condemned methods of "butchering" trees. He said that nature did not "butcher" trees. Mr. Weed declared that every municipal city should have a park of at least five acres to each 100 inhabitants. He also urged the beautifying of cemeteries, showing on the screen the old and the new methods.

HARLEY STEVENS JR. SELLS 5 ACRES NEAR BOLTON

Harley Stevens, Jr., of Portland, has sold five acres of land about one half mile north of Bolton to James O. Dickey, of Molalla. The tract adjoins the county road and is mostly cleared with a good house and barn on it. At the time Mr. Stevens, who is the son of H. C. Stevens, who this city, bought the property, it was his intention to keep it for a home, but his business has made it impossible for him to reside there. The purchase price was $2,200. Mr. Dickey believes that he got a bargain and has placed the property in the hands of a local real estate company.

Civic Committee, In Sensational Report, Says Many Places Are Not Kept Clean

The civic committee of the Live Wires February 18 made the following report to J. E. Albright, chairman of the health and police committee:

A few weeks ago the undersigned were appointed a committee on civic improvement by the Oregon City Live Wires. Our instructions were that the efforts of the committee were to be directed toward a general improvement in conditions in the city, especially as regards health and sanitation and cleanliness. We have noted in the newspapers the efforts being made along these same lines by the committee on health and police, and it our desire to be of that as much assistance to your committee as possible in carrying out its work. We trust that if there are any ways in which we can help you, you will feel entirely free to call upon us.

Shortly after the organization of our committee we made a tour of the city, going over the whole territory as thoroughly as possible, and making notes of the points which might not seem to be in a proper condition and which might constitute a menace to the health or safety of the people. We are presenting herewith a list of these items, with the hope that it may be of use to you and also that it may possibly save you some time and effort in locating the various places that need attention.

We propose to make occasional inspection trips in the various sections of the city in order to keep in touch with conditions and locate any new points, or those which have previously escaped our attention. If you so desire we would be very pleased to supply you with lists of the items noted on each of such trips.

Our work is directed toward a cleaner, healthier, and more beautiful city, and we hope to cooperate with you and are working in the same direction.

Yours truly,
Dr. A. J. Van Brakle, G. L. Hedgess, M. D. Latourette, Dr. L. A. Morris, Dr. Clyde Munn, F. O. Amsted, Dr. L. L. Pickett, E. Kenneth Stanton, Livy Stipp, Dr. H. A. Olmsted, Secretary.

The following is a list of items noted by the civic improvement committee of the Oregon City Live Wires as in need of attention:

In addition to the specific items noted below, large accumulations of moss were noted on roofs in various parts of the city, which indicate that a general campaign is necessary in this direction.

1. The cliff along the railroad needs cleaning up, with the removal of painted signs and the remains of the old Fifth Street steps.
2. Railroad Avenue contains garbage, dirt and brush and needs cleaning up.
3. The barn or shed on Railroad Avenue between Sixth and Seventh Streets constitutes a fire risk and should be condemned.
4. The old tramway over the railroad on Railroad Avenue should be removed, as it is not now used, and the adjacent property on the Commercial Club, Fifth Street between the railroad and Main Street is in an untidy condition.
5. A manure pile was noted at the back of G. F. Anderson's place in Block 27.
6. A shed on Tracy's place constitutes a fire menace and should be condemned.
7. The blacksmith shop on Fourth Street, East of Main Street, is in an unsanitary condition.
8. A broken drain in a yard in the rear of the Armory constitutes a menace to health.
9. A large amount of rubbish was found in the rear of ran feed barn between Third and Fourth Streets on Railroad Avenue.
10. The freight yard of the Portland Railway, Light & Power Company is dirty and muddy and should be fixed up with crushed rock.
11. The section boss on the railroad should be made to clean up the right of way back of Hawley's mill.
12. The Canemish board walk by the railroad siding is in need of repair.
13. The Oregon City Laundry should clean up the accumulation of rubbish on the back and side of their property.
14. An empty barn in the rear of the laundry should be condemned.
15. Broken down warehouses on both sides of the old ice works should be condemned.
16. There is an accumulation of rubbish in back of houses occupied by Chinese.
17. The sidewalk should be kept clear on Fourth Street West of Main alongside Pape's Hardware store.
18. Water across between Fourth and Fifth is in bad condition, including sidewalks.
19. The end of Fifth Street at Water is filled with material evidently owned by private parties.
20. Materials in the street by the Oregon City Foundry should be kept in better condition and not spread all around.
21. An open box filled with garbage was noted on the sidewalk on Water Street near Fifth.
22. A manure pile was found near the stables at Fifth and Water Streets.
23. The river bank in front of the Ellis building should be cleaned up and improved.
24. An accumulation of boxes, etc., in the rear of Levitt's store constitutes a fire menace.
25. The property belonging to Mrs. Peck, corner Seventh and Railroad Avenue, should be cleaned up.
26. Numerous dirty bill boards were noted near the railroad.
27. The bluff North from Seventh Street carries a large accumulation of trash.
28. Railroad Avenue alley is in very untidy condition.
29. Surroundings of the water tower are dirty.
30. Conditions in the rear of the Weinhard building are very unsanitary, there being manure, rubbish, etc., which should be removed.
31. The rear of the Publicity building of the Commercial Club is filled with rubbish.
32. A manure pile and unsanitary yard located on the Moreland property, Block 23.
33. The rear of the Samson property is a bad shape.
34. The Cheney yard should be cleaned up.
35. The surroundings of the railroad flag house should be improved.
36. Moss Street, beside the Congregational Church is dirty and a bad condition.
37. A lot at the corner of Eleventh and Main Streets is being used for dumping purposes.
38. The plant of the Ice Company is in unsanitary surroundings, with manure, etc., which is especially undesirable in consideration of the nature of the business.
39. The alley beside the garage at Twelfth and Main Streets is filled with trash.
40. The river side from Ninth Street to the sawmills is an intermittent dump heap, and should be kept free from both rubbish and garbage.
41. The barn at Fifth and Sixth Streets is full of drift wood.
42. The river bank back of the court house is being used as a general dump.
43. One of the worst alleys in town is in the block between Seventh and Eighth Streets, West of Main.
44. The barn at Sixth and Main Streets is unsanitary and the chimney out of the side of the barn constitutes a fire risk.
45. A manure pile was found by the barn at Fourteenth and Water Streets.
46. Fourteenth Street should be cleaned up before main Street is accepted.
47. The retaining wall on the East side of Monroe Street between Twelfth and Thirteenth on the Cross property is broken down and mud and clay cover the sidewalk and much of the street.
48. The manure pile and unsanitary conditions were found in the vicinity of a cow barn at Twelfth and Van Buren Streets on the place owned by J. D. Wilcox.
49. A manure pile was found near a barn on the East side of Taylor Street between Seventh and Eighth Streets, also another on the West side.
50. A barn and alley back of Reddaway's, next to the Mayor's house, between Seventh and Eighth Streets and J. Q. Adams and Monroe Streets, was found in an unsanitary condition.
51. There is an accumulation of rubbish back of the Seventh Street Hotel.
52. Jack & Albright's barn, between Sixth and Seventh Streets, on Mall-prove Tenth Street. The improvement of John Adams Street is urged from Third to Twelfth Streets.

Alma Summersfield, 16 years of age, and John Davine, employed as trainman by the Southern Pacific Railroad, were arrested by Chief of Police Shaw on a Northbound passenger train, which arrived in this city at 9 o'clock Tuesday morning. The girl lives at Canby and Monday night her sister, Miss Anna Summersfield, who is her guardian, telephoned Chief Shaw that the girl and Davine had eloped. County Judge Beardsfield Davine in $2,000 bonds on a charge of contributing to the delinquency of a minor, his hearing to be at 10 o'clock next Monday morning. Constable Frost was instructed to take the girl to the Boys' and Girls' Aid Society. Miss Summersfield said that her sister and Davine left Canby at 8 o'clock Monday night.

PROPERTY OWNERS OBJECT TO GRADES

The report of the grades on John Adams Street as planned by the city engineer's office, call for a cut of 14 feet at the corner of John Adams and Tenth Streets. These plans will be submitted to the council probably this evening, when they will be discussed. At the intersection of John Adams and Tenth Streets the rocks on the surface and the entire cut would have to be made through bed rock. It is reported that the grade of John Adams Street will break in the middle of the block between Ninth and Tenth Streets and a 14 per cent grade will be maintained to the intersection of Tenth Street. From this street to Eleventh Street a 19 per cent grade will be maintained. It is also stated that the engineers say this is the best grade that can be given. The grade on the block between Tenth and Eleventh Streets, if there were no cut, would only be 26 per cent, or 7 per cent greater than it would be with the fourteen-foot cut at Tenth Street.

Property owners declare that if a fourteen-foot cut is made at this place it would not only ruin the property for a block and a half along John Adams Street, but it would also make it practically impossible to im-

CEREMONY

TAFT GETS BIG SHARE OF APPLAUSE CIVIC BODY DEFIED TO GO AHEAD

New Executive Begs "All Honest,

WASHINGTON, March 4.—Woodrow Wilson, of New Jersey, was inaugurated today as President of the United States and Thomas R. Marshall, of Indiana, its Vice-President. Under the dome of the Nation's Capitol, in the presence of a countless cheering concourse of his fellow citizens, the new President raised a hand toward a prophetic sun that burst through dissolving clouds, and pronounced the occasion a day of dedication; not of triumph.

It was an intensely human, precedent-breaking inauguration. With members of his chosen Cabinet surrounding him, the Justice of the Supreme Court before him, his wife and daughters actually dancing for joy on the platform below, and William Howard Taft, ex-President of the nation, at his side, the new President, shouting a summons to all "honest, patriotic, forward-looking men" to aid him, extended the promise that he would not fail them in the guidance of their country.

While the President's concluding inaugural words were tossing in tumultuous waves of applause, the re-thing President clasped his hand and enlisted as a patriot servant in the ranks of private citizenship.

Woodrow Wilson, seventh President of the United States inaugurated as Democrat.

"Mr. President, said Mr. Taft, his face beaming with a broadening smile, "I wish you a successful administration and the carrying out of your aims. We all will be behind you."

"Thank you," said President Wilson and he turned to shake the hand of his secretary of state, William Jennings Bryan. There they stood—Taft, standard bearer of a vanquished party after 16 years of power; Bryan, persistent plodder of progressive Democracy, three defeated, accepting a commission from a new chieftain and Wilson, the man of the hour, victorious, mustering, as he expressed it, "the forces of party, but the forces of humanity."

It was a political picture far beyond imagination of a few years ago by a setting that stirred the souls of the assembled hosts whose cheering at the scene seemed actually to reverberate from the distant Virginia hills.

The military and civic pageant that followed this climax of the historic day was more than five hours passing in review. Leaving Capitol Hill at 2 o'clock in the afternoon, the last of the marching thousands had not done their colors to the President in the court of honor until long after darkness had fallen.

President Wilson stood for more than an hour under the glare of myriads of brilliant electric lights, as he greeted thousands in the long line, among them the host of Princeton students who, as they passed before him, shouted a hearty greeting that he never can forget.
