POTATO PRICES ARE STILL AT LOW EBB

The weakness in the potato trade and the slowness of the demand, coupled with the fact that country interests are overloading the trade is worrying the commission men. In the Portland trade there has been a fair movement of potatoes recently, but for every sack sold there have been three more received recently. Naturally, this has not had a good effect upon the trade. Receivers are unable to find room for the increased offerings. Their own storerooms are full, the docks are full and the price is so low that they do not want to take the chance of putting them in public storerooms with the additional cost.

Prevailing Oregon City prices are as follows: HIDES—(Buying) Green salted, 7c to 8c; sheep pelts 75c to $1.50 each. FEED—(Selling) Shorts $25; bran $24; process barley $27 to $29 per ton. ADVERTISING TALKS NO. 16

Women are always on the lookout for goods that not only please them and fill a personal need, but goods that will save her household duties. Bakery advertising should appeal directly to women. Now in buying pies, cakes, cookies, bread, etc., what does a woman want to know? Is it not the purity of ingredients—cleanliness—in the surroundings where the goods are baked? She not only considers her own likes and dislikes but those of her family. After you have told her the goods are pure and made under sanitary conditions you must arouse a desire to purchase by appealing to her taste, her appetite, her imagination. In advertising pumpkin pies, if you tell her they are made of real pumpkins, fresh from the field, that the crust is flakey and crisp, not sticky and doughy, that the tops have an even brown through the powdered sugar, you set her imagination to working. Once you do that, it's a case of making good what you tell her, that's all. Next talk on Grocery Advertising.

At the Portland Theatres

LAST CAR LEAVES FOR OREGON CITY AT MIDNIGHT

SCENE FROM "BUNTZY PULLS THE STRINGS," AT HEILIG MARCH 10. The comedy success "Buntzy Pulls the Strings" which will be the attraction at the Heilig Theatre, 11th and Morrison streets, for six nights, beginning Monday, March 10. Popular price matinee Wednesday and special price matinee Saturday.

"BUNTZY PULLS THE STRINGS"

An announcement of more than usual interest to Portland theatre-goers is that made by Manager Pangle of the Heilig Theatre of the coming of Graham Moffat's universally popular Scotch play, "Buntzy Pulls the Strings." The play will be here for one week beginning Monday, March 10. "Buntzy Pulls the Strings" is unanimously conceded to be the most successful of all plays of recent years. It will be presented here by the all Scotch company of players which William A. Brady, the American producer of "Buntzy," recruited from the leading theatres of London, Glasgow, and Edinburgh. Mr. Graham Moffat, the author, helped Mr. Brady make the selection, for Mr. Moffat's acquaintance with the player folk of the United Kingdom is extensive. Mr. Moffat was himself an actor for several years and as such visited all the far-off cities of Great Britain and Ireland. Miss Molly McIntyre, a charming little lassie who came over here with the Scotch company a little over a year ago, plays the part of Buntzy Biggar. Her debut in America, at Collier's comedy theatre, New York City, was such a triumph that she became famous almost overnight and since then has firmly established herself in the affections of the theatre-going public of the larger centers of population of the country wherever "Buntzy" has been presented since it began its road tour. What the enthusiastic New York critics said of her has been repeated, in substance, by those of Chicago, St. Louis, Cincinnati, Detroit and elsewhere. Little need be said of "Buntzy Pulls the Strings" as a play. Every reader follower of things theatrical knows of its charm and quaintness, its compelling delineation of human nature in a picturesque Scotch setting of the period of 1860. Plays like "Buntzy" are not written every day. In fact, they are so rare that they are welcomed with open arms when one is written. If ever a play was welcomed with open arms that play was "Buntzy Pulls the Strings."

SOCIETY'S CRITICISM ANSWERED BY JUDGE

Members of the Farmers' Society of Equity having criticized County Judge Beattie and Circuit Judge Campbell for denying the society the courtrooms for its meetings, Judge Beattie said Saturday if the other members of the county court favored the courtrooms being turned over to the organization, he would offer no further objection. He, however, reiterated a former statement that the courthouse was primarily intended for court business, but when possible the courtrooms had been turned over to grange and other societies working for a betterment of conditions. A suggestion that other towns in the county might take advantage of the court's refusal to allow the society the use of the courtrooms and provide halls for it to meet in, thus taking business from Oregon City, was answered by Judge Beattie as follows: "The county court represents the whole county. I live in Oregon City. Mr. Blair lives beyond Canby. Mr. Mattoon lives in Estacada. So far as this court is concerned—it represents the entire county—Canby, Estacada and all other towns in the county have the same rights. The court is just as much interested in seeing other towns grow and aiding them as it is in seeing Oregon City grow. Personally, because I live in this city, I would like to see it become one of the largest cities in the West, but in my capacity as county judge I cannot discriminate against other towns in the county, and I am sure if I tried, Messrs. Mattoon and Blair would soon call a halt on me. But if I was wrong in denying this society the use of our rooms, when really they were needed for the business of the court, and if the other members of the court so decide, I shall withdraw all objections and welcome the members of the organization. My opinion was, and is, that this society is organized on entirely different lines from the granges, that its work and purposes are entirely different; it is a business organization and therefore should engage a hall in which to hold its meetings and not hold them in the courthouse which belongs to everybody."

The Bagpipes. A bagpipe has three long tubes, or "drones," which possess no fixed notes; a wind chest, sac or lungs inflated by a blowpipe, a chanter, with finger holes for playing the melody. It is an instrument with a small compass of about nine notes, which form no diatonic scale, nor are they accurately tuned to one another. Each note originally possessed a Gaelic name, such as bodroho, hannatum, huchan, hiechin, etc., and all the airs, reels, flings, songs, war marches, hunchans, strathspeys, lamentations, pibrochs—etc.—were self taught by ear. Now there are two or three book tutors in the market.—London Family Herald.

MRS. DURKEE GIVEN PARTY ON RETURN

A surprise party was tendered Mrs. C. E. Burns Friday evening by Mrs. C. E. Burns at her home in Preenpoint. The party was given in honor of Mrs. Durkee's return to this city, where she and her husband will make their future home. Mrs. Durkee has lived in Spokane several years. She was formerly Miss Mable Covert and lived for a number of years with Mrs. Burns. The evening was pleasantly spent with music and games, after which delicious refreshments were served. Among those present were: Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Burns, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Burns, Mr. and Mrs. Guy Reddick, Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Kelly, Mr. and Mrs. L. Nobel, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Monnell, Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Barry, Mrs. J. Murray, Mrs. T. Burns, Mrs. J. Surber, Mrs. C. Bernier, Miss May Straight, Walter Kelly, Miss Genevieve Kelly, Miss Helen Surber, Lloyd Bernier, Doris Reddick, Ryle Reddick, Leslie and Edward Burns, Dorothy Noble, Katherine Barry, Genevieve Burns, and Cleve Durkee. Mr. and Mrs. Durkee will make their home in this city at Seventeenth and Main Streets.

In Doubt About the Brand. A freshman came home from high school the other day and told her mother she was discouraged. The mother asked her the cause. "Well," she replied, "I will have to go three more years before I will be in the senior class, and it really doesn't seem worth the trouble. This morning in a spelling contest the teacher asked a senior boy to spell 'pneumonia,' and he stood up and looked about the room a bit uncertainly and then said: "Do you mean the liquid or the disease?" Like a St. Bernard. One of the blippiest compliments ever paid to Gladstone was Lord Houghton's. "I haven't seen you for ages. I live the life of a dog," said the hard-worked statesman. "Yes," said Lord Houghton, "of a St. Bernard, the savior of men."—London Chronicle.

Talk Dollars. The economical housewife was endeavoring to dispose of a much worn dress. "Hinnah," she said to the negress. "I will take $4 for the dress." "Ah! you got nothin' not so suspicious," asked the darkey. "No. But I'll take off a dollar. You can save that," said the lady. "Land sakes, missie!" exclaimed Hinnah. "That don't save me nothin'. That's jes' a talk dollar."—National Monthly.

OGLE MINE STOCK FINE INVESTMENT

THIS IS A REAL GOLD MINE, NOT A STOCK JOBBING PROPOSITION

We are going to install a 100-year mine to work them out. If you have sense to believe that we will be ton cyanide plant on our property, old stock stored away ask yourself handling 500 tons daily in five years. We have proven beyond all question whether it was a hole in the ground from now, and that means an output of doubt that the ore is there in pay or a mine you invested in, and if of about $1,000,000 a year. It has taking quantities to keep said plant in you will look it up and find your stock on years of labor to make the mine operation for years to come. This mine is worthless you can't help but see what it is today and as we are only located in our own county and owned that you invested in a hole in the short $10,000 to carry on our work by your own people and under these ground and not a Mine, so don't con- to completion we think this a very conditions it is bound to be of great demn a mine or place it in the same small amount to ask our friends who benefit to our county as all the mon- ranks. Be broader minded. Statistics have not already helped, to raise, year 1910 over $127,000,000 in gold contract, sign up for a block of stock and silver in the United States and and you will congratulate yourself by as this is a fact you cannot say that saying you helped put the finishing mining does not pay. If we get our touch on the plant that made Ogle extent that it shows that it will take plant in operation this fall it is rea- Mountain famous.

STOCKMEN ENLIGHTEN AT AURORA MEETING

At a meeting of the residents of Aurora and persons living in the neighborhood Saturday afternoon the raising of stock was discussed extensively. The meeting was held under the auspices of the Aurora Commercial Club. It was the unanimous opinion that the farmers should raise more stock than they are raising at present. It was added that the dairy business and the raising of swine would be more profitable than other lines. Dr. James Withycombe, of the Oregon Agricultural College, delivered an interesting address, and State Dairy and Food Commissioner Mickel told of what could be accomplished in the dairy industry in this state. Grant G. Dimick, manager of the Western Stock Journal, spoke upon the swine industry explaining what he had accomplished at his farm in this county. Manager Brown, of the Brownville Stock Farm, delivered an instructive address upon poultry and swine.
