CONGRESS BALKS AT WILSON PLAN

PROGRAM TO CONSIDER TARIFF ONLY NOT RECEIVED WITH FAVOR

CURRENCY BILL IS TO BE ASKED

Heifner Says That He Wants President to Urge Legislation for Benefit of Alaska

WASHINGTON, March 10.—President Wilson may find a harder task before him than Democratic leaders expected, to carry their plan to restrict Congress to the consideration of the tariff alone at the special session announced for April 1. Representative Glass, prospective chairman of the House committee on banking and currency, urged the necessity for immediate consideration of currency reform and former state Chairman Heifner, of Washington, asked the President to consider a recommendation for the immediate enactment of legislation looking to the development of Alaska.

PNEUMONIA IS FATAL TO YOUNG BRIDEGROOM

William Wheeler, 24 years of age, bridegroom of several weeks, died at his home, Ninth and Monroe Streets, Monday evening of pneumonia. He had been ill three days. Wheeler, returning from his work at the Hawley Pulp & Paper Mill, last Friday night, complained to Policeman Cooke that he was ill and asked the policeman to go with him to his home. This Policeman Cooke did. He also summoned a physician. The condition of the young man gradually became worse and it was evident early Monday morning that he could not recover. He was a member of the Knights of Macabees, and is said to have had an insurance policy of $3,000 in that order. His mother lives in Portland.

Vice-President of "Hub" Tells Investigating Commission That Establishment Gives Presents

CHICAGO, March 10.—James Simpson, vice-president of Marshall Field & Co., was recalled to the witness chair before the state vice commission today. The room was again filled, the spectators being largely women. Simpson was asked again as to the profits of his firm, and again asked to be excused from answering. He assured the commission that Marshall Field & Co. could well subscribe to any minimum wage scale law for women which might be adopted.

SEARCH FOR YOUNG COOPER IS FUTILE

Although a private detective is making every effort to find the young man, not a trace has been obtained of Ray Cooper, son of E. H. Cooper, collector of the water board of this city, who mysteriously disappeared from his home at Clatskanie February 17. Young Cooper was employed as a telephone lineman by the Pacific States Telephone & Telegraph Company and had charge of the line between Rainier and Westport. On the morning of February 17 he bade his young wife goodbye saying he was going to Rainier to work on the line. That evening he was seen at the station with another lineman and a stranger. His parents are still of the opinion that he was foully dealt with or shanghaied. However, many friends of the young man think he is in the neighborhood of his home, having wandered away while suffering from mental aberration due to overwork.

WHAT WE MAY EXPECT NEXT, NOW THAT WE ARE TO HAVE THE TELEPHONE FROM NEW YORK TO SAN FRANCISCO.

MRS. OGLESBY IS HOSTESS OF SCHOOL

Mrs. Charles Oglesby entertained the members of her Sunday school class Sunday from 2 until 5 o'clock at her home on the Abernethy. The afternoon was pleasantly spent in various kinds of out-door games and the children enjoyed themselves immensely. Appetizing refreshments were served. Just before the young folk departed for home, photographs were taken of the group and each person will be presented a picture in the form of a souvenir. Mrs. Oglesby was assisted in entertaining by her daughter, Miss Aloha.

CITY PUPILS TO AID JUVENILE FAIR WORK

The board of education of the Oregon City schools Monday night authorized City Superintendent Toozie to cooperate with County School Superintendent Gary in the work of holding a juvenile fair in the district embracing Oregon City. Last year 10 juvenile fairs were held in different parts of the county for the purpose of encouraging the youth in industrial work, and in some places these fairs were a great success. It is possible the Oregon City schools will give an exhibit of work at the same time the juvenile fair is held here. It is tentatively planned to show the work that is being done in the departments of manual training, domestic science and domestic art. Such an exhibit took place here two years ago and excited much favorable comment, being inspected by hundreds of parents and school patrons and others interested in educational work.

INVITATIONS ISSUED FOR BIG CLUB DANCE

Invitations have been issued for the annual ball of the Commercial Club to be held on the evening of March 25 at Busch's Hall. Applications for invitations should be made to members of the entertainment committee, of which M. D. Latourrette is chairman. That the ball will be the most successful ever given by the club is assured. All guests are requested to wear masks.

Bank Sues for Rent

The Commercial Bank, of Oregon City, has filed suit for $333.33 against D. C. Clark, alleged to be due as rent on a farm near an island in township 2 south, range 1 east.

Big Bundle of "Rainsticks" Almost Get Jersey Commuter in Trouble—Circumstantial Evidence Given Blow

"Just think of it," said J. E. Hedges, school director, water commissioner, former state senator and prominent lawyer, "I lost my umbrella twice last week and recovered it both times. It is amazing. An umbrella lost usually is as lost as a soul gone beyond Purgatory. But not so in these cases. The shower stick was left in both instances at the office of the Morning Enterprise. My only regret now is that the umbrella was returned in both instances almost immediately, for I would have been pleased to patronize the 'Lost and Found Column' of a paper that proved its ineffable honesty."

AUTO CLUB TO ELECT OFFICERS TONIGHT

The Clackamas County Automobile Club, which is working for the improvement of the roads of the county, will hold an important meeting in the Commercial Club rooms this evening. The club is advocating the improvement of a road between this city and Portland, and believes that a bridge should be constructed across the Clackamas River near its mouth.

By Practising Economy You Can Buy Future Independence

Every time you practise economy, whether in the purchase of a spool of cotton at a penny less than usual, or in the buying of a home at the right time and in the right place, you are buying independence for yourself.

MILLER VICTIM OF AUTO CRASH

DEALER SENDS CAR OVER BANK TO SAVE HORSE AND MO. TORCYCLIST

NEW MACHINE IS BADLY SMASHED

Daring Driver Is not Hurt, but Telegraph Pole Will Cost, at Least, New Coat of Paint

C. G. Miller, of the Miller-Parker Company, had a narrow escape from serious injury and perhaps death, and a brand new Overland touring car was badly shattered late Sunday afternoon on the road between Oregon City and Parkdale. Mr. Miller was driving the car to Clackamas Station about 20 miles an hour on the straightaway stretch South of the St. Agnes Baby Home, when he espied a runaway horse approaching him. The animal had not freed himself from the shafts that had been torn loose from the buggy in its mad flight, and was swinging from side to side of the road. Mr. Miller modified his speed and turned as far to the right of the road as safety would permit, and the runaway passed him on the left. Thinking all danger was over, Mr. Miller prepared to swing his car into the middle of the road, when he saw that a motorcyclist, traveling at a frightful rate of speed, was almost upon him.

FRANK PROFFIT DIES OF PNEUMONIA

The funeral of Frank Proffit, who died at his home on Molalla Avenue Sunday morning, was held Monday morning at 10:30 o'clock at the Elmvale Congregational Church, Rev. W. T. Milliken officiating. Mr. Proffit had been ill for about five weeks of pneumonia and blood poisoning. He is survived by his wife and four children, Guy, Velmer, Unis, Charley, Hughbert and Marian. All of the children are young, the youngest being but five months of age. Mr. Proffit was the father of Valera Proffit, who committed suicide last fall by drinking carbolic acid. Mr. Proffit was buried in Mountain View Cemetery. The relatives of both Mr. and Mrs. Proffit live in the East.

EXPERT CONTINUES PURE WATER PROBE

Chairman Toozie of the special council committee to try to obtain a better water supply for Oregon City than the present one, has called a meeting of the various committees making an investigation of the same subject at the city hall at 8 o'clock Friday evening. The Clackamas County Medical Society and the Live Wires are the other organizations working for a pure water supply.

BORING ODDFELLOWS IN NEW BUILDING
