tively liberal last week but steers were the only class which showed steadiness. Nearly all steer offerings graded a shade short of prime, selling $7.75 down to $7.25, with one small lot at $8. Tops are considered steady at $7.70 to $7.75. Butcher stock has been slow due to lack of quality but demand is not very broad for the best. Although an urgent call for prime calves rules, receipts have been insufficient. A good bull trade at steady prices shared butcher activity with cows. Generally the cattle market is steady with downward tendency.
