

THE SMART POSE.

"Debutante Slouch" the Latest Fashionable Fad.

TAILORED SUIT FOR SPRING.

The model wearing the new spring tailor made is posing in what is known derisively as the "debutante slouch." As you see, the figure line is nothing more than a frank striving toward the Greek antique—the Venus de Milo figure of perfect health, large, strong, with feminine curves, yet not plump. This is the fashionable pose of the season, but the Milo would hardly appreciate the synonym attributed to her classic attitude, but such is fate.

This new suit shows the latest jacket front, bodice and short slash.

Helping Women Who Entertain.
A woman recently thrown on her own resources has made a good sum by cooking special and novel concoctions for women who entertain. Some of her rarest and most delectable dishes are as follows:

She drops eggs in boiling hot maple syrup and serves them on rounds of toasted bread with butter and cream cheese.

She makes a delectable dessert. Braided peaches are filled with toasted mushrooms and chopped almonds covered with vanilla ice cream and a strip of rich fruit.

One of her novel salads is made with a canned pear cut in two lengthwise and a half served on a crisp heart of lettuce. The cavity is filled with grapefruit pulp and mallow grapes, and over all is poured a dressing made in the proportion of one tablespoonful of olive oil, a teaspoonful of pure white honey, salt, paprika and the white of an egg and two teaspoonfuls of lemon juice, the whole being whipped creamy.

A New Kind of Shower.
An aunt of a bride to be wished to entertain the twelve girl friends of her niece, but was very much opposed to the modern idea of showers, so she prepared a beautiful set of table linen, stamped tablecloth and napkins with the monogram of the engaged girl and sent one napkin and the thread for working to each of the girls, asking her to embroider it.

A few days later these girls were invited to bring "their sewing" and spend the afternoon with the bride. After a very pleasant hour spent in hemming this linen the aunt presented her niece with the embroidered cloth, and the girls showered her with the finished napkins.

This was a delightful shower without the usual expense to the guests.

SPRING FANCIES.

Borders printed in Bulgarian colors on crepe and ratine grounds have made their appearance.

Printed silk eponge is a novelty. It will be used for separate jackets to be worn with plain tulle skirts.

Flat collars will be in vogue when spring fairly opens. The prettiest of them will have shouder points.

A new sports coat is made of vicuna cloth with very bright colored stripes, like the blazers which came out last summer.

Many of the new blouses are of lace and net combined with chiffon, the latter being often embroidered in Persian embroideries.

Muslin skirts are back again, usually made of striped wash silk and trimmed with buttons, piping or hand embroidery.

A big bow of black satin or velvet with long streamers is fastened directly between the shoulders of some charming gowns.

One of the new materials for spring sporty coats is black and white checked linen in a rough weave, something like eponge.

Brassieres for spring are made of finer, softer materials than any yet seen, the imported ones being beautifully hand embroidered.

Low Priced Heroes.
Playing hero in the drama in England is a pretty poorly paid game on the average. The man taking the leading part in a kind of touring dramatic company, of which there are a great many, gets from $9.50 to $12 a week, and the small part folk pull down $3 to $7. The salary of a heroine keeps around $8.50 and the "aristocratic lady" finds about $125 in her pay envelope. It isn't uncommon for that kind of player to play four or five parts in a drama in a week for $7.—New York Press.

JUSTICE SAMSON CRITICALLY ILL.

W. W. H. Samson, justice of the peace, is in a critical condition at his home on Main Street. Dr. H. S. Mount announced Wednesday that his patient was suffering from heart trouble and the results of a paralytic stroke several months ago. Mr. Samson has been justice of the peace here several years, and probably has officiated at more weddings than any other man in the state. Many of the couples have come from Portland, Oregon City having been long recognized as the Gretna Green of the state.

RICH CONTRACTOR'S DIVORCE STANDS.

Circuit Judge Campbell Wednesday dismissed the petition of the defendant to have a divorce decree granted 20 years ago set aside in the case of Mary Normale against Simon Normale, a wealthy contractor of Seattle. Both plaintiff and defendant married after the decree was granted, and had the plaintiff won her suit for annulment of the decree, she would have been legally declared a bigamist. She alleged that her husband left her while they were living in Leadville, Col., to go to Seattle, promising to send for her and her child when he became financially able. She avers that soon after he filed suit for a divorce he purposely and fraudulently sent a copy of the paper containing the summons to a wrong address. The plaintiff, however, admitted that she learned of the decree soon after it was granted. Her former husband married again several months later and in a year or so she also was married. Normale prospered in business and is now reputed to be worth about $300,000. Hiram Gill, ex-mayor of Seattle, represented the defendant.

WIFE, SING, SAYS HUSBAND DRINKS.

Declaring that her husband is addicted to drinking intoxicating beverages and that he abandoned her November 28, 1911, Florence S. McRoberts Wednesday filed suit for a divorce from Robert F. McRoberts. They were married in Canyon City, January 12, 1912. Irene Welch, through Attorneys Cross & Hammond, asks a decree from George Welch, custody being alleged. They were married in Oregon City April 15, 1912. The plaintiff avers that her husband spent money which she saved before her marriage for intoxicating beverages, and when the money was gone deserted her. They were married in Glenn's Ferry, Ida., and have three children. The plaintiff asks the custody of them.

BRITISH GOLFERS COMING.

Change of Dates For Open Tournament Interests International Competition.
Other announcement of the change of dates for the National open golf championship at the Country club, Brookline, Mass., from the original time, June 4 and 5, to Sept. 17 and 18 was made recently by Robert C. Watson, president of the United States Golf association.
The change will mean that Harry Vardon, five times the British open champion, and Edward Ray, present holder of the title, will visit the United States in quest of its open title. Moreover, George Duncan, looked upon as a championship possibility, is likely to change the plans for his coming visit so as to be here for the tournament. There will be an interval of ten days between the end of the national amateur championship at Garden City and the beginning of the national open event, during which time a tournament will be held on the national golf links of America at Shinnecock Hills, N. Y.

Chinese Nine to Play Again.

The nine is composed of Chinese students, all citizens of the United States, who will arrive in San Francisco the latter part of March, playing representative teams of the west, middle west and east.

OUR DEEDS.
Our deeds still travel with us from afar. And what we have been makes us what we are.—George Eliot.

If you saw it in the Enterprise it's so.

NOTED EDUCATOR TO SPEAK AT BANQUET.

Dr. Edward A. Sisson, instructor of education at Reed College, will deliver an address at the Congregational Brotherhood banquet next Tuesday evening. The subject of his address will be "Men's Influence in Education" and it will undoubtedly be highly instructive. Dr. Sisson, who formerly was with the University of Washington, is recognized as one of the leading instructors on the coast. Immediately after the dinner, which will be served by the women of the church, Dr. Sisson will lecture. The public is invited to attend.

Interesting Affliction.
"I shouldn't think that you could love a young man who stutters so."
"Why not?"
"It is such a distressing affliction. It must take him an hour to tell you good night."
"It does. He not only stutters in his talk, but in his kissing."—Houston Post.

EXTRA SESSION TO BEGIN APRIL 10.

Underwood said as he left the White House that the Democratic caucus would decide whether the tariff was to be revised in one bill or each schedule taken up separately. It was reiterated at the White House, unofficially, that George W. Gutrie, Democratic state chairman for Pennsylvania, and former mayor of Philadelphia, was a likely appointee for a diplomatic post.

It was stated also that word from Richard Olney as to whether he would accept the Ambassadorship to Great Britain was not expected for several days.

President Wilson is giving careful consideration to the appointment of a collector of customs for the port of New York. Dudley Field Malone, a son-in-law of Senator O'Gorman, has been under consideration for some time, and it was said today that if Malone were not appointed he would be offered a position of equal importance. No comment was made at the White House on too frequent mention of the name of John Purry Mitchell for the collectorship. Mitchell, however, is said to be acceptable to Senator O'Gorman.

That former Senator Gardner, of Maine, and former Governor Burke, of North Dakota, might have posts was learned at the White House today, but it was not said just what positions they would be offered.

In the East room of the White House late in the day, the President planned to receive William Corcoran, Postis, R. T. Brooks and M. J. Welles, all present at a committee, of the local inaugural committee, for the purpose of making other arrangements. Solicitor-General Dullitt and Samuel Untermyer, counsel for the House money trust investigating committee, were also to pay their respects. Later in the afternoon, the President and Mrs. Wilson planned to receive a diplomatic corps and their families.
