

PICK KIVIAT TO DEFEAT JONES

Experts Predict Great Runner Will Topple Mile Record.

MAY MEET IN SPECIAL RACE

Arrangements Being Made to Have Stars Clash in Special Outdoor Event at the Mile—Kiviat in Rare Form at Present.

Does Abel Kiviat know what fatigue is? This question quickly flashed into the minds of those who saw the wonderful little runner win the Baxter mile in world's record time in New York recently. After running Taber and Hedlund into the ground and covering a mile in 4:18 1/5 Kiviat was comparatively fresh. He finished in a whirlwind sprint, and after getting his sweater on and taking half a dozen long breaths Abel showed scarcely any sign of his great exertion, excepting for the perspiration that stood out on his manly brow.

The most wonderful part of Kiviat's running was the fact that he made the pace for every step of the way. Norman Taber began to show the effects of the grueling pace that Kiviat made as early as the half mile. A quarter of a mile from home Taber was beaten, but Oscar Hedlund hung on until a lap from home, where he moved up and attempted to go by Kiviat. The answer that Kiviat gave Hedlund settled the race right there. Abel opened up with a sprint that carried him clear of the game little Bostonian by yards.

There was much speculation as to whether John Paul Jones would have troubled Kiviat had he started in the Baxter mile. Judging from Jones' running in the two mile relay race, it is hardly likely that he would have been nearer to Kiviat at the finish than was Oscar Hedlund. Kiviat had everything in the recent race, and had the race been run on a fast track there is small doubt that he would have done as fast as 4:17 for the mile.

Kiviat's wonderful running of late demonstrates clearly that Abel is better now than ever before in his career. It is not exaggerating a bit to state that he is two seconds faster for the mile this winter than he was last year at this time.

Ever since John Paul Jones came to the front as the world's greatest miler Kiviat has sought to show that he is at least as good as the great Cornellian. In their first meeting Jones beat Kiviat when the New York runner was out of condition. Then Abel came along and ran a full mile within one-fifth of a second of Jones' record and on top of that beat John Paul in the 1,500 meter race at Stockholm last summer.

Depend upon it, Kiviat will beat 4 minutes 15 1/2 seconds for a mile during the coming outdoor season or break his great little heart trying.

Woman's World

MRS. PATRICIA STREET (TOP), MRS. GLENN S. TINNIN (CENTER), MRS. HELEN GARBNER (BELOW).

Never in the comparatively short history of the suffragist movement in this country were such elaborate plans made as for the inaugural suffragist parade at Washington March 3. Winning their way against constant opposition by the force of public opinion, smiles and reasoning rather than wrecking windows and destroying public property, the women of the cause gained practically everything they asked for. There was a slight trouble in getting the use of Pennsylvania avenue for the procession and the use of grand stands and the staging of the tableau on the south steps of the treasury building, which is within a block of the White House.

Through the efforts of Mrs. Glenna S. Tinnin and Miss Hazel MacKaye the wonderfully beautiful tableau originated. Miss Nordica as Columbia, dressed in classic costume, singing "The Star Spangled Banner" and surrounded by the five virtues with which every woman is endowed—Liberty, Justice, Peace, Hope and Mercy—could not fail to be an inspiring sight. The arrangements called for the virtues to be impersonated by Florence Fleming Noyes, the famous classical dancer, as Liberty; Miss Flora Wilson, daughter of the secretary of agriculture, as Justice, and other equally well known women as the other virtues.

An account of the pageant would be incomplete without some mention being made of Miss Inez Milholland, the beautiful New York society girl, herald of the procession reviewed by Miss Columbia.

The object of the procession, pageant and mass meeting was naturally conceived by the suffragists to impress upon congress and inaugural visitors from all parts of the country the strength of the movement in the United States and other countries and to actively begin a campaign for an amendment to the federal constitution letting down the bars against women voting all over the country. This campaign will be actively carried on in the future.

Women in 1400 B. C.

In its treatment of women the Egypt of 1400 B. C. was far ahead of its neighbors. There women suffered under none of the rigorous laws or customs that made life a burden to those who lived in the countries to the east. The Egyptian woman of the lower and middle classes was more independent than any other woman in the world. She went about the streets unwatched and talked with whom she pleased. Her husband had no right to control her actions so long as she remained a faithful wife and kept the house in order. Within the home the Egyptian wife had supreme authority. One writer even speaks of the husband's position as that of a mere privileged guest.

A New Embroidery Apron.

So absolutely simple that the wonder is that some woman did not design it years ago is a little embroidery apron of half oval shape slightly curved at the waist line to fit smoothly into a band and directly in its center equipped with a half oval pocket about a third of the size of the pinafore proper and affording ample shelter for a small piece of fancy work. The apron is dainty in white batiste, edged all round with a scalloping in a pale color and with its pocket similarly edged, but carrying in its center an embroidered floral design.

MANAGERS IN SOME MINOR LEAGUES WANT ALL THE CREDIT.

"Down in the Blue Grass league, where I was brought out," says Allie Bushang, the little fielder who gets a spring trial with Detroit, "the managers are very firm and positive in their ways. They want all the credit. They want to show that the success of their team is due wholly to their exertions, and they are always there with the alibi in case they fail. One Blue Grass leader had an elaborate set of signals—about 575 of them—and every movement he made had some bearing on the proceedings of the game. His signal to steal a base was to dust his shoes with his handkerchief, and one afternoon, with the bases full, two down and his team two runs behind, he was raging and fuming on the bench. As he leaned forward to get a better view of the field, his handkerchief fell out of his pocket and dropped upon his toes.

"The man on third saw the handkerchief on the shoes and at once broke for home. So astounded was the pitcher that a wild heave ensued, the ball rolled a mile away and in came the whole flock, winning the game. As the fellow on third started the manager's face became one of frozen horror; as the ball went wild, the face was suffused with joy, and as the players crowded whooping 'round the bench the face bore a look of haughty superiority.

"'Honest, boss,' said the fellow who had come in from third, 'when I saw you give the signal I thought you was plumb crazy, but orders is orders, and so in I came.'

"That's right, my boy," boomed the manager imperiously. "When I give a signal never you mind whether it seems right or wrong. I'm doing the thinking for this club. I'll take the blame if anything goes wrong, and all you fellows need to do is to obey. Of course it might seem to you youngsters who are not wised up on the beauties of the inside game, that I took an awful chance when I gave that signal, but I had it all figured out. I know that pitcher was a nervous guy, and he was sure to heave it wild. Follow my orders, lads, and you'll never regret you trusted in me."

"Could you beat him? Nope. You couldn't even tie him."

BARRY PLANS CAMPAIGN.

Cookery Points

Spinach Recipes For Spring.

Blanch and trim two sweetbreads very carefully and cook gently with a few pieces of vegetable—onion, turnip and carrot—in the water. Ox sweetbreads take from one and one-half to two hours, calf's sweetbreads three-quarters of an hour. When ready lift the sweetbreads out of the pan, wrap in a buttered paper and keep hot. Make a half pint of sauce with the liquor. Put one tablespoonful of flour and one tablespoonful of butter in a saucepan. Rub over the fire with a wooden spoon till melted, then pour in one cupful of the liquor in which the sweetbreads were cooked. Stir till it boils and cooks ten minutes. Season with pepper and salt. Put the sweetbreads back in this sauce to keep hot, but not to cook any more. Have ready about a pound of spinach, which in this case may be thickened with two yolks of eggs. Butter two or three pieces of toast and cover with the spinach. Divide the sweetbreads, lay one on each toast and pour a little of the sauce on each piece of sweetbread. Serve as hot as possible.

Spinach Soup.

Put two quarts of stock (or water will make this soup very good) into a saucepan, a pound of well washed spinach and a large bunch of well washed parsley. Let these all boil half an hour, then rub as much as possible through a sieve. Dissolve one heaping tablespoonful of butter in the bottom of the pan, add one heaping tablespoonful of flour and stir it in till absorbed. Then add the puree of spinach. Let it boil up. Now beat smooth two yolks of eggs, add to them a very little cold water to thin them down and add to the soup. The soup must not boil after the yolks of eggs are added. Season nicely and serve with small squares of toast. A good squeeze of lemon juice is considered an improvement to this soup, but should be added and boiled up before the yolks of eggs.

Spinach Souffle.

Pick over a half peck of spinach, wash thoroughly, drain and put into a saucepan with a half cupful of water and a teaspoonful of salt. Simmer ten or fifteen minutes, take up, chop and press through a colander. Add two tablespoonfuls of cream, the yolks of four eggs and a dash of cayenne. Lastly, fold in the beaten whites of four eggs and turn into a buttered dish. Cover the top with grated bread-crumbs and one tablespoonful of butter, sprinkle with cheese and bake in a hot oven. Serve with egg sauce.

Creamed Spinach.

Cook, drain and chop a peck of spinach as described. Cook together two rounding tablespoonfuls of butter and two level tablespoonfuls of flour. After three minutes turn in the spinach with them and cook and stir for three-minutes more. Pour a cupful of cream, cook five minutes longer, season with salt and pepper, stir thoroughly and serve at once.

Boiled Salt Mackerel.

A well freshened, fat, salt mackerel, soaked or broiled, is very appetizing. Soak overnight in cold water, taking care that the skin side lies uppermost, so that the salt may be extracted from the fish. In the morning dry it carefully without breaking the flakes. If it be broiled lay it in a fine wire broiler, well buttered, and broil over a clear fire until a light brown. Then lay it on a heated platter. Melt a tablespoonful of butter. Add to it a teaspoonful of lemon juice or vinegar, a tablespoonful of hot water, a pinch of black pepper and a small cucumber pickle, chopped fine, and pour over the mackerel.

Macaroni Rabbit.

For this recipe use a cupful of grated cheese to a cupful of boiled macaroni. Melt two tablespoonfuls of butter in a saucepan. Put in the grated cheese and a tablespoonful of Worcestershire sauce. Stir constantly until the cheese melts; then add the macaroni, cut in tiny rings. Measure the macaroni after cooking. Also add the beaten yolks of three eggs diluted with two-thirds of a cupful of milk. Stir constantly until the mixture thickens and then serve at once. After the cheese is melted flash cooking over hot water or in a double boiler.

Oyster Cream Toast.

Trim and toast delicately thin slices of bread with the crusts removed. Get small, well flavored oysters and wipe perfectly dry. Arrange them in a well greased oyster broiler and broil over a clear fire until the gills begin to curl up all around the edge; then place them closely together on the toast and sprinkle grated or finely minced celery over them. Dredge with a little salt and white pepper and pour over them some good rich cream thickened a very little with cornstarch or pastry flour. Serve it once.

Eggless Chocolate Cake.

One cupful of sugar, one tablespoonful of butter, one cupful of sour milk, one teaspoonful of soda in milk, one and one-half cupfuls unsifted pastry flour, one-third teaspoonful of salt, one tablespoonful of vanilla, one tablespoonful of cocoa. Bake in sheet, frost with following: One and one-half cupfuls of frosting sugar, one-half teaspoonful of vanilla, butter size of walnut. Mix to spread with hot water.

Big Cyanide Plant Is To Be Installed Soon

Work To Commence Immediately

Construction work is to begin on the 100-ton cyanide plant on the property of the Ogle Mountain Mining Company early in April. Mr. Charles F. Spaulding, Engineer and expert, will be here by April 1 to take charge of the construction work and the orders for machinery will be placed immediately.

Stop and think what the above statement means to Clackamas County and the state at large. Have you helped finance the proposition? Are you going to let the chance go? Or are you going to get in and help us along? Now is the time a little help will be appreciated, for when the plant is completed it will do the rest. If you don't want to help, just keep your eye on Ogle Mountain and watch the gold bricks come out, and console yourself by the old saying, "The chance has gone by."

This is one of the many recommendations that we have of the Engineer,

Mr. Charles F. Spaulding, who is to take charge of the work at the mine. Copy Gilbert Wilks & Co., Inc., Electrical Engineers and General Contractors, Denver, Col.

To whom it may concern—The bearer, Mr. Charles F. Spaulding, has been known to me for a considerable time past and I consider him one of the best mining and concentration engineers of the West. He is painstaking, and being possessed of great natural ability, has brought several hard propositions to a successful termination, and I have no hesitation in strongly recommending him to any one needing high grade services in his line.

Signed, WILLIAM H. GREY, M. & E. E.

Under the management of Mr. Spaulding we feel sure we are going to get all there is coming to us, and the best of treatment for he has the name of doing things right.

Where can you place a few dollars with the chance of winning larger profits? There is no easier money made than there is in mining. Why do we say we have a mine? Because we have our property developed, the veins are of true fissure origin, there are many in number and range in width from four to seventeen feet; are located from surface to thirteen hundred feet in depth and all carry values in payable quantities. What more can you ask, as these are facts and the property is located right here at home and owned by home people.

Gentlemen, what more can we do to prove to you that we have one of the best investments for big returns on the Pacific Coast? Our display of ore is credited among mining men as being the best on the coast. Call at our office, Tenth and Main Streets, and learn all particulars or fill out the following contract:
