"Don't you love moonlight nights?"
"Yes, but I can't love them alone."

LOCAL BRIEFS

Willamette Falls Camp No. 148, of this city and Multnomah Camp No. 77, of Portland, will have a contest in degree work at the W. O. W. Hall in this city. Much interest is being manifested in the contest and the local camp feels sure of winning out. A large attendance of the local camp is expected and two special cars will convey the large crowd from Portland. A banquet will be served after the contest.

Elijah Coleman, of Government Camp, was in this city Thursday attending to business. Mr. Coleman is the manager of the Mt. Hood and Barlow Road and states there is now five feet of snow on the ground. Earlier in the season there was a little over 12 feet on the level, but most of that melted. Within the past few weeks considerable more snow has fallen.

Mrs. Theodore Ebner and her mother, Mrs. Anna Bell, who are renting part of the Partlow place, at Mount Pleasant, have gone to Harrisburg to visit an aged aunt. They will stay indefinitely. Mr. Ebner, who is at present in White Salmon, Wash., has bought a few acres from Mr. Partlow.

Frank Busch is having four cluster lights installed in front of his property on Main Street. The standards are of an ornamental design and each will hold four electric globes. Mr. Busch hopes to have the lights burning Saturday evening.

The Electric Theatre has been sold by Mrs. M. Brooks and will soon be remodeled and run by A. J. Bell, recently of Kalama, Wash.

A. G. Lendeson, of Portland, was a business visitor to this city for several days this week.

Mrs. Jack Young has gone to Portland for a few days to attend to business in that city.

Mrs. E. V. Waterson has been in this city for several days visiting friends.

Ethel McFarland was in this city several days the first part of the week visiting friends.

Rev. Spies, of Clackamas, was in this city Thursday attending to business.

John Jennings, of Jennings Lodge, who has been ill at his home, is now somewhat improved.

Mrs. Louis Williams is in this city for several days this week visiting friends.

A. B. Anderson, of Portland, is in this city for several days attending to business.

Edith Church has gone to Portland for a few days.

George Watson was in this city Thursday afternoon visiting friends.

Mrs. Franklin Griffith was in this city Wednesday visiting friends.

E. L. Brownson, of this city, is in Seattle attending to business.

or missiles, or slide any sled or other machine, or any vehicle whatever for amusement in any of the streets, highways or alleys of the city, or over any of the sidewalks, provided, however, that the mayor of the city council shall designate some street or portion thereof, that may be used for coasting purposes at certain seasons, upon petition, or when it may be deemed advisable by him or them to do so."

The Woman's Club, at a meeting Thursday afternoon, unanimously adopted a resolution opposing the plan to prevent children from skating on the sidewalks. The members declared that the children, if their attention were called to the alleged damage being done to parkings, would refrain from doing further damage. It was the unanimous opinion that "the children should be as free to use the sidewalks as dogs."

The club also voted to use its influence in having preserved the McLoughlin promenade along the bluff. It was declared that it was threatened with desecration by street improvements. The club decided to give one half dozen Caroline Testout rose bushes and a copy of Mr. Lord's book as prizes at the children's fair to be held the coming summer. A committee was appointed to arrange for the serving of refreshments during the booster celebration and at the Sunday School Convention in April.

The social program was conducted by Mrs. Janette Scott. The subject was, "James Whitcomb Riley." Mrs.

M. M. Charman read a short biography of Mr. Riley and Mrs. Spears gave a story of her personal acquaintance with the Hoosier poet. Velma Randall gave two selections in recitation. Miss Mass gave Longfellow's "Famine" from Hiawatha.

The High School Quartet, composed of the Misses Mass, Telford, Hanney and Spence, gave a beautiful selection.

Mrs. Matheson, accompanied by Miss Louise Walker, sang so pleasingly she was urged to respond to an encore.

POTATO MARKET STILL SLUGGISH

The situation in the potato trade is still the most unsatisfactory ever known in the local market. Offerings continue very heavy and the demand is at low ebb so far as the wholesale produce trade is concerned. This is due to the fact that nearby producers are practically filling every want of home retailers.

There is no outside demand at any price at the present time. So much stock is being offered on consignment by Pacific Northwest interests that outside markets are crying to stop the movement. They are unable to take care of offerings.

The greatest disappointment is the lack of demand for seed. To date this season so little business has been confirmed with the outside that total shipments of this character from the Pacific Northwest points to California can be easily counted on the fingers and toes of one person.

Everyone who has handled potatoes this season has lost money, therefore none is inclined to speculate at any price. The limited demand that is being shown in the local market is more than taken care of by consignments without price restriction.

PORTLAND, March 27.—(Special.)—"My belief is that the next 24 hours will develop the greatest tragedy in the history of the country," wired Governor James M. Cox, of Ohio, to President A. B. Averill, of the Portland Chamber of Commerce, this morning.

"We are in great need of funds," continued the Governor. "Wire remittances payable to the Governor or the treasurer of the state relief fund. You will do a real deed to humanity to induce all trade bodies over the West to do the same thing."

With this ominous message before him, President Averill immediately authorized a most vigorous campaign for relief funds. Messages were sent instantly to all the leading cities of Oregon, urging them to act quickly. Secretary Giltner was instructed to open a relief fund for Portland people, and to get a working committee in shape for a far-reaching effort to raise money and provisions and clothing. All Oregon has been notified of the disaster, and that this state of plenty and immunity from such catastrophes should respond to the call of humanity quickly and generously.

Early this morning the voluntary contributions at the office of the Chamber of Commerce began. Before the people fully realized the gravity of need existing they began arriving and handed in their checks. No committees have got out yet among the business men, but it seems certain a big cash fund will be available to forward tomorrow morning.

Offers of provisions are coming thick. It is clear already that several trainloads of provisions can be sent. Various committees of the states have sent telegraphic offers of carloads of potatoes, onions, apples, flour and other products. To determine what should be done in regard to these generous offers, Secretary Giltner sent Governor Cox the following telegram late this morning:

"Besides funds, do you want potatoes, onions, apples, clothing and shoes? We presume that although such supplies will reach you several days hence, they will be necessary even then. Wire immediately regarding this."

President J. H. Young, of the Hill lines here, immediately offered to take free charge of the offers of provisions and supplies, when brought to his lines, if the Eastern connections of the road reaching Ohio and Indiana would handle the same. Dispatches were sent at once to learn what the other roads would do. The answer was favorable. The Hill lines throughout this territory will accept such tonnage and rush it to destination.

from Columbus as follows:

"The exact extent of the appalling flood in Ohio is still unknown. Every hour impresses us with the uncertainty of the situation. The waters have assumed such unknown heights in many parts of the state that it will be hardly less than a miracle if villages and towns are not wiped out of existence in the southern and southwestern parts of Ohio. The storm is moving south of east.

"Please give great publicity to an appeal for help. My judgment is that there never has been such a tragedy in the history of the Republic.

been filled with an accumulation of drastic circumstances. "Piteous appeals have been made by men who were surrounded by water and confronted by the conflagration in the city of Dayton. Every human energy has been exerted to give relief, and yet the measure of assistance has been comparatively small.

"It is my belief, however, that by daylight tomorrow those imprisoned in the business section of Dayton can be relieved. The day began by a storm signal from the weather bureau advising that there would be dangerous rise in the waters of the Muskingum River. All the towns along this source, including Zanesville and Marietta, were advised. Before noon the situation assumed a critical aspect at Zanesville, and the historic 'Y' bridge was blown up with dynamite.

"The loss of life in Zanesville is uncertain, because all telephone communication ceased at noon. Marietta cannot be reached, but it is safe to assume that the same devastation results at Zanesville were carried on to Marietta.

"A flood situation developed in the Maumee and Sandusky Valleys, in Northwestern Ohio, but the damage to life and property was nothing compared with that in the south.

"In many respects the Dayton situation is without parallel. The city is unable to send to the outside world any accurate idea of the real loss."
