TARIFF RADICALS

President Wilson is reported to have given his approval to the tariff bill which the Democrats will have ready for introduction when Congress meets on April 7 and to have promised to push its passage with the whole influence of the executive department, including, we say with any former President, its patronage powers.

Whether President Wilson will now descend, to promote his tariff views, from his somewhat lofty and detached attitude with respect to his patronage powers remains to be seen. He is and should be credited with sincerity in that attitude. But when we remember how potent an instrument of influence patronage is, and the existing Democratic hunger and thirst, we may be excused for some doubts as to Mr. Wilson's ability to maintain that attitude.

From the summaries wired from Washington it is evident that the radical of "tariff-for-revenue-only" section of the Democracy is in the saddle in the tariff-making business. The general impression produced by the rough draft of the bill classes with the "Walker tariff" of 1846, the production of the Hon. Robert J. Walker of Alabama, who was extremely well instructed in British "free trade" theories but without any sort of experience in conducting manufacturing enterprises.

If Given the Vote Women Would Neglect Their Regular Duties

By ELIHU ROOT, Senator from New York

I THINK that suffrage would be a loss for women, because suffrage implies not merely the casting of the ballot, the gentle and peaceful fall of the snowflake, but suffrage, if it means anything, means entering upon the field of political life, and politics is MODIFIED WAR.

IN POLITICS THERE IS STRUGGLE, STRIFE, CONTENTION, BITTERNESS, HEARTBURNING, EXCITEMENT, AGITATION, EVERYTHING WHICH IS ADVERSE TO THE TRUE CHARACTER OF WOMAN.

Woman rules today by the sweet and noble influences of her character. Put woman into the arena of conflict and she ABANDONS THESE GREAT WEAPONS WHICH CONTROL THE WORLD, and she takes into her hands weapons with which she is unfamiliar and which she is unable to wield.

In the divine distribution of powers the duty and the right of protection rest with the male. It is so throughout nature. It is so with men. It is a great mistake. It is a fatal mistake that these excellent women make when they conceive that the functions of men are superior to theirs and seek to usurp them.

The TRUE GOVERNMENT IS IN THE FAMILY. The true throne is in the household. The highest exercise of power is that which forms the conscience, influences the will, controls the impulses of men, and there today woman is supreme, and woman rules the world.

American people may be most gravely doubted.

However, the American voter, whose will is law, has seen fit to enter upon another experience in the way of Democratic tariff making, and has again assumed that the Democratic party can make a tariff without bringing disaster upon the great industries of the nation. So there doesn't seem to be anything particular to say at this stage of the game but to recall the saying of Benjamin Franklin that "Experience is a dear teacher, but men will learn in no other."

FLOODS AND RIVER IMPROVEMENT.

The floods sweeping portions of the Ohio Valley, coming so suddenly upon the heels of devastating storms, have caused the greatest loss of life and property known in all the flood history of the country in so small an area of overflow. Much damage in past years has been caused along the Ohio and lower Mississippi particularly, and the upper Mississippi and Missouri in a less degree, but the loss of life was therefore much less. The present floods are more in the nature of a sudden calamity, an unannounced and unprepared for devastating deluge. The loss of life has been appalling. So closely are families all over the country connected that there can scarcely be a city in any state which does not number many who must mourn relatives lost in one or more of the storms or floods. The nearness of it all and our personal interest in the victims and places are apt to give us a wrong perspective, and cause us to forget that only last year 40,000 were drowned by floods in China, and that great disasters have caused larger loss of life without making much impression upon us. We have need to remember these things in times of personal trial.

The nature of the floods in Minneapolis, Terre Haute, Dayton, Hamilton and other places where there has been much loss of life is quite different from the overflow floods of our large rivers in times of continued rains. They were caused by the sudden rise of water in comparative small streams from torrential rains. Cities along such streams, especially if built on low ground, are constantly in danger from such an overwhelming whenever the proper conditions occur. No general scheme of river improvement and flood control for our large rivers would have much effect in averting calamities of this character. They are a penalty we pay for building our cities on low ground.

stantly in danger from such an overwhelming whenever the proper conditions occur. No general scheme of river improvement and flood control for our large rivers would have much effect in averting calamities of this character. They are a penalty we pay for building our cities on low ground. Yet, while river improvement can not do much to avert such sudden overflowing of the banks by small streams, every facility for the quick passage of water from the interior to the sea must have some effect in that direction. Certainly these floods and their terrible toll of life and property will stimulate sentiment for national river improvement and flood control.

MILLIKEN TO SPEAK ON WHAT IS ORTHODOXY?

"Orthodoxy is my doxy, heterodoxy is your doxy," said a modern sage. The Rev. W. T. Milliken of the Baptist Church will speak on "Does Orthodoxy Make God Responsible for Human Misery?" Tomorrow evening. Human filth and human folly, with all their dire consequences, are often laid at the door of God. Is He responsible? In this series of talks upon so-called orthodoxy, the addresses will be constructive. Dr. Milliken does not believe in attacking any person or creed, but wants to obtain the best that all have to present. In the morning Dr. Milliken will speak on "The Christian's Duty to Society." Visitors are cordially welcomed at all services.

Rockefeller Refused to Fly. But His Doctor Took a Chance

WHEN John D. Rockefeller was invited to take a spin in the air he said in substance, "Let George do it." And George did. In this case George was not Rockefeller's star lawyer, paid to do anything and everything, but no less a personage than Rockefeller's physician. That's how it happened that Dr. H. F. Biggar went a-flying with Miss Ruth Bancroft Law at one of Florida's health resorts where Rockefeller was stopping. The picture shows the doctor taking a chance in Miss Law's aeroplane. He came down safely and enthusiastically told his multimillionaire patient all about it. "I haven't grown wings yet," dryly replied the oil king.

In the name of the State of Oregon, you are hereby required to appear and answer the complaint filed against you in the above entitled suit on or before the 28th day of April, 1913, and if you fail to appear and answer said complaint on or before said date which is six weeks from the date of the first publication of this summons, the plaintiff will apply to the court for the relief demanded in said complaint, to-wit: for a decree of divorce.

This summons is served upon you by publication once a week for six consecutive weeks in the Morning Enterprise, by order of the Honorable R. B. Beattie, County Judge in the absence of J. U. Campbell, judge of the above entitled court made and entered in said suit on the 14th day of March 1913. Date of first publication March 15th, 1913. Date of last publication April 26th, 1913. T. B. McDEVITT, Jr., Attorney for Plaintiff.

Summons.

In the Circuit Court of the State of Oregon, for the County of Clackamas. Elmer E. Armstrong, Plaintiff, vs. Cassa Armstrong, Defendant.

To Cassa Armstrong, the above named defendant: In the name of the State of Oregon, you are required to appear and answer the complaint filed against you in the above entitled suit, on or before the last day of the time prescribed in the Order for Publication of this summons, to-wit: on or before the 7th day of April, 1913, said day being the expiration of six weeks from the first publication of this notice; and if you fail to appear and answer, for want thereof the plaintiff herein will apply to the said court for the relief prayed for in the said complaint, to-wit: that the bonds of matrimony heretofore existing between yourself and plaintiff herein, be dissolved and forever annulled, and for such other and further relief as to the Court may seem just and equitable.

This summons is published by order of the Hon. J. U. Campbell, Judge of the Circuit Court for Clackamas County, Oregon, made February 20th, 1913. By said order it was directed that this summons be published in the Morning Enterprise once in each week, for six successive weeks and the date of the first publication thereof is February 22nd, 1913, the date named in said order for the said first publication. MARTIN WATROUS, Attorney for Plaintiff, 607 Yeou Bldg., Portland, Ore.
