Loss in two days' battle about 20,000 killed and wounded. 1883 A fleet of Federal monitors to the number of nine attempted to reduce Fort Sumter by bombardment. Only one breach was made in the fort, and the ships withdrew after two hours' bombardment. They had been struck by 520 shots and six of them disabled. 1911 Mining disasters caused the loss of 128 lives in the Banner mines, Alabama, and 62 lives in the Pan-coast mine at Throop, Pa.

BY PROGRAM. He had his eyes opened Saturday at the meeting called for the purpose of condemning the Clackamas County Court. The frame-up, for it was nothing else, was planned to a nicety, as was evidenced by the reading of the names of the members of the resolutions committee from a paper that Chairman Smith promptly extracted from his pocket. It must be admitted that several hundred farmers were in bad company, but they did not see the game. Credit for the arrangements must be given to E. D. Olds, who for years grew fat on the county pay roll, and who had a natural peevish disposition over being separated from the county exchequer.

High Cost of Foolishness

Our Modern Problem

By Mrs. AUSTIN N. PALMER of the Political Study Club, New York

IT'S NOT THE COST OF LIVING, BUT THE COST OF FOOLISHNESS, THAT'S GRAYING THE HAIR OF THE MODERN HUSBAND AND FATHER. To my mind the most pathetic figure in our life today is the middle class wage earner, the man who on a small salary is striving to enable his wife and daughters to "KEEP UP APPEARANCES." Heedless feminine folly is the REAL PROBLEM OF HOME ECONOMICS. It's the high cost of foolishness that's the horrible outworn WORKING AT THE ROOT OF THE MODERN HOME. Too many irresponsible wives buy extravagant and showy clothes and SPEND LONG DAYS wandering through the shops or window shopping.

MR. GRIFFITH The appointment of AS PRESIDENT. Franklin T. Griffith as president of the Portland Railway, Light & Power Company, to succeed B. S. Josselyn on July 1, is particularly gratifying to hundreds of people of Oregon City to whom Mr. Griffith is personally known and with whom he has a close personal acquaintance. To those of us who have watched his career in the last 15 years and have noted his advancement from the position of a book-keeper in the paper mills to a place at the head of the largest public service corporation in the Northwest the tidings are especially pleasing. Mr. Griffith is a young man, a product of the Western country. His instincts and sympathies are all Western in the broadest sense of the word. He has steadily forged upward to the top in corporation law. He is clean cut and works more hours a day than any man in Portland. The Enterprise was the first newspaper to suggest Mr. Griffith's name in connection with the position to which he has been appointed and it anticipates nothing else than a successful administration of the company's affairs under his capable direction.

SINGLE TARIFF BILL PLAN OF PRESIDENT

WASHINGTON, April 7.—President Wilson said today he was "on the fence" as to whether the tariff should be revised by statute or in a single bill. Senators Simmons, Shively, Hughes, James, Stone, Williams, and Gore, Democratic members of the Senate finance committee, argued unanimously with the President for a schedule by statute revision, but at its conclusion the President said he would still further consider the matter before reaching a decision. The President had fairly made up his mind that the single bill idea was the more effective and believes that such a measure could pass. He told the Senators that he didn't think any Senators voting against the bill would venture to bear the burden of responsibility for defeating the party program. It was suggested that the Louisiana Senators would oppose the bill, but the President, if it said, took account of that loss, and figures that the measure still would have enough votes to pass. The Senators went away with the impression that while the President was still open to conviction, he was inclined somewhat to the single tariff bill. The entire question must be decided, as far as the President's wishes are concerned, before the Democratic caucus meets tomorrow. Representative A. Mitchell Palmer, of Pennsylvania, chairman of the caucus sought the President's opinion as to whether the caucus report should be open. "I have always been in favor of the open caucus," said the President. An attempt to widen the foreign market for American goods and to encourage reciprocity treaties with all foreign nations is embodied in the new tariff bill in a clause empowering the President to grant favors to any nation that gives mutual concessions to the United States.

MURDOCK NAMED FOR SPEAKER BY MOOSE

WASHINGTON, April 7.—Progressives in the House when that branch of Congress met today declared their solidarity as a third party by putting into nomination for the speakership Representative Victor Murdock, of Kansas. Representative Walter M. Chandler of New York, was chosen to make the nominating speech. He eulogized the Kansan and described him as that "militant, aggressive, red-blooded Progressive from the West." Some of the old wheelhorses of the Progressive organization, however, had given it out that they would not support Murdock or the Progressives' plan of organization. Chief among them was Representative Learroot, of Wisconsin, who had put on record his belief that he could do more effective work, along progressive lines, by supporting President Wilson's policy. One or two others similarly had withdrawn. Chandler's nominating speech was understood to be an outline of the new organization's intentions and ambitions and therefore was awaited with more than usual interest. Part of his declaration follows: "I wish to announce that we Progressives are not organized in this House for mere purposes of antagonism and obstruction. We have a definite program of our own and we shall use every means to accomplish its purpose. We shall, at times, be compelled to assume an attitude of opposition and resistance, for we will oppose with faces of flint and hearts of steel every non-progressive, reactionary bill introduced."

DOGS IN DANGER, GET LICENSE, NOW!

Dogs in Oregon City which have not been licensed had better seek the "tall timber." Chief of Police Shaw, the city council and, most important of all, the dog catcher, are after them. The dogcatcher captured 10 canines Saturday and one faceless man announced that the price of sausage would be reduced at once. The dogs captured, according to Chief of Police Shaw, will be kept in the pound several days so that the owners may call for them. Any dog that is not licensed may be impounded any day.

FINAL TRIBUTE PAID MRS. R. C. WILLIAMS

The funeral of the late Mrs. R. C. Williams was held Monday afternoon at the First Baptist Church. The services were conducted by the Rev. W. T. Milliken. A quartet composed of Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Burke, Mrs. Nieta Barlow Lawrence and John W. Loder sang "Abide With Me" and "Nearer My God to Thee." A large number of friends and the relatives paid their last respects to the dead at the church. The services at the grave were private and consisted of a prayer by Dr. Milliken. The floral offerings were beautiful. The pallbearers were relatives of the deceased and were E. L. Shaw, M. D. Latourette, Lee Harding, Clarence Fields and L. O. Harding. Mrs. Harding was a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Harding and the wife of Dr. R. C. Williams of Los Angeles.

TWO of the most interesting figures in President Wilson's cabinet are William G. McAdoo, secretary of the treasury, and Franklin K. Lane, secretary of the interior. They are the east and the west of the council table in the Hudson river tunnel building the president has a shrewd man of business, keen on finance and capable in the affairs of men. In the former chairman of the Interstate Commerce Commission he has a broad minded, nationally posted lawyer, with all the breeze of the west sharpened by contact with big men from many states. Here the two cabinet members the New Yorker (below) and the Californian, are shown at their desks in Washington busily at their tasks.

by members and visitors, a good sociable time. The Ladies Aid Society will furnish the banquet. A cordial invitation is extended to men who are in sympathy with the objects of the brotherhood.

What Does the Home Need This Season?

How about the refrigerator? Do you think it will serve another season? Old refrigerators are unsanitary and unsatisfactory. A new one at the right price would be an excellent investment. What about the glassware supply, and how about the table linens? Have you taken an inventory recently of the contents of the china cabinet and the sideboard? What about the new rugs? Have you given thought to the question of curtains? This is a good time to think of these things. The stores are full of splendid opportunities to "buy right." The advertisements in THE MORNING ENTERPRISE are always full of valuable suggestions, and you don't want to overlook opportunities. Figure out what you need in the home for the coming season and then take counsel with THE MORNING ENTERPRISE'S advertisers.

Heart to Heart Talks

CONCENTRATION. The burning glass furnishes an illustration that should be studied by every one who would make the most effective use of his mental powers. The glass concentrates the sun's rays to one point. Every man needs a mental burning glass. So long as his powers are diffuse they will be as powerless as the sunshine, but when brought together to a focal point something will happen. The men who accomplish things are those who can shut out all the world and bring their whole minds to the consideration of one subject. It is only so that they can pierce it through like the burning glass. One of the greatest intellectual pleasures is to take up any problem, analyze it, pick it to pieces, look all over, under and through it, find out everything about it—in a word, master it. Thomas A. Edison is perhaps the greatest inventor in the world's history because he has the power of concentration. He shuts himself up with his problem, often without food or sleep, until he has gained complete mastery of its every detail. By concentration we can even affect the action of some given part of the body. We can affect the beating of the heart, the warmth of a particular point, the health of an organ. It is a matter of organizing our forces and directing them to one point. And on it depends mental efficiency. On it depends success.
