

You Will Never Know a Lonely Moment if You Own an EDISON PHONOGRAPH

It will play to you and sing for you the music that you love best. It makes no difference how varied the musical taste of your family may be—from grand opera to coon "shouts" the Edison will satisfy every requirement. The Blue Amberol Records are not only practically unbreakable, but they possess a richness and roundness of tone that is a revelation to those who hear it for the first time. The permanent Diamond-pointed Reproducer which does away with the nuisance of changing needles, gives a clear, full tone because of its fineness and weight. Come in and hear Edison Blue Amberol Records played by the Edison Diamond Reproducer.

Heart to Heart Talks

By JAMES A. EDGERTON

SCIENTIFIC FARMING.
A host of agricultural activities never yet given the efficiency of great business undertakings or served as it should be through the instrumentality of science taken directly to the farm.—From President Wilson's Inaugural Address.
The great crops of last year were the results not only of a good season, but of the beginnings of scientific agriculture.

They were but the beginnings, however. We have yet a long way to go on that road before we reach the limits of possible attainment in the matter of crop yield.
Before we have gone very far in that direction there is every reason to believe that the bounteous yield of last year may be doubled or even tripled.

Already the boys' corn clubs of the south have shown something of what may be accomplished.
These lads were stimulated by the offer of prizes. They increased the yield per acre so amazingly as to astound the old time farmers.

As a result of their example agriculture has been advanced throughout the south, and this has affected not only corn, but other crops.
In Kentucky the average number of bushels of corn per acre was so much greater in 1912 than ever before that it caused comment throughout the nation, and the credit was given to the boys' corn clubs.

Splendid work also is being done by the agricultural department at Washington, by the experiment stations, by the agricultural colleges and by the instructors that travel from county to county in many of the states.

In the last analysis, however, the work of improvement lies with the individual farmer. Others may tell him how, but he must make their ideas his own and do the work.
More careful selection of seed, study of soils, more thorough preparation of the ground, better seeding, more liberal and judicious use of fertilizers, crop rotation and more assiduous cultivation, all of these factors enter into the process.

In many sections mixed farming—that is, the raising of live stock as well as crops—will increase the farmer's profits.
In the past we have been, on the whole, woefully wasteful and lax. Now our resources are becoming exhausted, and we are paying the penalty.

The time has come when the farmer must use business efficiency and scientific methods.
And he cannot take these from the theorist, but must himself put them in practice.

Says He's Napoleon's Grandson. What Do You Think About It?

WILLIAM GORDON of Los Angeles claims to be a grandson of Napoleon. This led the artist to make an interesting composite picture. He took a copy of the famous painting "Napoleon on the Belleisle" and pasted on it a photograph of Gordon. From this illustration was made. It shows the two as they would appear if a century could be bridged. What do you think of Napoleon's alleged grandson? Does he look anything like the "Little Corporal"?

Under the auspices of the local lodge, of Odd Fellows, funeral services were held Friday afternoon at Odd Fellow's hall over the remains of the late Samuel Dillman, who for the past 18 years had been a resident of this city. The services were impressive with the ritual and following the last rites the body was interred in Mountain View Cemetery.

Snakes.

One hundred and eleven kinds of snakes inhabit the United States. There are also ninety-seven species of lizards, besides an array of turtles and tortoises and two big species of crocodilians in the low grounds of the southeast. Of the reptiles eighteen varieties are poisonous, every state having its share of them.

PINCH PITCHER NOW BIG FACTOR

Twirler Who Can Hurl Shutout Ball In Demand.

THREE IN AMERICAN LEAGUE

Walter Johnson of Washington, Ed Walsh of Chicago and Vean Gregg of Cleveland Flingers Who Saved Their Teams From Defeat Many Times.

The pinch hitter has his opposite in baseball. The pinch pitcher is becoming a factor in the big league races, and it may be only a short time until teams will have to carry great one and two inning pitchers men that hurl shutout ball for a couple of rounds. They will rank with Cobb, Lajoie, Baker and Meyers, who are just naturally passed with men on.

The three greatest pinch pitchers in the American league last season were Walter Johnson of Washington, Ed Walsh of Chicago and Vean Gregg of Cleveland, who can make a game practically safe for the Nationals, White Sox or Naps.

When Big Ed walks on the diamond, his face brightens out with a cut of supply juice for his splitters, the bidding rally "dies a burning." One look at his contemptuous confident figure is enough to start most batters thinking of the bench. J. J. Callahan kept the White Sox in first place by using Walsh as a club to beat down the opposition. The spitball king worked faithfully and well, but the pinches came too often. Callahan used him up.

Walter Johnson lumbering in from the field is no less awe inspiring than Walsh. He hasn't the look of contempt. He isn't graceful. But he bulks big, and there is not a batter in the league who does not know that if Johnson wants to take the chance of starting a private graveyard of his own a base hit is impossible. Going into the box in a pinch, with men on and the game turning against Washington, he uncorks everything he has. It is the hospital for a batter who stops the ball with his body, the undertaker for the one who stops it with his head.
