WHY NOT KILL IT ALTOGETHER? Once again the life of Oregon is threatened by political enemies and professional referendum organizers, who seek to revoke the referendum upon the conservative appropriation made by the last session of the state legislature. Both houses of the legislature passed this bill by an almost unanimous vote, after a careful investigation as to the needs of the institution.

It was found that no new buildings had been constructed since 1908, although the attendance of the institution had doubled. Classes are being held in the basements of most of the buildings, and makeshift wooden structures have been erected to house the overflow. One small room, 22x16 feet, was used to accommodate 121 students in one class. Another room, 20x25, in the basement of Deady Hall had 84 students crowded into it for 45 minutes of each school day.

Education Essential to Success of Modern Business Men

College Product In Demand Trained Minds Bring Results. By Dr. JOHN GRIER HIBBEN, President of Princeton University. Image of a man in a suit.

IT is the successful business men who must take hold of the GREAT HUMAN PROBLEMS that confront this country today and work out their solution. It is conceded that man's domination of the material world is complete, but I feel most profoundly that our next task is to take these problems of humanity, which in their last analysis are industrial problems, concentrate our best thoughts on them and accomplish their solution. I would not have the discontented, restless class of our citizenship provide remedies for many existing conditions, but I would have BUSINESS MEN WHO HAVE BEEN SUCCESSFUL and who live in the midst of contentment and faith and hope in the future WORK OUT THEIR SOLUTION. I feel that the time of the unbridgeable gulf between business men and COLLEGE MEN IS PASSED. These days even a college president and a board of college trustees must be business men. THE REAL SPIRIT OF INDUSTRIAL ENTERPRISE IS THAT WHICH IS QUICKENED BY THOUGHT AND INTELLECT THIS IS THE SPIRIT, ADVENTUROUS PERHAPS, WHICH HAS OPENED UP THE GREAT RESOURCES OF OUR COUNTRY AT THE BASIS OF THIS SPIRIT HAS BEEN KNOWLEDGE.

and kill all of the good work the enlightened element in the state has done? Let's do away with education and hop around on trees and talk with sign language.

What has become of the cluster lights? Several months ago we heard rumors that property owners were going to buy the cluster standards and the city council might be prevailed upon to furnish the electricity used in them. Since that time we have heard little of the matter. In an interview with a number of the property owners along Main street, an Enterprise reporter found that all of the people he talked with were anxious to install the lights as they ever were. We would suggest, that Mr. Price, who was the chairman of the Live Wire committee on cluster lights, get busy and arrange for the lights so that they might be installed before the tourist season this summer. We are sure that any person who has seen the cluster light, which Frank Busch has installed in front of his property will say that they are a great improvement.

WILL PHENOMS OF 1912 REPEAT?

Several Managers Hoping Twirling Wonders Come Back.

BASEBALL HISTORY SAYS NOT

Christy Mathewson Only First Year Pitching Marvel to Continue His Great Performances For Any Length of Time—Those Who Failed.

A few big league managers are indulging in hopes and worrying at the same time. They are the managers of the teams which rejoiced in the possession of phenomenal first year pitchers last season. They are hoping that the same phenoms will come back in 1913 and prove to be just as effective, but they are worrying for fear the youngsters will follow the example of other famous one-year pitchers and settle back into mediocrity. There are any number of hurlers who have gone through the big league the first year as easily as Luther McCarty would bear a bunch of feather weights, but the pitchers who show gradual improvement are the ones who are the big stars and the high salaried mound men of today. Christy Mathewson, Eddie Plank, Ed Walsh, Jack Coombs, Chief Bender, Mordecai Brown, Ed Reulbach and Walter Johnson are examples of the class referred to. Christy Mathewson was about the only one of those mentioned who was a phenom the first year in first company. The others started last fairly well and added to their effectiveness later on. There were also King Cole, Grover Alexander, Chalmers, Babe Adams, Willie Mitchell, Gene Knapp and Covington, as well as others further back, who have looked like the best ever in their first year, only to disappear in one or two years later. King Cole pitched the Cubs into a championship and helped win the only game taken by the Cubs from the Athletics. He came back all right in 1911, but fizzled last year.

Babe Adams was a wonder in 1908, especially in the world's series against the Tigers. He has done nothing sensational since then. Alexander and Chalmers put the Phillies in the race in 1911. Last year they were never contenders. Willie Mitchell won ten straight for the Naps in 1910 and for two years has been trying in vain to break even. Gene Knapp won twelve out of twenty in 1911. He is now headed toward the minors. Even Van Greig was not as successful in 1912 as he was the preceding year, when he was the pitching sensation of the American league.

The 1912 crop of first year beauties includes Blediet, Dubuc and Cashion, American leaguers, and Hendrix, Tesreau, Cheney and Robinson of the National league. Blediet won twenty and lost ten, while Cashion won eleven and lost six. Judging from Blediet's work in the recent games of the world's series, he is likely to be a repeater. Dubuc and Cashion are not as sure to repeat as the member of the world's champions. Of the National leaguers, Hendrix, a rank bush leaguer in 1911, won twenty-four and lost nine. Tesreau won seventeen and lost seven, while Cheney won twenty-six and lost ten. Remarkable records for youngsters just breaking into the big time. Will they repeat? John McGraw, Fred Clark and Johnny Evers would like to know.

International Yacht Races.

Eastern yachtsmen have received invitations to participate in the international yacht races at Havre during the week of July 20 to 23, but whether some of the large yachts in New England waters will make the voyage to Europe this spring has not been decided.

MARKET PRICES GO UP IN MANY LINES

Lettuce and greens are in much demand these days, and arrivals of southern stock are not sufficient to meet the demand. As a result prices are high and the supply is insufficient. Hothouse lettuce is also finding a ready sale, in spite of its advanced price.

Asparagus is coming in with more freedom, and prices are therefore dropping about a cent a pound. Local asparagus is to be found in the market, but the supply is not very heavy. Later in the week a more general movement of this staple is expected.

A sharp advance is expected in the price of navel oranges in the local market early in the week. Higher prices are being quoted in California, where much fruit has been found unfit for shipment, and the southern situation will be reflected here.
