UNCLE SAM ASKS YOUTHS TO HELP

A gold medal to the school boy or girl between the ages of 10 and 15 who writes the best composition, not to exceed 800 words, on the repair and maintenance of earth roads, is to be awarded by Logan Walter Page, director, office of public roads, United States Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C. All compositions must be submitted to Mr. Page before May 15, 1913, and the medal will be awarded as soon thereafter as the composition can be graded. The composition may be used on knowledge gained from books or other sources, but no quotations should be made.

After many years' experience in dealing with the public road situation of the country, it is Mr. Page's belief that ignorance on the subject of repair and maintenance of roads is as much the cause of their bad condition as any other one factor. It is expected that the competition will bring about a better understanding of the subject of repair and maintenance in the rural districts.

Many children living in the rural districts have experienced the disadvantages of roads made impassable through a lack of proper maintenance and it is expected that their interest in the competition will stir up greater interest among the parents. Bad roads have prevented many children from obtaining a proper education and have even prevented doctors from reaching the side of rural patients in time to save their lives.

Any child between the ages mentioned, attending a country school, may compete. Only one side of the paper must be written on; each page should be numbered; the name, age, and address of the writer, and the name and location of the school which he or she is attending must be plainly written at the top of the first page. The announcement of the competition has been sent to the superintendents of schools in the rural districts. No further information can be obtained from the office of public roads. This announcement should be plain to everyone, and all children will thus start on a basis of equality.

Misunderstood.

"How did you find your bed?" asked the bustling landlady of the new lodger.

"Madam, I am not a drinking man. I found my bed without difficulty."—Houston Post.

THIS LADY'S GOOD APPETITE

Mrs. Hansen, in a Letter From Mobile, Tells How She Gained It.

Mobile, Ala.—"I suffered for seven years, with womanly trouble," writes Mrs. Sigurd Hansen in a letter from this city. "I felt weak and always had a headache and was always going to the doctor. At last I was operated on, and felt better, but soon I had the same trouble.

My husband asked me to try Cardui. I felt better after the first bottle, and now, I have a good appetite and sleep well. I feel fine, and the doctor tells me I am looking better than he ever saw me."

If you are sick and miserable, and suffer from any of the pains due to womanly trouble—try Cardui.

Cardui is successful because it is composed of ingredients that have been found to act curatively on the womanly constitution.

For more than fifty years, it has been used by women of all ages, with great success. Try it. Your druggist sells it.

Heart to Heart Talks

By JAMES A. EDGERTON

LAUGHTER AND LONGEVITY. Democritus, who was always laughing, lived 100 years; Heraclitus, who never ceased crying, only sixty. Laughing, then, is best.

Living to be a hundred is now so common it is no longer a distinction.

Centenarians are thicker than centenarians, and we have had a flock of these in the past few years.

One week recently saw the death of one man 108 years old and in an adjoining state of another more than 101 years old.

In a third state near by the same week witnessed the celebration of her one hundredth birthday by a well known woman.

Not long ago the papers printed the picture of an Indian chief 137 years of age. At least you think he was that old, and he looked it.

A European prophet recently expressed the opinion that in the not distant future men would only begin to understand life at the age of a hundred.

Laugh and live a century is the latest adaptation of "laugh and grow fat."

If any one asks you how to live a century answer something in this wise: "Why, that is just as easy! Don't die too soon; that's all." Dying is really a bad habit and should be discouraged.

To say that "the good die young" should be called by "a shorter and uglier" name. If goodness consists in behaving yourself, keeping regular hours and eating only what agrees with you, then the good live long and flourish like the green bay tree, whatever that is.

Laughter is not only an answer to absurdities and incongruities, but is better for the health than a medicine closet.

People who can't take a joke are usually the ones who have to take drugs.

It is no wonder undertakers look solemn. They are trying to set an example. Solemnity helps their trade. It furnishes them more victims to bury.

If we ever establish a national health department one of its first acts should be to pension the jokesmiths. They are the best health promoters we have. The doctors only heal the sick. The jokesmiths keep people from getting sick.

Laughter not only makes us live a long time, but makes living a long time worth while.

A long face means a short life. Cheer up and join the centenarians.
