OREGON CITY, OREGON, SATURDAY, APRIL 26, 1913

'T WAS SURE SOME BIG BOOSTER DAY

SATURDAY HOURS TO BE BUSY ONES

STOCK PARADE OUTRANKS ALL FORMER EXHIBITIONS

CROWDS CHEER; CHILDREN MARCH

With Friday's initial day of the annual Stock Show one of the most notable occasions in the history of the city, and with at least 2,000 visitors from all parts of the county on hand to witness the parade and other features, Saturday's celebration of Booster Day promises to eclipse all other similar gatherings. Though Friday was crowded with features, many of which were of more than anticipated merit, the program for the closing day of the annual event will be much more elaborate. Not only will many of the first day's features be repeated, but there will be other incidents on the program that will keep the spectators busy every minute of the time.

Promptly at half past ten Saturday morning there will be a stock parade that will outrival that held Friday. The same magnificent display of blooded animals will be given, and in addition there will be many features added to the novelty end of the procession that did not appear in the first day's pageant.

Following the stock parade there will be a repetition of the school children's march, and as soon as the streets can be cleared after this there will be a contest between the several horse companies of the city, in which skill and rapidity will be displayed by the firemen in setting their apparatus into play. There is intense rivalry between the different companies, and as a large prize has been put up for the most adept outfit, the exhibit and contest promises to be spirited in the extreme.

Following the firemen's battle, there will be a team pulling contest, in which a big wagon will be loaded down with merchandise, and a prize given the pair of dray horses that succeeds in moving it. Judging from the magnificent display of horses in Friday's parade, a record will probably be established for the tonnage moved.

In the afternoon there will be the decorated automobile parade, in which many cars, both from Oregon City and outlying communities in the county, will compete for prizes. Marshall Sullivan, who has charge of this parade, already has several score entries, and the pageant will probably be an eye-opener as showing how general has been the adoption of the motor vehicle in the county.

Later in the afternoon there is a baseball game, scheduled between Oregon City's championship team and the Canby nine, and rosters from both towns will be on hand to cheer their warriors to victory. In the evening the carnival spirit will be given full swing, and the many attractions on the streets will offer amusement for the multitudes.

During the day there will also be two free, open-air high dives by Captain Henry Kerns, who thrilled several hundred people Friday afternoon when he plunged from a tower 100 feet high into a net suspended but a few feet above the pavement. One of these dives will be made in the morning, and one in the late afternoon. Band concerts will also be given on the courthouse green, and at some other point in the southern section of the city.

The celebration will close with a monster Booster Day ball at Busch's hall in the evening, when it is expected that several hundred couples will trip the light fantastic over the highly polished floor.

DERTHICK CLUB ELECTION HELD

Members of the Dertthick club were entertained by Mrs. Gilbert Hayes Friday, and annual election of officers was the feature of the meeting. The next gathering of the club will be on May 15, at the home of Mrs. Charles Caulfield. Officers elected are as follows: president, Mrs. Leon DesLarzes; vice-president, Mrs. Lydia Olmstead; secretary, Miss Margaret Caulfield; treasurer, Mrs. L. Adams.

Among those present at the elective meeting were: Mrs. J. M. Moffatt, Mrs. Charles Caulfield, Mrs. Anna Hayes, Mrs. Carl Johnke, Mrs. R. C. Gamung, Mrs. John Clarke, Mrs. Ever Chapman, Mrs. Thomas Burke, Mrs. Louis Henderson, Mrs. M. G. Latourrette, Mrs. L. L. Porter, Mrs. George Harding, Miss Margaret Caulfield, Mrs. W. A. Dimick, Mrs. C. A. Miller, Mrs. Leon DeLarzes, Mrs. J. M. Lawrence, Mrs. N. C. Spricht, Mrs. John Loder, Mrs. L. L. Pickens, Mrs. E. Barlow Lawrence, Mrs. S. O. Dillman and Mrs. Gilbert Hedges.

MARRIAGE LICENSES

Marriage licenses have been issued by the county clerk to Francis M. Cummins and Sherman O. Crawford; to Lennie B. Brown and Carl F. Friswold, of San Francisco, and to Bernice A. Shute and Ray S. Walsh.

As the sun arose and shone in Oregon City Thursday morning, it smiled upon a crowd of expectant merry-makers and sight-seers. From early morning until late in the afternoon, over 2,000 people flocked into the city, some coming by train, some by street car and still others, and perhaps the majority, by team and automobile. A conservative estimate would place the number of visitors and residents on the street at 5,000.

The live stock parade was the first one of the two days' celebration, and was a marked success. The parade was arranged by M. D. Latourette, who made a remarkably good show, considering the short time in which he had to handle the affair. Mr. Latourette chose as his marshals and aides the following: Dr. A. L. Beattie, William Ruonick, H. W. Streibig, B. A. Avison, C. C. Farr, P. Klostra, C. S. Noble, and W. S. Eddy.

The parade was led by the flag, which was closely followed by Company L, Oregon National Guard. The company made a neat appearance and attracted considerable attention. They were followed by the officers of the day and city officials. After them came the live stock and the horse sections. There was much fine cattle exhibited.

Frank Meredith, secretary of the state board of agriculture, who was an observer of the parade so as to get a line on possible entries for the state fair at Salem, declared that he had never seen a finer showing of stock, and expressed amazement that such superb animals were raised and bred in Clackamas county. He was particularly impressed with the horses, and declared them to be some of the finest animals he had ever seen. The cattle also surprised him by their excellent form.

The last section of the big parade was composed largely of fraternal orders and societies. Prominent in the line were the Macabees, who were accorded the first prize. Their drill team marched in costume, and attracted much favorable comment. The Bobbie Burns society, with its float and piper, won an award as well and was loudly welcomed by the throngs that lined the sidewalks. The Moose turned out in large numbers, and with their white hats and crimson decorations made a fine showing. In the miscellaneous section Ernest Cross and his comical rig brought forth screams of laughter, and the crowd was generally pleased when it was announced that he had captured the first prize in this section.

Stock in the parade was judged by Prof. Potter, of the Oregon Agricultural college, and he, like Mr. Meredith, was much surprised at the excellence of the animals. In fact, the general good qualities of the displays made it extremely difficult to pick the winners in the different classes. The awards made are as follows:

JUDGE FILES SUIT IN HIS OWN COURT

The somewhat unusual spectacle of a judge filing a suit in his own court occurred Friday, when Judge J. U. Campbell of the circuit court entered an action, through W. A. Dimick, his attorney, to clear title to certain land located in the Andrew Hood donation land claim. Over 40 defendants are named in the action, some two score of them being cited personally, and the others referred to in general terms, or as the heirs of certain parties now deceased. The case, naturally, will not be tried in Judge Campbell's department, but will be heard by Judge Alken, who presides over the other department of the circuit court for this district.

The defendants named in the case are: Adaline Howell, Thomas Howell and wife, Hettie and John Smith, Henry Howell and wife, John Howell and wife, William Howell and wife, Stanford Howell, Jr., Joseph Howell and wife, Matilda and William Potter, Ida and Edgar Kieth, Frank Howell and wife, Louise Dolloway Post, John Post and wife, Edna Post, Clara and Joshua McKnight, Anna Post, Thurston L. Johnston and wife, Miles S. Johnson and wife, H. B. Johnson and wife, Violette Post Foster and E. Lucas Foster, Rex G. Post and wife, Henry Fair, Louise F. Skinner and Guy E. Skinner, and the heirs of Ivison and Phinney, as well as all others claiming right or title to the land.

MOOSE BOOSTER BALL SUCCESSFUL AFFAIR

Festivities of the first Booster Day were brought to a close with the grand ball of the Loyal Order of Moose, held in Busch's hall Friday evening. Over 300 couples attended and the dance will go down in history as one of the big affairs of Moosedom. The hall was tastefully decorated with streamers of red and white, looped in festoons from the ceiling, and intermingled with evergreens. The beautiful gowns worn by many of the ladies present also added to the attractiveness of the scene.

WOMEN ASK SHARE IN CIVIC ACTIVITY

A motion was adopted by the Women's club, which met Thursday afternoon in the parlors of the Commercial club, to the effect that the women of Oregon City should have representation upon the Park and Public Property committee of the council, and that a woman should be appointed as an assistant to the chief of police, in inspecting the sanitary condition of the markets. The committee appointed to take the matter up with the city council was Mrs. N. M. Aldredge, Mrs. J. W. Morris and Mrs. David Garfield.

At the request of Mrs. Pennybacker, president of the National Federation, it was decided that letters be written to the secretary of labor, and to President Wilson, protesting the removal of Miss Julia Lathrop, as chairman of the Child Labor department.

The club decided to serve dinner Friday and Saturday noon in the Woodmen's hall. The program consisted of an address upon public schools, by Superintendent T. J. Gary and a discussion of some of his suggestions. Mr. Gary interpolated in his talk some constructive criticism of the present system, and to his ideal scheme for the training of boys, emphasizing making their education a preparation for life, but a part of life itself. He also outlined his plan for the Teachers' Training Institute, which will probably be held in Gladstone Park, before Chataqua. The club expressed its appreciation of Mr. Gary's address by a rising vote of thanks.

LOCAL OPTION LAW ON STOCK GRAZING

The problem of stock grazing at large may hereafter be settled merely as a local question in an election precinct of the state, the last session of the legislature having passed a law providing that whenever one-fourth of the legal voters of any precinct desire to propose the question, a ballot shall be taken upon the matter. Owing to the recent announcement of the last election on this matter held in Clackamas county by a ruling of Judge Campbell, the new law is of local interest.

The bill which provides for precinct decisions of this question reads in part as follows: "On the petition of one-fourth of the legal voters of any election precinct of any county being filed with the county clerk before the time of giving the notice of the general election, any year, the county clerk shall cause notice to be given that at such election a vote will be taken for and against stock grazing at large in such precinct; or, on a petition of one-fourth of the legal voters of any precinct of any county in this state being filed with the county clerk for a special election to be held therein at a time specified other than that of the general election, which time shall not be less than thirty days after the date of filing of such petition, the county clerk shall order a special election to be held in said precinct on the question of stock grazing at large therein to be held at the time stated in the petition in the same manner as other elections are held thereon."

OPINIONS DIFFER AS TO BEST WORK

SUNDAY SCHOOL DELEGATES DISCUSS TEACHING METHODS IN CONVENTION SESSIONS

MANY FINE ADDRESSES DELIVERED

Second Day of Big State Gathering Replete With Features of Interest—Progress of Past Year Reviewed

An open discussion of "What I Think of Graded Lessons," created much debate in the State Sunday School Convention Friday morning, a wide difference of view being expressed by the delegates as to the real and comparative worth of such instruction. The discussion was opened by W. H. Phillips, of Portland, who defended the present system. Following his paper a quite general opinion was expressed that no cut and dried formulas could be used in Sunday School work, and that better results could be obtained by the adoption of a plan in which the individual temperament of classes was more closely watched, and the work adapted so as to utilize the greatest interest.

Before this discussion two interesting talks were given upon club activities as a means of fixing the interest of young people in church work. Girls' clubs were discussed by Mrs. S. W. Ormsby, state field worker; while boys' clubs were handled by Ivan B. Rhodes, of the Y. M. C. A. Both speakers were given close attention, and were heartily applauded when they had completed their remarks. An interesting address on "Sunday School Efficiency" was delivered by Prof. F. T. Billington, of Eugene, and the Rev. R. N. Avison, of Salem, mingled humor and seriousness in his address, "When I was a Child."

J. R. Werlein, of Portland, who presided at the session, still an impending storm in the course of the day when an effort was made to introduce resolutions regretting that the Booster Day celebration had been fixed for the same dates as the Sunday School convention. This resolution was prepared by certain delegates whose deliberations were interrupted by the band music of one of the parades; but after discussion it was deemed ill advised to formally introduce them, and what might have been a breach of hospitality was thus avoided.

At a noontime luncheon rough plans for the next year's work were informally discussed by the executive committee and special delegates from each county. A report on this feature will be made to the convention later on during the sessions. Reports of state officers took up most of the afternoon, all indicating much progress during the past year. While the general convention was listening to these, there were department institutes held at which missionary work, temperance and the active teaching of Sunday School classes were discussed.

In the evening there was a banquet for teachers, at which Prof. R. R. Steele was toastmaster, and several of the outside speakers delivered brief remarks. The evening session of the convention was short, the leading address being delivered by Rev. A. M. Williams, and dealing with Sunday School work in the Orient. Rev. W. F. Emerson also spoke, his subject being "The Golden Gate of Opportunity."

The program for Saturday, the last day of the convention, is as follows: A-Baptist, in Baptist church, Dr.

One of the chief features of the first of the Booster Days celebration was the children's parade, held Friday afternoon, in which between 600 and 800 youngsters participated. The children marched from their several schools to the point of formation, and then in neat and regular lines traversed the line of parade, and counter-marched back again. A sturdier or more attractive set of boys and girls has seldom been seen, and applause was generous as the young folk trudged along, with heads high and happy smiles decorating their faces.

The girls in the parade wore an especial feature, and in their white dresses made a most pleasing sight. A large majority of those in line wore flowers or ribbons of uniform color, and many from the Barclay school wore deep blue pennants suspended from their sashes. Some attempts were also made at fancy marching, and these brought out well-merited applause.

The children seemed to greatly enjoy the march, and which some confusion over the route to be followed made them turn back before the end of the route was reached, the parade on the whole was one of the big successes of the celebration.

MR. BOOSTER

His Birthday

(CONTRIBUTED)

Wal, I cum to town yistdy, an' ever'rythin' wuz hummin'. I tell ye, couldn't sell my 'taters 'cause there wuz so much a-doin'. Bands a-playin', squawkin', a-squawkin', ever' a-battin', horses a-sportin' an' prancin', purty gals—oodies of 'em all dressed up in white an' lookin' jes like angels, only they didn't act like angels at a—jes' crazy over sody-pop an' ice cream. No angel could act like that. I didn't know what all the doin' wuz, so I siddles up to a respectable lookin' chap and axed 'im what all wuz fer, and he says, says he, as it wuz Booster Day.

Mr. Booster's birthday it wuz, says he, and he axed me if I didn't know what all Mr. Booster had done for the county. I snum! I felt cheap 'cause I didn't know, an' I snuk away from 'im 'bout sayin' much, and axed 'nuther chap who Mr. Booster wuz? He allowed he wuz some relation o' Mayor Jones, an' sez I cld find out more by axin' him. So I mosies over to his store, and axed him right out bold who wuz this here Mr. Booster, as 'd heard tell he wuz some relation o' him. Mister Jones, he kind o' looked round sideways as if he wuz ashamed of this here relation, an' got red, an' says, says he, that Gran' Dimick knew more 'bout 'im than he did.

So I goes up to Judge Dimick, an' axed him jes' as bold as I'd axed Mister Jones. The judge, he smiled like he wuz glad to see me, an' says 'says he:

"Sure I know 'im, he's goin' to be president o' my new railroad. Cum in tomorrow mornin' at nine o'clock, an' I'll interduce you. He'll be glad to meet ye."

So I thanked 'im, and says I'll be there on the dot. An' I will, 'im says fer, an' I'll bring the hull family, too. I sure want my folks to see this here man Booster, that they's making sich a fuss 'bout. Your uncle, BILL.

WAR TIME MELODIES PLAYED BY VETERANS

The "spirit of 1861" came to life in the course of Friday's Booster Day celebration, when the file and drum corps of Meade Post appeared amidst the happy crowds and played stirring military airs for the entertainment of the visitors to the city. Everywhere the old soldiers paused to play they were surrounded by admiring crowds that showed appreciation of their public spirit in turning out for the gala occasion.

The file and drum corps is composed of Comrades Clyde, Kelley, Grant and McClellan—all men who saw desperate service for their country's cause in the dark days of 1861-65, and men who today bear with honor the historic names of leaders in the struggle to keep the nation undivided.

YOUNG ATTORNEY'S WORK IS GENERALLY PRAISED

Local lawyers are commenting most favorably upon the manner in which Howard Brownell, son of George Brownell, handled the damage case of Lydia Wright in circuit court recently. Mr. Brownell was associated in the case with several other attorneys, but it was the skillful handling of the case by the young lawyer that attracted the most attention.

Mr. Brownell's closing argument was simple and straightforward, devoid of many of the tricks of oratory so often resorted to in such cases, and evidently impressed the jurors as well as it did others in the courtroom who heard it. His presence was at all times dignified, and his handling of the case is generally praised.

NEXT YEAR PLANS ALREADY FRAMED

MERCHANTS BELIEVE ANNUAL EXHIBIT OUGHT TO BE MADE BROADER IN SCOPE

SPECIAL MANAGEMENT SUGGESTED

Resources of County Should Be Exploited Systematically, they Say and Celebration Be Based on Development

Preparations for next year's Booster Day are already being discussed by local business men and boosters, and indications are that a committee will early be formed to handle the work. It is suggested that as the Booster celebration has proven itself to be a valuable feature, both for the city and the county, by bringing residents of the two divisions into closer touch with each other, that it might be well to maintain a constant organization from year to year to manage the details.

A committee of eight or ten members has been regarded as best suited to the work by those who are giving the matter thought, and it is believed that each member of the committee ought to handle some one detail of the enterprise. It is also the general opinion that more emphasis should be placed upon the parades and the stock shows, and less attention be given the carnival attractions. By doing this, it is said, a more representative celebration can be had, and greater display of the county resources brought before the public eye.

Floats representing the different lines of Clackamas county activity are suggested for the parade—floats that shall truly represent the resources and development of the section. Such floats will require considerable preparation, and the parade in which they are carried should be organized with much forethought, it is believed. The idea is being rapidly taken up by the real boosters for the city and the county, and much favorable comment is heard in regard to the plan.
