BOOSTER DAY CELEBRATION ENDS WITH SATISFACTION AND SUCCESS

WIND-UP OF ANNUAL STOCK SHOW CARNIVAL FEATURED BY MANY ATTRACTIVE EVENTS THAT EVEN THREATENING WEATHER CANNOT SPOIL—VISITORS THROG CITY UNTIL LATE IN EVENING AND THEN LEAVE REGRETTING THAT THERE IS NO MORE TO DO OR NOTHING MORE TO ENJOY.

In spite of occasional April showers and threatening weather, the crowd of spectators that were in the city Saturday to witness the celebration was far in excess of any expectation. At least 4,000 visitors packed the streets, and from nine o'clock Saturday morning until late in the afternoon it was almost "impossible" to make one's way along the street by way of the sidewalks. At times passing rain storm would drench the street, but people were able to find ready shelter in the stores and beneath welcome awnings.

Additional awards made at the Stock Show Saturday are as follows: we Mbetward-cole K K. Dairy Cows, Milk Test
 Bettie—R. L. Badger, value of daily product, 73 cents, first prize.
 Laura, of Cedar Hill—N. H. Smith, value of product, 63 cents, second prize.
 Hinch—Lazelle Dairy Co., value of product, 69.8 cents, third prize.
 Etta—N. H. Smith, value of product, 59.5 cents, fourth prize.
 Rosie—H. Schneider, honorable mention.

FIRE LADS RACE OVER WET STREETS

One of the novel stunts of the closing Booster Day celebration was the try-out on Main street between Mountain View Hose company No. 1 and Greenpoint Hose company No. 5. Rain somewhat spoiled the battle royal between the rival bodies of fire-fighters, because it made the pavement too slippery for the complicated movements of the "New York water test," which it had been planned to hold. As it was, however, there was excitement and enthusiasm enough in the "straight test."

Dashing from the starting point, the two teams made a short run coupled to hydrants, and unrolled hose before turning the water into play. Both companies had been practicing for the event and fast time was made. Mountain View won out by about three and a half seconds, and so won the prize put up for the event by the Commercial club. The members of Greenpoint company had made special preparations for the New York test, and say that if that had been put on results would have been different.

The Western Stock Journal car won the second prize of $5. This machine was beautifully decorated with small shocks of grain, grasses and spring blossoms. George Armstrong of Logan, won the first prize for the most unique car. His machine was decorated with a mass of spring blossoms. For the handsomest car, the prize was divided between George Sullivan and B. T. McBain, both driving Cole automobiles. For the best community machine, the prize was given to Oak Grove.

H. T. Criss appeared in the parade with his machine carrying at least 18 children. Hugh Hendry was in a prettily decorated car. The parade was one of the most successful ever given in this city, and considering the threatening weather, which kept many from decorating their cars, the showing was very creditable. T. W. Sullivan managed the parade.

In the morning another stock parade was held, which was the same as Friday morning's, with a few additions. Both parades were witnessed by larger crowds than those which appeared Friday, and everybody seemed to feel satisfied with what they saw. An interesting feature was the "team pull" in the afternoon on 4th street. This affair was gotten up at the last minute by Portwell Ayson and was entirely successful. Sledges were loaded with pig iron, and the various teams of horses were made to try their strength on each sledge. The sledges were gradually made heavier, and the team that could not pull three feet was eliminated. Among the entries were Fuller and Bain, one team; Oregon Engineering and Construction company, three teams; and Williams Brothers and team. D. W. Fuller, driving a 3200-pound team, won the first prize of $10. E. W. Craig, driving a 3000-pound team, also belonging to Moffatt & Parker, won the second prize. L. Smith, driving a 2800-pound team belonging to Williams Brothers captured the third prize. A little over 4,000 pounds was pulled by the winning team. The Williams team considering its light weight did exceedingly well. This team is used in the drayage service daily, and is one of the heartiest pair of draft

MOVING PICTURES TO SHOW ANGLERS

Moving pictures of salmon fishing at the falls are to be taken Sunday by a Portland concern, and after being developed will be offered to producers of "picture weeklies." Exciting scenes of anglers battling with the canopy fish are to be seen in the views, as well as a superb panorama of the falls and the milling industry surrounding them. Water is high in the river now, and in addition to the sport side of the pictures, the scenic beauty of the falls will be shown in almost their original grandeur. The pictures will be taken as early in the morning as is possible, so as to get the best light. The Sunday crowd of motorists in boats, casting in the midst of the treacherous eddies and rushing waters will be shown, the whole scene being at once novel and exciting. It is expected that there will be found a ready sale for the views, and that through them one of the chief delights of the Oregon City section will be shown to the world at large through the medium of the "movies." The pictures will first be exhibited in Portland theaters.

COMMERCIAL CLUB PLANS BALL TEAM

Not to be outdone by other organizations of recreation and rivalry for its initiators, and also to furnish a novel members, the Oregon City commercial club is going to have a ball team, and organization and financing have been taken up. The team is fairly well organized they will give a dance in Busch's hall to help defray the expenses of the season. The uniforms will be gray with green stripes and will be made for the team by the Oregon City Manufacturing company. "Commercial Club" will be carried in script on the shirts and "O. C." interwoven on the sleeves. The club will play teams in Portland, Salem, Astoria, Eugene, Corvallis, Albany and other teams in the state. The officers elected were as follows: Gilbert E. Long, captain; R. L. Holsclaw, manager; Ralph L. Sheppard, secretary; B. T. McBain president of the Commercial club, was elected honorary president.

"SOMEBODY LIED," NOT OREGON CITY CONVENTION ENDS; QUARANTINE FIRM; IS GLADSTONE LAW

Attracted by the exhibit of the Oregon City Commercial club at the Minneapolis Land Show, J. J. Sullivan of Minneapolis, arrived in the city Saturday on a scouting tour for farms for six families from his home town. These families, all of whom visited the big western resources exhibit in the eastern city, have been so impressed with the showing made by Clackamas county that they have deputized Mr. Sullivan to pick out suitable locations in this neighborhood for them.

"I am the second one of us to come West as a result of the Oregon exhibits at the land show," said Mr. Sullivan. "Portland's exhibit brought the first man out, and he returned with the report that the things Portland claimed for its territory were not borne out by the conditions that he found. However, we did not believe that all men in the west had exaggerated things, so I was sent out. I have found that the Clackamas county exhibit, while very fine and alluring, did not do justice to the resources you have in this county, and since I have reported that, six families have instructed me to find them locations here.

To take steps for the strictest quarantine of cases of scarlet fever, of which several have been reported, the police and health committee of Gladstone city council met Saturday afternoon in special session. Complaint had been made by numerous citizens of the matter in which the rules were enforced, but the councilmen, instead of lessening the quarantine, made still more rigid provisions for the isolation and immediate reporting of all cases.

50-POUND SALMON CAUGHT-IN RIVER

Anton Stanich was the "most lucky fisherman of Oregon City" Saturday, when he hauled two fine salmon, one weighing 50 and the other 25 pounds. Both fish were caught with a hook and line, and the fifty-ponder is supposed to be the best catch made in Oregon City with a hook and line this season. The fishing is unusually good at the present time, and a large delegation will be on the river Sunday.

CO. CONVENTION ENDS; DELEGATES RECEIVE INSPIRATION

The entire morning was taken up with departmental work, delegates of the Baptist, Christian, Presbyterian, Methodist, Congregational, and other churches meeting separately, and discussing the best manner in which denominational distinctions could be maintained and still permit of cooperation between the different churches. Teacher training, standards of class organization, and correlation of subjects were also taken up and discussed in detail.

DELEGATES RECEIVE INSPIRATION

An interesting feature of the closing day was a demonstration by Mrs. L. A. Danenhauer and a picked class of methods in Sunday School instruction. This was largely attended by the delegates, and proved of particular value to the many who are planning greater activity as the result of the inspiration received at the three-day convention.

BROADEN SCOPE OF GIRLS' WORK AIM OF STATE-WIDE CONFERENCE

OREGON CITY SCENE OF FIRST STATEWIDE MEETINGS OF YOUNG WOMEN WHO DESIRE TO BENEFIT SELVES AND OTHERS BY HELPFUL WORK ALONG LINES OF PURITY AND LOYALTY TO HIGHER IDEALS—DANGERS OF SEMI-IMMORALITY TO BE COMBATED; SIMPLICITY IN DRESS ONE PURPOSE.

Sheath gowns, poodle dogs and girls who "dress to be looked at" were generously condemned at the First Oregon State Girls' Conference, that opened in the Presbyterian church Saturday afternoon, immediately following the close of the State Sunday School convention, and which will continue its sessions Sunday. The exercises were opened with devotional singing, led by Miss Marguerite Moore. The purpose of the gathering was allegorically represented by the blue and white badges worn by the members, the blue standing for loyalty and the white for purity. Devotional services were led by Mrs. E. H. Andrews, after which a charming solo was rendered by Miss Agnes Fries.

By Mrs. L. A. Danenhauer presiding, Miss Ruth Brightwell welcomed the delegates to the city, and a fitting response to the greeting was made by Miss Edith Daugherty, of Portland. Mrs. F. W. Ormsby, state superintendent of secondary grade Sunday school work, then outlined the design of the conference, pointing out the pressing need of work for girls, so that they might exert a greater and better influence in all communities. Mrs. Ferguson opened a discussion of "What I think of the Conference," and many of the delegates gave their views as to the need of organized work.

A most interesting address upon "Dress its Effect upon Morals," was delivered by Miss W. P. Chandlers, assistant to Mrs. Lola G. Baldwin, of the municipal department of public safety for young women in Portland. Miss Chandlers said that there were two kinds of girls, "those who were looked at, and those who were admired." Simplicity in dress was advocated, and "sheath gowns" and other modern devices for the revelation of the human form were spoken of merely as initial steps on the wrong path. Miss Chandlers urged all the delegates to model their deportment and dress upon the daughters of President Wilson, who are noted for their ideals of modesty and simplicity.

In closing the first day's session the convention adopted the following resolution: "Be it resolved that the First Girls' Conference of the state of Oregon extends thanks, first to the people of the Presbyterian church who have given us the use of their church building; second, to Mrs. Andrews and the ladies who so ably assisted her and the young ladies of the decoration committee; third, to Mrs. Ormsby, Mrs. Danenhauer, Miss Wolfe, Miss J. Corsey, leader of the Camp Fire Girls, and all who have taken part in the program; fourth, to the railroad companies for their kindness in giving rates to this convention."

TOPICS OF SCHOOL COURSE DISCUSSED

Interesting talks upon the new training school for teachers were given at a meeting of the Clackamas County Schoolmen's club held at Gladstone Saturday evening. The scheme of the proposed departure being outlined by County Superintendent T. J. Gary. Members of the Gladstone school board and the city officials also attended, and the ladies of the city served an excellent repast.

CATTLE MARKET'S TONE IS BETTER

Receipts for the week have been: cattle 1522, calves 34, hogs 1680, sheep $42, horses 67. A steady cattle market due to a large proportion of well finished steers. Top load during the six days sold at $15, others at $10 and $19. Bulk top is just steady at $10. Butcher stock has been comparatively scarce and all lines firmer. Beef liquidation was liberal and outlet is none to broad. Medium and poor stuff is difficult to sell at any price. Steers at $10, cows 7.00 bulg 6.00 and calves 9.00 are extreme levels in the cattle market.

FORMER OREGON CITY GIRL TO WED POPULAR FIGHTER

License was issued Friday to John Lewis and Margaret Brown to be married. Miss Brown is the daughter of William Brown, a former resident of this city, and has a host of friends here. John Lewis has achieved considerable fame as a prize fighter of no little standing. During last fall he made a trip to California and won several fights. He is 21 years old. A bright future is predicted for him.

MINSTRELS DO WELL

The first rehearsal of the minstrel troupe of the Oregon City Commercial club, to be held upon a regular stage, will be in Shilvey's Opera House Monday evening. The members are all enthusiastic over the progress that is being made, and everybody who has had the privilege of having the splendid work that is being done believes that the minstrel show will be the greatest amateur production ever attempted in this city. The chorus work is remarkable, and no doubt the principle will prove as good.

J.C. LAFRANCE NOT DEAD; RICH?

COQUILLE, Or., April 26.—(Special)—Charging that J. C. LaFrance killed insurance companies and locked out of $15,000 on insurance policies paid upon his supposed death a man whom the authorities declare is the "dead man," but who gives the name of A. P. Fergler, was arrested here late this afternoon. It is said that LaFrance substituted the body of another man, dressed it in his clothes, and then disappeared, leaving his wife to collect the money. A woman has been arrested with "Fergler," and is presumed to be Mrs. LaFrance. LaFrance was supposed to have been drowned in the Clackamas river near Oregon City, last June. No body was recovered for some time, and then a badly decomposed corpse was found, and bore LaFrance's clothes and personal papers. Life insurance was paid with but little question. Among the insurance organizations that suffered, if a fraud was perpetrated, were the Woodmen and Artisans. "Fergler" will be taken to Portland for trial.
