BOOSTER EXHIBIT TO BE BROADENED

MERCHANTS FAVOR SYSTEM OF HAVING ANNUAL CELEBRATION REFLECT GROWTH

CHANCE FOR GOOD PUBLICITY SEEN

With Less of Carnival Features and More of Produce Display, Opportunity to Attract Spectators is Forecast

At a meeting of the Commercial club to be held probably on Wednesday of this week reports on the annual Stock Show will be made by the committee who had that work in charge, and there will in all likelihood be a discussion of the plans now under consideration to change the scope and design of future annual celebrations. As recounted recently in these columns, there is a growing sentiment in favor of having a Booster Day hereafter represent more purely the resources of the city and county, and doing away with the carnival features that have been so noticeable in recent gatherings.

It is felt by many of the business men of the city that more can be accomplished by having the celebration partake generally of the character of a "hand show" or fair, in which it will be demonstrated to all visitors that Clackamas county contains resources not equalled elsewhere in the western part of the state. It is believed that if a permanent organization is formed to handle the exhibition from year to year that a most creditable display can be made, and that as the years pass, the show will become better and broader in its scope.

It has been suggested that a committee of ten be named to handle all the details of future exhibitions, and that each member of the committee be given some special line to look after. In this way, it is felt, a more truly representative show can be given, and one that will accomplish more constructive good for the community. While the utmost satisfaction has generally been felt with this year's Booster Day celebration, it is believed that even more can be accomplished under the new plan.

Instead of merely having a stock show, it is suggested that in the future an agricultural and fruit show be held as well, so that the exhibits on view will show at a glance the resources and possibility of the county. While the stock displayed last week far exceeded the expectations of even the most ardent boosters of the district, and attracted statewide attention, it is believed that if the grains and fruits, as well as other agricultural products, were grouped together, the showing would be much better, and would be a better lure to the county for home-seekers.

In order to take the best advantage of the county's resources, it may be found advisable to hold the annual show later in the year, when grain and other crops are in their prime. The changing of the date of the show would be but a detail, however, and could easily be arranged. In connection with this new and broader scope of the scheme, it is also suggested that the parade should be more representative of the county products and that floats representing the fruit, the cereals, the farm products and garden truck be prepared and shown in a great street pageant. Retention of the children's parade, and the making it of a still greater feature, is also suggested; while many of the local merchants think the floats showing Oregon City's greatness as a manufacturing and retail center also ought to be prepared.

Among those who favor this scheme is George H. Bannan, and speaking of this phase of the possible plan, he expresses the following view:

"You can put me down right now for $100 towards the next Booster Day. If such a plan is carried out," said he. "Booster Day ought to be as important and permanent a feature for us as the Rose Festival is for Portland, or the Golden Potlatch for Seattle. Such an annual feature does a great deal for a city, not only in attracting visitors, but in bringing in the neighboring people from the country, and in stimulating development and progress."

Mr. Bannan's remarks were endorsed by many other merchants. These matters will probably be taken up in a preliminary way at the meeting of the Commercial club, and at subsequent meetings the plans will be worked out in detail.

TEACHERS SCHOOL FOR THREE WEEKS

COUNTY TRAINING COURSE WILL OPEN AT GLADSTONE PARK JUNE 17

NEW LAW PROVIDES FOR SYSTEM

Instructors to Have Use of all Camping Sites Before Chataqua Session—Model Class to be Feature

The first teachers' training school to be held in Clackamas county, as provided for by the law passed at the last session of the legislature, which makes it optional with the instructors whether they will have an annual institute or a training school, will be opened at Gladstone Park June 17, this year, in charge of County School Superintendent T. J. Gary. Over 75 per cent of the teachers in the county have requested that a training school be held, and arrangements are now being completed for a thoroughly comprehensive course of work.

At the request of the teachers particular attention will be paid to intensified child study, rather than to subject matter, and a course of social hygiene will also be held. The training school will occupy the three weeks between the opening date and the annual Chataqua, and most of the teachers will remain over for the Chataqua sessions, which this year will be arranged especially with the teachers in view. While the complete course for the training school has not yet been formed, it has already been arranged to have present representatives of the publishing houses putting out the new standard text books, who will explain and demonstrate the best methods of instruction from them.

There will also be conducted for the three weeks a model "country school" of one room, in which all eight grades will be taught simultaneously. Miss Bigelow, the United States good roads expert will also be on hand to enlighten teachers on what they can do to better the good roads movement; and Miss Grace Lamkin, the nationally famed expert on playgrounds will attend and demonstrate to the teachers the benefits of "instructional games," in which "grown-up kindergarten" methods are employed to develop the older children.

Arrangements have also been made to have present a number of normal school students, and other young women who are planning later on to take up teaching as a profession. Through the courtesy of the management of the Chataqua, free use of the grounds and restaurant, as well as the water supply, will be given the county for the teachers. The same charge will be made for tents for the three weeks of school, and for the Chataqua course as is made for the Chataqua period alone, so that practically all the teachers who attend the school will continue camping right on through the other gathering. The restaurant will be operated on a co-operative basis by the teachers, in this way it is expected that much money will be saved.

County School Superintendent Gary has sent circular letters to all instructors in the county, asking them what subjects they prefer to have taken up at the school sessions, and there has been a marked unanimity of reply. Particular stress was laid upon the social hygiene course, but two or three of the teachers not mentioning it as one of the studies they desired.

In asking that a three-week course in teacher training be substituted for the former institute, the teachers voted four to one in favor of the new system. In making up the program every effort will be made to provide the teachers with the material that will be most helpful to them, and speakers and authorities from all parts of the state, as well as from outside institutions, will be invited to be present.

With regard to the model school that is to be held, Mr. Gary is in somewhat of an odd quandary. Speaking of this matter, he said:

"Usually, when there is a model school held for exhibition purposes, the very brightest children are selected. This time, as a demonstration of what may be done by modern country school methods, we don't want bright children. We want dull ones, the duller the better. But just how we are going to get dull ones we have not yet found out. We cannot very well advertise for dull children, and even if we did I don't suppose we'd get them, for everybody thinks their own children are bright, and they wouldn't send us any at all if only dull ones were to be accepted. However, we shall hope to get some, in some way, that will really make the demonstration worth while, and that will show what can be done by modern methods with a single-room, eight-grade school."

COURT INQUIRY MEETING TODAY

There will be a public meeting in the county court room at 11 a. m. Tuesday, of the joint committee appointed by the Live Wires and at a recent mass-meeting to inquire into matters in relation to the county court. At this meeting all who have grievances against the county board have been invited to submit them in writing, so that careful investigation of any wrongdoing may be made. The meeting will be open to the public, and any person desiring to register complaint about the county affairs is invited to submit his remarks in writing. Oral complaints will not be received.

M. J. Brown, R. Schabel and S. L. Casto will be present at the hearing, representing the mass-meeting held some week ago, and the Live Wires of the Commercial club will be represented by G. D. Ely and John Loder. W. S. U'ren was originally named as the third member of the Live Wires committee, but withdrew, and nobody was named in his place.

PARTS OF SEWER MAY BE YET USED

The attitude of several of the property owners along Seventh street has changed since the city council has decided that street shall have a sewer lowered before a hard surface pavement is put down. Several of the owners along the street were in favor of hard surface when the agitation was first brought before the public, but they believed that a deeper and more permanent sewer should be placed before the hard surface was so that the street would not have to be torn up.

The present sewer on the street for the greater part of the distance is so near the surface that it is impossible to drain the basements of buildings which adjoin it. The need of a deeper sewer will be felt more and more as time goes on, and the street is built up as a business thoroughfare.

At the last meeting of the city council, consulting engineer Robert Robert Dieck, of Portland, made a report upon the condition of the present sewer and plans of a new sewer. The council is of an opinion that the sewer should be laid deeper over a portion of the street, especially that part which is level.

A plan that has been suggested by one of the property owners is that

Learning "Home Efficiency"

"Home efficiency is as important as business efficiency," says Louis Brandeis. Home efficiency is not difficult to practice, and if applied to your buying will save you money, worry, time, and effort.

Common sense is the first step toward efficiency in shopping. Consider how to use your time and money to the best advantage. Know where to shop. This in turn requires thought on the things you need, the money you can afford to spend, and the values to be had. Effort may be saved by shopping at the proper hour, shopping by phone, or by anticipating your wants and placing standing orders.

The merchants advertising in THE ENTERPRISE will gladly cooperate with you among these lines. Read their advertisements in THE ENTERPRISE today and every day.

HUSBAND DEPARTS; MYSTERY IN NOTE

John T. Hoops, of Twilight, left his wife in Oregon City, whither both had gone to witness the Booster Day parade on Saturday, hastened to his home, packed up his belongings, and departed. When his wife returned later in the evening, she found the house in disorder, and at first surmised that burglars had entered during her absence. While looking about to see how many of her valuables had been taken, she found a note left by her husband.

What the note contained, Mrs. Hoops persistently refuses to tell. To neighbors who have noted her husband's absence, and who have inquired as to his whereabouts, she has simply replied that he has gone away. She admits the note being left, and intimates that in it her husband gives his reasons for leaving her, but will not tell the contents of the message.

Hoops and his wife have been living at Twilight for some time, and were both much liked in the neighborhood. Though they made but few friends, people speak highly of them, and say that they appeared to be perfectly happy together. Mrs. Hoops is said to be prostrated with grief at the turn events in her life have taken; but will not confide in any of her neighboring women, all of whom have called on her to offer aid and sympathy, the contents of the note her husband left when he departed.

ROSE SHOW DATE TO BE DISCUSSED

The Oregon City Rose society meets Tuesday afternoon at half-past two in the Commercial club parlors to make arrangements for the annual rose exhibit. Considerable difference of opinion exists as to the best date on which to hold the display, as the Portland Rose society has picked the time when the blooms will be at their best in this locality, and many local exhibitors desire to enter the large show as well. This matter will be thoroughly threshed out at the meeting, and so that all sides may be heard, it is desired that a full membership be in attendance.

In all probability it will be decided to hold the local show just before the Portland show, as Oregon City roses by that time will likely be very nearly in their prime. It is believed that if delay is had until after the Portland show, local blooms will have passed their best form.

SALMON FISHERS CAUGHT ON FILM

MOVING PICTURES OF LOCAL ANGLERS TAKEN FOR DISPLAY IN OUTSIDE CITIES

COMMERCIAL CLUB BACKS STUNT

Views Taken of Scenic Features as Well—Sunday is Great Day for Sportsmen, Who Use Every Available Boat

Excellent moving pictures were obtained Sunday of the salmon fishing upon the Willamette. Three representatives of the Motion Picture Company of Oregon, a subsidiary branch of the People's Amusement company, came the city and at 11 o'clock, accompanied by Tom Meyers, and O. E. Freytag, took a launch and made a trip out on the river. The falls were first visited, where some excellent pictures were obtained of salmon being caught. After dinner the party again went on the river and secured pictures of the large fleet out from Oregon City and of the head of the rapids. Pictures were obtained in both of these places of salmon being landed.

Among the local men shown in the pictures are: C. G. Huntley, Theodore Osmond and Dr. Ice. Mr. Meyers states that about 1000 feet of film were taken, and that about 600 feet will probably be shown upon the screens. The pictures will be shown Monday night at the Grand theatre in Portland, and then will probably be shown by one of the local houses. The Commercial club reserves the right to use the pictures for advertising purposes.

The taking of the pictures is considered one of the best advertisements that Oregon City can receive, as the pictures will be shown to thousands of people. It has been suggested that the Commercial club or the moving picture show managers in this city secure some of the representatives of the large motion picture "weeklies" to take pictures.

The river Sunday and Monday was filled with an unusually large number of fishermen, most of whom had come to this city from Portland to enjoy the fishing. On Sunday about 135 rowboats and launches were out upon the river, or in other words about all the boats in the city. Most of the boats were congregated in the lower part of the river, near the head of the rapids and below the suspension bridge, but some collected at the falls.

On the whole, the fishing was good, notwithstanding the cloudy weather. Some fine fish were caught, and there were very few boats that did not catch at least one salmon. The fishing below the falls will practically end Thursday, for on that day the river is thrown open to the gill netters.

GOOD BIRD TALK PROMISED FRIDAY

William Lord, author of "Lord's Bird Book of Oregon" will give a stereopticon lecture at the high school Friday evening at 8 o'clock in the auditorium. Mr. Lord is recognized as one of the best authorities on birds in the country and is undoubtedly the best authority on Oregon birds.

He has lectured in this city before, and those who have heard him say that he is an interesting talker, as well as being well informed upon his subject. Much of his life has been devoted to nature study, particularly with reference to birds and their habits. The lecture is free and every fancier of birds is urged to be present.

BRYAN HAS REINS AT SACRAMENTO

SECRETARY OF STATE DELIVERS MESSAGE OF PRESIDENT TO LEGISLATORS

VISIT ESTABLISHES PRECEDENT

Popular Interest in Situation is Intense, Though Diplomacy Prevents Public Expression of Real Feelings

SACRAMENTO, Cal., April 28.—Again smashing a precedent, William Jennings Bryan, as special representative of President Woodrow Wilson, arrived in the California capital this morning to confer with Governor Johnson and the legislators regarding pending anti-alien land laws. Never before has a president of the United States interfered directly with the law-making power of a state legislature; and the outcome of the present move of the new administration, which has already smashed precedents by the score, is being watched with interest.

Officially, of course, the administration is not interfering with California affairs. Mr. Bryan himself makes this clear, in the statement that he gave out shortly after his arrival.

"I am here to confer, not in any sense to direct, in the pending matter," he said. "My pleasure will be that of the legislature. I cannot say at this time whether the conference on the anti-alien legislation will be open or executive. I will not say that they will be executive. I have come here at the request of the president to look after the international phases of the situation."

"No plans of procedure have at this time been decided upon. I will address the legislature if such be the desire. My visit has in no wise been limited, and I shall stay here until the matter is settled."

This, however, is of course, nothing but diplomatic language, and nobody for a moment believes that the secretary of state has rushed at top speed across the continent merely to confer with the Californians. That he has come with the set purpose of preventing the legislature from passing a law aimed explicitly at the Japanese is well known and accepted, and entire interest now hangs upon the manner in which he will accomplish it. As "centralization of power" has never before been regarded as a democratic doctrine, much interest is felt in the present situation.

Mr. Bryan is here as Governor Johnson's guest, and is staying at the executive mansion. It is believed that the Japanese will have his hands full in handling the present crisis, and his friends and foes alike are wondering how events will shape themselves. This afternoon he held an executive and secret session with the legislative leaders, and at that time made known to them the government's attitude and the reasons lying back thereof.

FOUNTAIN HOSE WINS BOOSTER DAY BATTLE

Owing to a mistaken list of awards furnished, it was stated that "Mountain View Hose company" had won the test in Saturday's Booster Day contest among local fire companies. The real winner of the contest held on lower Main street was Fountain Hose company No. 1, which defeated Greenpoint Hose No. 5, by five and one-half seconds in the straight water test. Corrected times on the contest, as figured by the judges, is as follows:

Fountain Hose ... 35 seconds
 Greenpoint Hose ... 40 1/2 seconds
 Slower time than was expected by either company was made in the run and test, owing to the slippery conditions of the streets, a shower just before the race having made the paving as slick as grease.
