ALREADY SEEN folk who have found fault with the county cruise of timber lands are somewhat deprived of their arguments by results of the cruise so far conducted. To date, about half the timber land in the district has been gone over by experts, and as a result there will be considerable increase in assessments next year. One tract which in 1912 was assessed at $19,200 has been found by the cruise to contain 43,000,000 feet of timber, and aside from this it has been determined that the soil from which the timber has sprung is some of the best in the county and will easily be worth $15 an acre when cleared in the rough for agricultural development.

Another tract, formerly assessed at $11,200, has been found upon cruising to contain 49,000,000 feet of timber, and next year will be assessed at $27,000. Washington assesses its timber regions by means of cruising estimates, and thereby gets some adequate return from the holdings of the big companies. Assessing timber land by guess work is not suitable to modern times, and permits too many chances for mistakes, if not for favoritism. Money that the county may spend on this cruise will be more than returned to the taxpayers by the increased assessment, and the placing of the burden of county upkeep where it rightfully belongs. The more nearly their own share of taxation that the timber interests bear, the less will be the surplus and wrongful share that other interests will have to bear.

Salem heard about Booster Day, and heard good news of it. Says The Salem Statesman:

"Many high bred horses and cattle were the principal attraction at a two-days carnival in Oregon City yesterday and the day before. Everybody from the surrounding country came in and assisted the enthusiastic Oregon City people to make the occasion a gala one. Some surprise was shown over the display of livestock, the majority of the visitors not having been aware that this portion of the state possessed so many animals of the quality exhibited."

Correct. The teacher was explaining the tenses. "Now, Willie," she said, "suppose I should say, 'I have a million dollars.' What tense would that be?" "That'd be pretense," answered Willie. --Boston Transcript.

BENEFICENCE.

Beneficence has this peculiarity--that the more we exercise it the more pleasure we find in its exercise. We attach ourselves to the unfortunate object that we relieve, and the assistance we give him becomes a want to those by whom it is administered. He who has once caused the tears of gratitude to flow and who can afterward seek a pleasure sweeter than that is not worthy of feeling all the charm of doing good. --Mme. Roland.

Cupid at the Back Stair.

On the back of the maid's regular weekly letter from her admirer there invariably appeared some mysterious hieroglyphics. After a few weeks the mistress, being filled with a highly feminine and quite laudable curiosity, inquired, "Jane, what are those mysterious letters on the back of the envelopes you get?" "Why, ma'am, I thought every one who courted knew that. 'S W A K F O W L Y' means 'Sealed with a kiss from one who loves you.'" --Manchester Guardian.

Discharging the Cook.

"Well, cook's gone at last, John," said Mrs. B. "Good. You must have had more courage than I gave you credit for to discharge her."

"I didn't do it. She discharged herself. I flattered her so about her cooking that she thought she was too good to stay with us, and off she went." --Exchange.

Water Needles.

So penetrating is water at high pressure that only special qualities of cast iron will be tight against it. In the early days of the hydraulic jack it was no uncommon thing to see the water issuing like a fine needle through the metal, and the water needle would penetrate the nutway flange just as readily as a steel one.

$15,000,000 Heiress Is Bunkoed By Cupid Out of Her "Ideal"

WHEN she was Miss Lilla Gilbert, New York society belle and heiress to $15,000,000 she said she wanted to marry her "ideal." He must be a brunette, with a curl over his left ear; Republican and Episcopalian, clean shaven, fond of athletics and know all about pigs and poultry. After she had decided on all these beautiful qualifications along came Howard Price Renshaw of her own set in New York. He didn't fit the bill by a jugful. But she became engaged and recently married him. Her "real" husband has sandy hair and a red mustache. He's a Democrat, but admits being an Episcopalian. He is not up on sport and knows no more than a city street urchin about pigs and poultry. So there you are.

Mother Is the Greatest Title a Woman Can Achieve

Training and Raising Children Highest Duties

By DAVID I. WALSH, Lieutenant Governor of Massachusetts

MOTHER IS THE GREATEST TITLE A WOMAN CAN ACHIEVE. POLITICAL HONORS NOT WITHSTANDING.

Wife and mother--those are the titles and conditions of honor and dignity. Not all attain them. Situations arise that change the currents of life and the mode of living, but these REMAIN THE IDEALS.

The rearing of children, their teaching and training, are the noblest functions and the HIGHEST DUTIES of humanity.

The idea that children can be reared by instinct is absurd. The nearer a science motherhood can reach the FINER CHILDREN WILL BE REARED. The further from the standards of a primitive race we get the more health and vigor we are bound to have.

WHAT IS GOOD ENOUGH FOR THE ANIMAL WILL NOT DO AT ALL FOR THE MAN. OLD NOTIONS OF REARING CHILDREN ARE AS ARCHAIC AS PREDICTING WEATHER BY THE THINNESS OR THICKNESS OF THE GOOSEBONE, AS THE CASE MIGHT HAPPEN TO BE.

I think the woman who believes devoutly and devotedly that her best and highest work lies in following the commands of her Maker will find no difficulty in doing her legitimate share in the other work of the world. She must NEVER LOSE HER SENSE OF PROPORTION and try to dethrone her supreme duties and place upon a pedestal the things that may lure her from the highest calls of WOMANHOOD AND MOTHERHOOD.
