Diplomatic Reticence.

The social reformer was paying a visit to the convicts in the penitentiary and asking them various questions. "And what are you doing here, my friend?" he said to a good looking man in the shoe shop. "Making shoes," was the reply that discouraged any further inquisition in that direction.

Information Wanted.

"Isolate the patient." "Yes, doctor. Where shall we put the ice?"—Baltimore American

With consummate generosity combined with exhilarating during Smith had stolen home from third and tied the score. "Don't, gentlemen," he protested when the salvos of applause had ceased. "don't. It's a mere trifle." "What?" cried the crowd. "Do you call stealing home a trifle?" "Yes," insisted Smith. "You see, I'm trained for that stunt. Getting off my base, I am compelled to steal home every night after my wife falls asleep."—New York American.

VEGETABLES FIRM WITH GOOD SALES

Cabbage, cauliflower and lettuce were the features of the green stuff market Tuesday, and all were firm and reasonably good in price. California cabbage brought two cents a pound, prime cauliflower ranged from 90 cents to a dollar a dozen, with poorer stock available at much lower figures. Lettuce sold at $2.50 a crate while it lasted, but was soon cleaned up. Berries have stepped up, owing to non-arrival of expected supplies. New garnet potatoes brought 6 1/2 cents a pound, while other new spuds were quoted at from 5 cents up. Old potatoes are still a drug on the market. The egg trade is much as previously, with a wide range of prices, and many individual sellers. Storage buying continues heavy, but top prices are not being paid for this class of business.

SICK MAN STARVES

Sheriff Edward Mass Tuesday went to Logan to pick up Charles Lemmon, who for the past three days has been hanging about that community a subject of epileptic fits. Lemmon has eaten nothing for the past three days, and was in an emaciated condition when taken into charge. He has been violently ill for the past week, people who know him declare. He is being held in the county jail pending action by the county court.

FIFTH ANNIVERSARY TO BE CELEBRATED

To celebrate the fifth anniversary of the opening of the playhouse, the Grand theatre on May 1, 2 and 3 will offer a specially elaborate program to its patrons. The management intends making this an annual feature, and during the three days of the celebration will spare no expense in putting on a show that is thoroughly representative in every way. An augmented orchestra will furnish music at the evening performances, and a special bill will be offered. Aside from the films, which for this occasion have been specially selected, there will be two top-notch vaudeville features: Doranto, a Chinese impersonator of particular merit, and the Stanleys in a musical act that is both unique and entertaining. These features will be added to the regular program with no additional admission charges. The Grand theatre management also announces that next Monday there will be shown exclusively at the Grand the moving pictures of the falls and local salmon fishing taken here last Sunday. This feature will afford many Oregon City people a chance to see themselves in the "movies."

Anticipating Failure.

"She is going to marry him to reform him." "In that case I will be careful about selecting the wedding present. I'll pick out something that she can pawn when the lean days come."—Exchange.

WORK HARD.

You need no capital but a fixed idea and a resolve to carry it out. Want a thing harder than the world wants to keep you from it, and you'll wear through every opposition and get it. The man who works hard enough will find enough to repay him. Only the worker lasts. Carelessness and indifference and neglect are not timbers for the builder.—Herbert Kaufman.

Vindicated. A teacher in one of the public schools thought she had reason to doubt the word of a certain boy in her class who said he had been to a dental clinic of the department of health to have one of his teeth treated. The tooth in question had been the cause of much comment on the part of the youngsters.

When the boy saw that there was no doubt as to his statements he finally blurted out that he could tell the teacher just who fixed his tooth. "And who did?" she asked. "The board of health's wife," quickly answered the boy. He was referring to the nurse in the clinic. The teacher took his word after that.—New York Tribune.

Stopped the Funeral.

The "funeral" at Zenta, in Hungary, of a man named Peter Hirti proved a sensation. The cortege was approaching the cemetery when the lid of the coffin was forced off, and Peter Hirti, alive and well, stepped out of the hearse onto the road. On seeing him the mourners were seized with panic. When the excitement subsided Peter Hirti related that he had made a bet that he could feign death and keep up the deception until the coffin in which he was placed was taken to the cemetery. The want of air compelled him to force the coffin lid before the cemetery was reached, and he therefore lost the bet.

Dying For Want of War.

The people of the Solomon islands are rapidly decreasing in numbers. Dr. W. Thorold Quife, a medical officer in the islands, declares that the decrease in population is due to the fact that tribal warfare has ceased, and the natives no longer kill one another. This warfare, Dr. Quife adds, used to keep the natives "fit" and energetic. Now they have become lazy and inert, and the race is fast deteriorating and seems likely to die out in course of time.—London Chronicle.

If it happened it is in the Enterprise.

HISTORIC REVOLT SHOWN UPON FILM

A. J. Bell, manager of the Ball theatre, has secured the right to make the first run of the great massacre murder pictures in the state of Oregon. These pictures graphically picture the scenes attending the murder of the former Mexican president. The pictures will absolutely be shown for the first time in this state at the Bell theatre on Thursday, May 1. From Oregon City they will go to the Majestic theatre in Portland. Mr. Bell had quite a time with the managers of the film exchange before he was able to secure the pictures for the first run in this state.

The pictures were taken in Mexico City immediately prior to and after the murder, and during the revolution. They tell a different story than may have been thought by many concerning the death of the man. The reports given out by the Huerta government stated that Madero was shot while attempting to make his escape. The pictures tell an entirely different story, showing that the executive was placed against the prison wall and deliberately shot down in cold blood. This was done simply to get Madero out of the way. General Garibaldi, Madero's former chief aide, saw the pictures in New York and said that he had no doubt after seeing them that Madero had been shot in cold blood upon the order of the present Mexican government. The pictures shows the bullet holes in the wall back of where the body stood, and shows that they could have been there for no other reason.
