WHEN DONOVAN CHANGED HIS OPINION ABOUT JOHNSON.

WED Bill Donovan, in his time one of the great pitchers of the day and now manager of the Providence International league team, recalls one sunny afternoon in the season of 1907, while he was with the Detroit Tigers, a tall, awkward-looking youth wearing a Washington uniform walking out upon the mound.

"Who's that fellow?" inquired Bill from a spectator. "His name is Johnson," was the reply. "They say he struck out twenty-two men in Idaho."

"Well, this isn't Idaho, and that young fellow will find it out in a very few minutes," put in Bill as he sat down to watch the proceedings.

Three innings later Donovan went back to the spectator who had given him the information.

"How many did you say he struck out in Idaho—twenty-two? It's a wonder he didn't strike out twenty-seven. That's the greatest kid I have ever seen."

1913 GOLF TOURNEYS PROMISE TO MAKE HISTORY

More golf tournament dates than ever are listed for the coming season. This not only pertains to the amateurs, but to the professionals as well, the projected visit of Harry Vardon and Edward Ray, of course, being responsible for the increased interest in the doings of the salaried brigade. The list of the most important tournaments is as follows:

- MAY. 19-22—Women's individual championship of Philadelphia, on a course to be selected. 21-24—Fifteenth annual championship tournament of the Metropolitan Golf association at Fox Hills. 25-31—British amateur championship tournament at St. Andrews, Scotland. JUNE. 2-6—Fourteenth annual championship tournament of the Women's Metropolitan Golf association at the Nassau Country club. 2-7—British women's championship tournament at St. Anne's-on-Sea. 2-7—Fourteenth annual championship tournament of the New Jersey State Golf association at the Baltusrol Golf club. 9-14—Annual tournament of the Women's Eastern Golf association at Brae Burn Country club, Newton, Mass. 11-14—Trinity matches for the Griscom cup over a course in the Boston district. 16—Competition for Tom Morris memorial trophy at all clubs of the Western Golf association. 16-21—Annual transmississippi championship tournament at the Glen Echo Country club. 19-21—Invitation tournament at the Apawamis club. 19-21—British open championship tournament at Hogles. 20-22—Franco-American professional team match at La Bouille, France. (Date approximate.)

JULY.

- 1—Competition for Crafts W. Higgins trophy at all clubs in Women's Western Golf association. 2-5—French amateur championship tournament at La Bouille, France. 10—Olympic cup competition at Homewood (N. Y.) Country club. 15—Annual open championship tournament of the Golf Association of Philadelphia on a course to be selected. 21-23—Amateur championship tournament of the Western Golf association at the Homewood Country club. AUGUST. 6-9—Tournament for first president's cup at Elkwanok Country club. SEPTEMBER. 16—Eighteenth amateur championship tournament of the United States Golf association at the Garden City Golf club. 23-25—Intercollegiate championship tournament at the Huntingdon Valley Country club. 17-18—Nineteenth national open championship tournament at the Country club, Brookline, Mass. 24-25—Seniors' tournament at the Apawamis club. 29-30—Open championship tournament of the Western Golf association at the Memphis Country club.

First Life Policy. "The first life insurance policy that was ever issued is said to have been written on June 18, 1583, and to have been for £250 6s 8d on the life of a certain William Gibbons," said Archibald A. Welch in a lecture. "The policy was for one year and the premium was 8 per cent of the sum insured; the age was uncertain. It happened that Gibbons died on May 29, 1584, well within the expiration year, but the insurers contested the claim on the ground that twelve months of twenty-eight days each had elapsed. The courts, however, decided against the insurers and the money had to be paid."—Exchange.

Older Than Germany's Oldest. A house at Winkel acquired for a public museum is said to be the oldest dwelling in Germany, having been built for the archbishop of Mayence in 850. According to some authorities, the Fighting Cocks Inn, St. Albans, which claims to be the oldest inhabited house in England, beats even this record, having been built as a boathouse to the monastery founded at St. Albans by King Offa about 755. It has, however, not served as an inn so long as some other buildings, such as the Saracen's Head, Newark; the Old Green Man, Erdington; the Seven Stars, Withygrove, Manchester, and the Bell, Finedon.—London Chronicle.

A Fatal Advertisement. Vestris, the great dancing master died at eighty-three, and it was said he would have lived till a hundred but for a sudden and mortal blow in the shape of an advertisement. One day he asked for a newspaper, probably for the first time in his life. Scarcely had he opened the sheet when his eyes lighted upon the following: "Wanted—A professor of dancing at Calcutta. Must be a skillful choreographer at the same time." He took to his bed and never left it again alive.

He Could Sympathize. The sentimental city girl was spending a season in the country. So full of sentiment and so imaginative was she that she could hear the trees whisper, the bushes sigh and the plants sing. One day in June she was sitting beneath a cherry tree with several children, one of whom was a ten-year-old boy. Overhead a gentle breeze softly purred through the quivering leaves. "Listen!" suddenly exclaimed the young lady. "Can't you hear this poor tree groaning, Johnny?" "No; I don't hear it groan," replied Johnny, assuming a listening attitude. "but I know how it feels to be full of green cherries."—New York American.

HOME INFLUENCES. Each one of us is bound to make the little circle in which he lives better and happier; each one of us is bound to see that out of that small circle the widest good may flow; each of us may have fixed in his mind the thought that out of a single household may flow influences which shall stimulate the whole commonwealth and the whole civilized world.—Dean Stanley.

It Came From Boston. Mrs. Hubb—I allow my husband no litchkey. He rings, and I ask who's there. Then he says, "It's I," and I open the door. Mrs. Kawler—But suppose a thief should ring and say the same thing—you'd be in a fix. Mrs. Hubb—Oh, a thief wouldn't answer. "It's I." He'd say, "It's me."—Boston Transcript.

NEW STOCK COMES TO LOCAL MARKET

New head lettuce, strawberries and oranges arrived from outside points Wednesday, strengthening the market in these commodities, and changing prices. Lettuce is running around $1.75 a crate, and berries are quoted from $3 to $3.75, and are of excellent quality. Oranges are running from $4 to $4.50 a box, according to size. New potatoes are coming in heavier and the price is falling about a half-cent a pound. Garnets still top the list in the neighborhood of 6 cents.

The egg trade is getting settled. Cold storage interests have slowed up on their buying, and sales are now only to be had in the usual channels. It is thought in some quarters that the storage people are merely trying to depress the market, but if this is so they are not apt to be successful, as local fanciers have gotten rid of most of their stock, and future laying will probably just about keep even with the demand. Storage eggs will probably come henceforth from the south, buying preference being given local eggs in other market.

LOCAL BRIEFS

Orvil James, of Astoria, is in this city. J. A. Miley, of Aurora, is a business visitor in the city. W. E. Wann, of Portland, was in the city Tuesday and Wednesday. MRS. LARAMORE TELLS TROUBLES

Lady in Goodwater Describes Her Distressing Experience and Tells How She Was Finally Relieved

Goodwater, Mo.—"Ever since I was a little girl," says Mrs. Riley Laramore, "I was a great sufferer from dyspepsia. I suffered misery after eating, and had terrible heartburn. I thought I had to suffer this way as long as I lived, but when I began to take Theford's Black-Draught, in small doses, every night, the heartburn was all gone in a few days, and I could eat without distress. I took two small packages in all, and although that was some time ago, the dyspepsia has not returned. I speak a good word for Theford's Black-Draught whenever I have the opportunity. If eating causes distress, we urge you to try Theford's Black-Draught. It cleanses the system, helps the stomach to digest its food, regulates the bowels, and stimulates the liver. It acts gently and is without bad after-effects. Try it. Price 25c. For sale by the Jones Drug Co.

CONTEST BATTLE CLOSE AT WINDUP

This is the last day of the big auto contest, and Batdorf and Whiteman are running neck and neck. Never before has there been an auto contest conducted in Clackamas county which has awakened such unbounded enthusiasm as the struggle to win the Howard automobile. Inaugurated just one month ago, with over fifty active entrants, Batdorf and Whiteman have always been in the lead of the great race; and now on this, the last day, the question of the winner is still in doubt. Each candidate represents a different section of the county, and the supporters of each man have done about all in their power to swing the struggle their way. Mr. Batdorf lives in Willamette, and has all of the Sherwood district back of him, as well as numerous friends in this city. Mr. Whiteman, a resident of Oregon City, is the rural mail man on route two, and every patron of this route stands solid for Frank. Although the rivalry between the two has been keen from the start, it has always been of a friendly nature, and the best of feeling exists between the two men.
