DISPOSITION. A cheerful, genial, serene spirit is the source of all that is noble and good. Whoever is accomplished of the greatest and the noblest sort flows from such a sunny disposition.

ONE REASON County School Superintendent T. J. Gary was asked the other day why school children did not spell better. He said they did—that investigations had shown that the youngsters of today spelled much better than did the lads and lassies of several years ago.

Heart to Heart Talks. By JAMES A. EDGERTON. KEEP STEP. After all, we are soldiers. But we are soldiers of life, not of death.

HOME. A good home, especially in the summer time, makes the whole family happy. If you saw the fine green lawn with roses ready to bloom you would say "This is where I spend my vacation."

stance, if the East was finally convinced that on the Oregon coast it is possible to break out solid rock from the sea-cliffs and find living shell-fish imbedded in the material—as is a fact—it might be easier to get them to believe the somewhat less surprising statement that four and sometimes five crops of alfalfa can be harvested in one year from the same field.

LIBRARIES ARE STRONG IN THE PAST, BUT WEAK IN THE NOW. The library can tell you about emigration from Cain's flight to "the land of Nod on the east of Eden," but can it give Taft's message vetoing the immigration bill because of the literacy clause?

I notice a decidedly "literary" tendency among librarians, and a very natural tendency it is. When reference is made in conversation or in public meetings to the business side of life and the library's relation to it some eager friend of culture usually goes through the appropriate incantations, CALLS UP THE GHOST OF THE CLASSICS
