WOMEN AND THE BALLOT. Previous to the Portland election certain raven-voiced people prophesied that the balloting would show that women were unfitted for suffrage. The Portland election has passed, and it is not to be noticed that the women showed any particular unfitness or weirdness in their choice of candidates. In fact, judging from the returns, the women voted largely according to personal opinion—which is the way all good citizens should vote.

SPENDING Down at Klamath Falls the cash this week they had a recall election. It was just about such a half-baked affair as may grow out of the disgruntled agitation in this county. It cost the voters, through county outlay, a pretty sum of money, and it resulted in the complete vindication of County Judge Worden, against whom the shafts of personal spleen had been aimed. The voters went to the polls, cast their ballots, and the returns show about three to one for the county judge.

Portland elections heretofore have usually followed certain reasonably definite lines. That this one did not must be credited to the women, and that the wide variety of men selected won places in the new government must also be charged to the women. These men are not of the same stamp, nor of the same party affiliations, nor of similar records in the past. Their selection must, therefore, have been

SMALL TRACTS 50 acres. Will cut into any size tracts of 5 acres or larger, or will sell the whole tract. 22 acres cleared; 35 acres under fence, balance of land in brush and timber. Best of soil. Simple Lifers Bloom Out Like The Flowers of Spring, Tra-la

YOU heard all about the "simple life" long ago, and, of course, you went on living just as you always did. But over in "dear old London" there is a set of "simple lifers" who are trying to get next to nature in the classic way. This snapshot shows two of 'em in the street garbed in flowing robes and wearing sandals. Their hair is done up in the latest simple life style, and their robes are cut along the newest simple life models. How do you like them? Naturally if you saw such "simple lifers" on the street in your town you'd look twice. Even in sophisticated London, where it is sometimes hard for the militant suffragettes to stir things up, these women attract attention when they walk out.

the "frame-up" of the famous committee of three, that has already stultified itself two or three times in its endeavors to "explain" its report. If a recall election should be held in this county there is no doubt at all but that it would result similarly to the one just held in Klamath. There is no real dissatisfaction with the county court here, it has not been shown that the county court has done any wrong, nor has any proof been submitted that any detail exists with which fault may be found legitimately. All that has been shown is that a small group of disappointed, spleenetic individuals, who have in the past not shown any marked fitness for public executive office, are desirous of ousting county officials for personal reasons; and presumably are also desirous of gaining office for themselves. Maybe it would be worth $5,000 or so to the county to hold a recall election just so that these people could be squelched, once for all—but $5,000 is a pretty price to pay for even such commendable work.

SAYINGS OF TODAY. The American college of today is between the upper and nether millstones. The German-American university has now become the home of scholarship and research. If the American college is to repeat in the twentieth century the inestimable service it rendered to American civilization in the nineteenth century it must recognize the dawn of the new era. Let the typical graduate be trained not only in scholarship and culture, but how to loaf wisely.—Henry Louis Smith, President Washington and Lee University.

I feel as if I am making a twentieth century right into another world. Comparisons are impossible. It will take me some time to get my breath. What a lot Europe might learn from wondrous America! But then one must consider. It is much easier to build up a new country than to change an old one.—C. de Bruyne, Alderman of Ghent, Belgium, Visiting New York.

"THIS IS MY 82ND BIRTHDAY"

Dr. Robert Bell, noted as geologist and explorer and for many years director of the geological survey of Canada, was born in Toronto, June 3, 1831. His education was received principally at McGill university and the University of Edinburgh. He joined the geological survey of Canada in 1857 and for many years was engaged in making extensive geological and topographical surveys in nearly all parts of the Dominion. Dr. Bell accompanied the "Neptune" expedition in 1885 to the Hudson Bay region. As geologist of the "Diana" expedition in 1897 he surveyed the south coast of Baffinland and penetrated to the great lakes of its interior. He made the first surveys of many of the largest lakes of Canada, including the Great Slave Lake and parts of Athabasca, Winnipeg and the Lake of the Woods. The Bell river or western branch of the Nottaway, which he surveyed in 1895, is officially named after Dr. Bell.

Congratulations to: His Majesty King George V., 40 years old today. Paul M. Potter, well-known dramatist, 60 years old today. Rev. Dr. Cortland Myers, pastor of Tremont Temple, Boston, 49 years old today.

Heart to Heart Talks

By JAMES A. EDGERTON

RECOMPENSE. In the long run we get what we earn. Payment may be deferred, but in the end the account is balanced.

To believe this confers a certain deep comfort, for it gives us a sense of faith and security.

We can rest our case in the conviction that ultimate justice will be done, that the law of compensation is at work.

There shall be recompense—recompense for good, recompense for evil.

This law of retribution is recognized the world around. In the orient it is called karma. In the occident it is known as justice. In both the belief is practically universal that if the scale is not balanced in this life then it is balanced in some other.

Herbert Spencer has laid down the proposition that widespread belief in any given idea is an argument in its favor.

The belief in ultimate justice, in the law of compensation, is as wide as the world. It has persisted through all ages. It is a part of all creeds.

It is impossible to think of a physical universe in which there is not absolute balance and adjustment.

If we meditate deeply enough it will become plain to us that it is just as impossible to think of a moral universe in which there is not absolute balance and adjustment.

As above, so below; as within, so without.

Henry Drummond once wrote a book on "Natural Law in the Spiritual World."

My own belief is that there is but one law and that if we see its workings on any plane we may find the analogy to them on every other plane.

We find absolute balance in the material world. The analogy to this in the moral world is justice, compensation, retribution.

Be careful, therefore, of the causes you are setting up, for sooner or later the effects will come back to you.

There is nothing more certain than this—that some time and some place you will get yours.

Siamese Object to Walking. The Siamese, above all nations in the world, hate to walk. No such mode of progression is tolerated by a Siamese if he or she can by any means ride. A Venetian gondolier will walk sometimes, even a Hollander will ride on his rough cart, but a Bangkok man—not if he can help it. His family boat for him.

Thousands of Crooks Are Walking the Streets Unpunished

By HENRY A. WISE, Lawyer, of New York

IF the public prosecutors of this country were not circumscribed by obsolete limitations which prevent the presentation of the whole truth surrounding the cases they are called upon to investigate and present to the courts THOUSANDS OF CROOKS WHO ARE NOW WALKING THE STREETS UNPUNISHED would be doing time in the proper prisons.

IT IS NO EXAGGERATION TO SAY THAT DURING THE PAST YEAR THOUSANDS OF MEN AND WOMEN HAVE BEEN ACQUITTED IN THE COURTS OF THIS COUNTRY, NOT BECAUSE THEY WERE INNOCENT, NOT BECAUSE THERE WAS ANY DOUBT ABOUT THEIR GUILT, BUT BECAUSE A SMART LAWYER DETECTED SOME PURELY TECHNICAL FLAW IN THE PROCEEDINGS.

So deep seated was the impression of danger from judicial malice or subservience that three centuries have not sufficed to bring home to the people of this country a realization that SAFEGUARDS WHICH WERE NECESSARY IN THE FACE OF SEVENTEENTH CENTURY TYRANNY ARE NO LONGER NECESSARY under the mild rule of twentieth century democracy.

It is surely not in this country and in this century, with trials conducted in public, with newspapers eager to report every detail of the evidence, of the pleadings and of the judge's charge, that AN INNOCENT MAN NEED FEAR CONVICTION. As a matter of fact, it is society which has reason to fear that it will not be adequately protected against its criminal members.

The classified ad columns of The Enterprise satisfy your wants.
