Eliminate The Fear Of... Recurring Money Panics By JAMES G. CANNON, President of Fourth National Bank of New York

BE STEADFAST. Let nothing make thee sad or fretful. Or too regretful. Be still. What God has ordered must be right. Then find it in thine own delight, My will. Why shouldst thou fill today with sorrow About tomorrow, My heart? One watches all with care most true. Doubt not that he will give thee, too, Thy part. Only be steadfast. Never waver Nor seek earth's favor. But rest. Thou knowest what God wills must be. For all his creatures, so for thee, The best. -Paul Fleming.

the elevator matter for some months now. It is just beginning to branch into inclined railways. Why not carry the thing still further, and consider these other methods, which are here but meagerly suggested? ROOM FOR What public enthusiasm MORE YET and publicity will do was demonstrated Saturday in the course of the Rose Show day features. Oregon City had on hand an even greater crowd than packed her streets during the Booster Days, and all because everybody pulled together and the newspapers were utilized to spread the tidings of what was to come. Incoming trains from the north and south brought their quota of visitors, farmers and ranchers came in teams and by automobile, the inter-urban brought people from Portland, and everybody in town turned out to see the events and to admire the roses.

It is impossible for a national bank advantageously to assist in providing currency in times of panic under our present laws. If, however, the power to issue notes against good commercial paper, either at face value or at a percentage of face value, was LODGED WITH ONE CENTRAL ASSOCIATION, or, since that seems improbable of accomplishment, then with several associations or THROUGH THE SUBTREASURIES under federal supervision the situation would be entirely different. I BELIEVE THAT THE CLEARING HOUSES COULD BE UTILIZED AS GUARANTORS OF SUCH COMMERCIAL PAPER, THUS PROVIDING AN ABSOLUTE ASSURANCE THAT NO LOSS WOULD EVER OCCUR TO HOLDERS OF CURRENCY SO ISSUED. This would entirely ELIMINATE THE FEAR OF RECURRING MONEY STRINGENCIES and enable us to enjoy the comfortable feeling that our currency was on a basis of elasticity whereby it would respond to such demands as might be placed upon it by the expansion and contraction of our trade and commerce. And so it has seemed to me that if the clearing house is to form the nucleus of a comprehensive currency system in this country, as some of us believe to be possible, one of the first requisites is adequate provision for incorporation. My own preference would be for a FEDERAL INCORPORATION LAW, something after the order of the national bank act.

What He's Up Against. "Why don't you propose to her? By all the signs she loves you." "I know, and I love her, but I don't dare to ask her to marry me." "Why not?" "Her father is very rich, and I am poor." "That ought not to stand in the way of true love." "I know, but her father is very unreasonable. If I should go to him and ask for his daughter's hand in marriage, do you know the very first thing he'd do?" "Give his consent, of course." "Not at all. He'll offer me a job and ask me to make good in it first." -Detroit Free Press. Caliber. "Blinks is a man of small caliber." "Yet he is shinned as a big bore." -Buffalo Express.

REGARDING While the council is THE BLUFF meditating upon the question of building an elevator to carry citizens up and down between the business and residence sections of the city, and is postponing definite action to consider possible plans for an inclined railway, instead of the more sober and sedate "lift," why not also pause and consider some other possibilities? Why not utilize the tower that the well-known Ed Olds has built on the top of the bluff, fit a cross arm to it, and have a hoist put in operation, similar to those in use in seaport towns for loading grain?

The city was gaily decorated, business was brisk in the stores before and after the parades, and the day was a success in every way. There was in the first place a series of public attractions that were worth while; and in the second place everybody within a radius of 50 miles knew that something of moment was going to happen in Oregon City. This is as it should be. The only thing wrong is that there should be more of it.

If the hoist seems too abrupt a plan, why not drop down from the top of the tower a sizeable cable, down which the citizens could slide in the morning on their way to work, and up which they could lift themselves, hand-over-hand, for evening exercise while on their way to supper. This would develop both muscle and appetite, and if no easier than the present steps, would at least be a novelty, and a change.

Oregon City has enough attractions on its calendar to get several such gatherings here each year. The gatherings are good for Oregon City, and they are good for the territory adjacent. They get people acquainted, they establish a greater neighborliness, and they improve trade both at home and in the nearby communities. Oregon City and Oregon City people ought never to miss such an opportunity—they ought to pull together for the Rose Show every year, for the Booster Days, for the Fourth of July celebration, for Decoration Day observances, for school fairs—in short, for everything that will tend to bring people into town to see something that is interesting and worth while. There are plenty of interesting occasions, and it is the duty of the citizens to see that they are worth while. The local papers will take care of the publicity work; only so that visitors will not be disappointed, the citizens must do their share, and co-operate as they have done this year, and provide features that will make the city's guests want to come again and again.

years he was private secretary to William Patterson, minister of customs, and afterwards he served several years as assistant commissioner of customs. Mr. Bain was appointed secretary of the dominion tariff commission in 1906. He was also secretary to the Canadian commissioners on trade questions at the imperial conference held in London in 1902. In recent years he has been engaged in private business, acting also as imperial trade correspondent at Ottawa.

FASHION HINT By JUDIC CHOLLET For this simple shirt waist linen madras, etc., are suitable. For the pattern with the open neck and fancy sleeves volle or crape may be used.

Then there are guns, such as are used in the circus, by means of which a human cartridge is shot up into space. The city council might inquire into the cost of such a gun, and shoot its citizens to the top of the bluff. An endless conveyor-belt, a bucket-chain, in fact any one of half a dozen devices might either be adopted or investigated. Consideration of these schemes should develop a knowledge of mechanics in the public mind, and in course of time a referendum vote might be taken to determine which method was the most popular. The council has been considering

A MYSTERIOUS DESERT. Weird Tales That Are Told of the "Soul Appalling Gobi." Slowly we traveled across the great waste of Dzungaria, the "soul appalling Gobi" of some writers, but to us a land of beauty, even if of a somewhat terrifying character, for here more nearly than in any other land is beauty allied to terror. These silent steppes the natives believe to be the haunt of "genii" and the rendezvous of evil spirits. As a recent writer has said, "The great sandy desert of Gobi has been looked on as the dwelling place of malignant beings from the days of hoary antiquity."

Wealth of the Few Belongs to the Many By Senator JOHN D. WORK of California

THE ruling class in this country is the moneyed class. Wealth, power and position are ARRAYED AGAINST THE MEN AND WOMEN WHO TOIL FOR A LIVELIHOOD. They look upon themselves as superior to what they call "the lower classes." The effective way to overcome this evil is to ELEVATE THE STATION OF THE WAGE EARNERS and curb the power of the employer class. No better way occurs to my mind than REGULATION of prices, wages and hours of labor. THE ACCUMULATION OF THE MILLIONS OF DOLLARS NOW IN THE HANDS OF A COMPARATIVELY FEW PEOPLE IN THIS COUNTRY HAS IN THE MAIN BEEN ACCOMPLISHED THROUGH THE TOIL OF THE MANY UNDERPAID EMPLOYEES WHO ARE STILL STRUGGLING FOR A MERE EXISTENCE.

All luckless travelers in this region from the days of Marco Polo onward have recorded strange stories of weird beings that inhabit the depths of the wastes. Mysterious singing and wailing, beating of drums and distant music are said to beguile the traveler and lead him off the track until he is hopelessly lost in the wilderness. A recent Russian explorer gives quite a detailed account of the wild men of the desert. Listen to the strange story told by Kosloff, who traversed the desert of Dzungaria in its widest part not long ago: "These wild men, the Kkz-Kyks, as they are called, are covered with short wool similar to the fur of a young camel. They have long black hair and black eyes. They are of ordinary size, but rather long legged. They roam the steppe in pairs, and when harassed by man they scream, whistle and snarl as they run away. The native Kirghiz claim to have caught them occasionally, but the captives refuse food and drink and die after a few days." -Wide World Magazine.
